STATE LEGION CONVENTION IS GIVEN TO SCRANTON

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN? NOT ON AN EASTERN ELEVEN!

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The Humane Society stops all cruelty to animals.

Why don't they do something in this football situation, by making it an unlawful offense for a western college to assault, maim and disfigure the inmates of eastern infirmaries?

After meeting Stanford Saturday, the Cadets said: "Who took the navy away from us and brought these instead? It's more government inefficiency."

And Notre Dame warriors are wondering if Southern California caught them in a fire or an earthquake.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Hundreds of auto drivers made the trip over the newly improved road between Mercer and Sharon yesterday. The Mercer end of the road was concreted this summer and has just been completed. The road has been laid out on nearly a new route, so many curves, etc., being eliminated. While the road is shorter and easier to negotiate, the scenic beauty that it once boasted has been sacrificed in the improving.

Numerous autos were noted on the road Sunday with deer fastened to the running board, indicating that successful hunters are already returning from the woods of the state with their bag of game.

Immense shipments of Christmas trees are already reaching the markets of Pennsylvania from the north woods. It will be but a short time until the usual quota of several carloads will be unloaded in New Castle for use in local homes.

Sunday apparently was a good flying day. Planes were noted in action at all three of the nearby airports.

Recent snow and heavy rains resulted in the streams rising considerably in Lawrence county. They did not get high enough, however, to do any damage.

Sawmills continue to work havoc with Lawrence county woods. Several patches of woodland are being levelled at the present time.

There are a lot of auto drivers that haven't as yet taken the election campaign plates off their cars. Many autos are noted on the highways that are still carrying "Hoover" name plates.

Well, things will sort of settle down again now. The freshmen will all have gone back to their respective institutions before evening. A fellow said that he thought they should all go back to one institution. You know the kind I mean.

Scranton Awarded State Convention Of Legion In 1929

New Castle Has Strong Support At Meeting In Philadelphia

CONVENTION WILL COME HERE LATER

New Castle Delegation Reaches Philadelphia At Three P. M. Saturday

Scranton was awarded the State Convention of the American Legion for 1929, the decision to award it to the hard coal center being made in Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon, December 1. New Castle's bid was the only other bid entertained but a vote of the Executive Committee showed 25 for Scranton and 11 for New Castle.

While New Castle failed to get the 1929 convention, it is possible that it may come here in 1931. The 1930 convention will probably go to Harrisburg, Pa., when the new $5,000,000.00 Memorial Bridge will be dedicated.

Meeting Delayed

Due to a seven hour delay on the Pennsylvania railroad 18 miles west of Harrisburg, the train bearing the New Castle delegation did not get into Philadelphia until 3:00 p. m. It was scheduled to get in at 7:30 a. m. From the scene of the wreck, Iroquois, Pa., wires were sent to the executive committee, and to District Deputy Commander M. J. Kane, ask-

Branch Library For East Side

Will Use Small Part Of Old Third U. P. Church For Purpose

Work was started today at the former Third U. P. church, corner of E. Washington and Beckford streets, to arrange the basement for use as a branch of the New Castle public library.

A former window of the basement is being enlarged to be used as a door and will be the entrance to the library, which the city will maintain in that part of the old church building for library purposes. It is anticipated that this branch will prove one of the most active in the city.

The rearrangement of the former Sunday school room of the church for use of the congregation of Christ Lutheran church has also been about completed, it was learned this morning and that congregation will start worshiping in the former United Presbyterian church building in the immediate future.

Presbytery To Meet Tuesday

Shenango Presbytery Representatives To Gather In First Church

Report of the meeting of the Presbyterian Pennsylvania Synod conducted October 16-18 in the Presbyterian church of Grove City, will be an outstanding feature of the meeting of Shenango Presbytery Tuesday, December 4 in the First Presbyterian church of New Castle.

The commissioners to synod who will give the report include Rev. P. D. Burtt, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Sharon, and Rev. J. A. King of Ellwood City and Elders Joseph Jones of Sharon and John M. Hughes of the Unity church.

Action on overtures of the general assembly of 1928 in Tulsa, Okla., will also be considered.

The meeting will open at 10 a. m. and will continue throughout the afternoon. It is expected that all churches included in the presbytery will be represented.

SENATE BEGINS SESSIONS IN JAM

President Coolidge's Message Will Be Read To Congress On Tuesday

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—Congress came back to work today.

The victor and the vanquished in last month's general election returned together to Capitol Hill to eke out the three months of life that remain to this 70th Congress and to the Coolidge administration.

They picked up their labors where they dropped them so hurriedly last May to rush off into the campaign—but in a vastly different atmosphere. A new President and a new Congress are just around the corner, and it was indicative of the tenor of this dying session that most thoughts were centering on what the new regime may accomplish rather than upon what this 12 weeks' session may do.

To Care for Routine

The majority opinion is that this, the final session of the "Coolidge Congress"', will not accomplish a great deal outside the routine and

May Reorganize Cavalry Troop

Rumors Circulate That Cavalry Troop Is To Be Located Here

From rumors that apparently bear the stamp of authenticity, there is a possibility that Company B of the 125th Mounted Engineers of this city may be transferred back into the cavalry.

The plan now talked of is to reorganize the 103rd and 104th cavalry, abandoning the present service troops and machine gun detachments and mounted troops and making two regiments of cavalry, each with three squadrons of three troops each.

Freighter Sinks In Pacific Ocean

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Dec. 3.—The freighter Chief Maquilla, abandoned in mid-Pacific Friday with her holds full of water and a threatening list today rested on the floor of the ocean.

The ship sank late yesterday several hours after the following radio message from the Japantse freighter, Yogan Maru, was picked up by the Dutch Harbor station and relayed to the coast guard headquarters here: "Chief Maquilla appears to be sinking fast. Awash fore and aft. Cargo adrift and gradually going overboard. Expect to see her go any time now."

Later in the day the owners of the vessel at Vancouver admitted receipt of a brief message saying the Maquilla had sunk.

It was early in the week that the ferighter sent out its S. O. S.. Friday afternoon the Yogan Maru took off her crew after trying in vain to take the ill-fater freighter in tow toward Dutch Harbor, directlv north in the Aleutian Islands

AGED EZRA MEEKER DIES; NOTED WESTERN PIONEER

Ezra Meeker, famous western pioneer whose death occurred today visited New Castle three or four years ago, it is recalled today.

New Castle people who witnessed a Wild West show performance on Mahoning avenue, saw Meeker ride around the arena in a covered wagon. Meeker is the best known of all American pioneers. He was 97 years of age.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 3.—Ezra Meeker, 97, one of the West's most noted poineers is dead.

The sturdy builder of Northwest frontiers died in his room at 4 a. m., this morning in the Frye Hotel.

He met his death as he had met other obstacles during his hardy life. He fought to win.

For more than a week Meeker had struggled against the grim reaper and when his will surrendered to unconsciousness, his body carried on the fight.

Hopes for recovery were revived last Friday and Saturday when the aged

Chilean Quake Damage Mounts; Many Are Dead

Believe Possibly 150 To 200 Dead In Wake Of Severe Earth Tremors

RELIEF WORK IS NOW UNDER WAY

Property Damage In Talca Alone Is Placed At Over Twelve Million

(International News Service)

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 3.—An appalling toll in life and property was taken by the earthquake shocks which devastated a wide area in southern Chile, estimates made today revealed.

It is feared that when communications with the stricken area have been completely re-established a death toll of from 150 to 200 persons will be shown.

Between 300 and 500 persons suffered injuries from falling debris. Property damage in Talca alone is put at about $12,000,000.

Relief operations are being directed by President Ibanez and General Blanche, minister of war. Troops and voluntary patrols are guarding the devastated sections.

Talca's Damage Heaviest

Talca, a city of forty thousand, suffered the heaviest losses. Upwards of 100 persons are believed to have perished there. The injured number more than 300 and it is feared some of these may die. It was in this city that the damage was put at $12,000,000.

Heavy losses of life was also suffered at Constitucion, the seaport of Talca. It is believed the death toll may reach fifty there.

Other communities which suffered heavily were Chillan, Pelequen, Santa Cruz, Nancagua, Curio, Teniente Mine, San Vicentre.

Two Americans who flew over Talca in an airplane declared that the city was almost totally devastated. They said they saw many bodies piled up in the streets under blankets. They reported that hardly a building was left standing intact in the city.

Warships have reached the port of Constitutcion to aid in the relief work. Frantic survivers throughout the stricken area are searching the debris for missing relatives.

More than thirty earthquake shocks were recorded.

KOPPEL REPORTS CAR STOLEN AT THAT PLACE

Police authorities of this city were asked by the Koppel authorities today to be on the lookout for a Chevrolet coach, green in color and bearing Pennsylvania license B 14-359, which had been stolen from the streets of that city. It is the property of Thomas L. Lindsey of that place.

Petrie Shooting Was Accidental, Coroner Decides

ACCIDENT WITNESSED BY FAMILY MEMBERS

Shooting of Roy Alden Petrie, aged 54, by his son-in-law, Albert Martin at the Martin home on the Youngstown road Saturday afternoon, was purely accidental, according to Coroner J. P. Caldwell, who made an investigation of the case immediately after the death of Mr. Petrie.

Mr. Petrie made his home with the Martins. On Saturday morning Mr. Martin brought the barrels of a double barreled shotgun to the city to have welded the little staple that holds on the grip, having been broken off.

He returned home about noon and after dinner prepared to go hunting. He had put the gun together in the kitchen in the presence of his wife, Mary Martin, John and Pete Fraito, Elmer Martin and Roy Alden Petrie.

Some of the occupants of the kitchen were still sitting at the table. Mr. Petrie was standing to the right of the kitchen door, about six feet from Martin, watching him put the gun together.

Gun Goes Off

After Martin had put the grip on the newly welded catch or hold, he placed two shells in the gun, and snapped it together in the usual manner. Instantly there was an explo-

Bellevue Man Is Victim Of Suicide

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Because he was unable to sleep or concentrate, John Bigham, 45, of Bellevue, assistant claim agent of the American Steel and Wire Company, ended his life on a street here today as "the best way out."

In the midst of a group of pedestrians walking down the street near Florence and Lincoln avenues, Bigham drew a revolver from his pocket and shot himself in the head. The pedestrians rushed to the spot where he had fallen on the sidewalk but he was beyond aid. The man was removed to the hospital where he was pronounced dead.

In Bigham's clothing was found a note saying he had been unable to sleep or concentrate and that he was committing suicide as the "best way out."

Worry over the illness of members of his family and the recent death of his wife after a long illness are believed to have caused the suicide.

Hoover Party To Arrive In Peru Wednesday; Enjoys Night Spent On Land

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD THE U. S. S. MARYLAND (via Arlington radio station), Dec. 3.—With the friendly cheers of thousands of natives of Ecuador still ringing in his ears, President-elect Herbert Hoover spent a quiet day aboard the battleship Maryland today.

He spent a few hours preparing the speeches he will deliver when the Maryland reaches Calloa, Peru, Wednesday. It is certain that he will be received in Peru with as much enthusiasm as in Ecuador. Wednesday has been declared a national holiday in Peru.

Invites Bolivians.

Mr. Hoover has invited the chief officials of the Bolivian government to come aboard the Maryland when the ship arrives off Mollendo, Bolivia, Thursday. This invitation was issued after it was decided that the Maryland's schedule would permit a few hours stop between Peru and Valparaiso, Chile.

After reaching Calloa, the Hoover party will go to Lima, the Peruvian capital, by train. At Lima, Mr. Hoover and the president of Peru will exchange diplomatic greetings.

Mr. Hoover thoroughly enjoyed the night he spent in Guayaquil as the guest of Provisional President Ayora of Ecuador. His first night's sleep on land since the beginning of the Latin-American tour, proved refreshing.

Will Attempt To Jam McNary-Haugen Bill Through Again

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The ghost of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill cast its shadow over congress at the opening today when Rep. Gilbert N. Haugen (R) of Iowa, chairman of the house agriculture committee, indicated that an attempt may be made to jam the bill through again in the short session. It has been twice passed by congress and twice vetoed by President Coolidge.

Returning to Washington in a belligerent mood Haugen threw cold water on compromise proposals by declaring tartly that any bill which goes through this session "must be the McNary-Haugen bill or something equally as good."

Butler Officer Given Fine For Killing Of Buck

In Excitement Of Hunt, Butler County Hunter Kills Buck, Fined $50

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 4.—In the excitement of the hunt Saturday M. S. Denny of the Butler police force shot a buck in mistake for a doe on the VanGorder farm in Center township and today he faces a fine of $100 to the state game commission but he will get a rebate of $50 for reporting the illegal killing.

County Game Protector Joseph M. Curts of Butler, took charge of the carcas and will send it to St. Banabas Home for Men at Gibsonia. Then Denny went out in the afternoon and shot a doe, permitted under the special deer license.

Game Protector Curts estimates that 30 does were killed in Butler county on the opening day but as hunters make reports direct to Harhisburg, Curts thinks that more may have been killed.

Annual Memorial Service For Departed Elks On Sunday Afternoon

LARGE CROWD AT TOUCHING SERVICE

"An Elk, living or dead, is never forgotten."

This principle of Elkdom was impressively demonstrated Sunday afternoon when a memorial service for departed brothers of lodge 69, B. P. O. E., was held at the Elks home, North Mill street.

A large number of Elks, their families and relatives of the departed heard the cardinal principles, charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity explained by officers and also heard a brilliant and inspiring address by Rabbi J. B. Menkes of Temple Israel.

The splendid weather of Sunday seemed to blend with the spirit of the service and those members of the Elks who gathered to pay memory to their departed brethren left the beautiful service with the principles more firmly entrenched in their hearts.

Nine Killed In Auto Accidents Over Week-End

Nine Are Killed, 20 Injured, Auto Toll In State For Two-Day Period

PERFECT WEATHER EXISTED SUNDAY

(International News Service)

Automobile accidents over the state resulted in nine deaths and twenty persons injured over the week-end, a survey by International New Service revealed today. Three of the fatalities resulted from injuries received in accidents earlier in the week.

Western Pennsylvania reported five persons dead and five persons injured, while in Central Pennsylvania only one person was killed and six were reported injured. The Eastern section of the state reported three persons killed and nine injured.

Despite the clear, crisp and almost perfect motoring weather Sunday, Pennsylvania motorists stuck closely to the home hearth fires. Rainy weather Saturday ruined week-end touring.

PITCAIRN—Man died from fracture received when struck by automobile.

TARENTUM — Boy killed when struck by automobile.

PITTSBURGH—Four boys injured in four street automobile accidents. Girl received scalp lacerations when injured in automobile collision. Man and woman died from injuries suffered in automobile accidents last week.

CANONSBURG — Man died from injuries received in automobile collision last week.

LOCK HAVEN—Youth is killed instantly when struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle.

MILLERSBURG—Two slightly hurt when cars crash headon.

HARRISBURG — Four injured, none seriously, in a series of crashes at street intersections.

PHILADELPHIA — Three persons killed and three injured in a single accident here during the week-end. Six others were hurt including three small boys who were standing on the sidewalk watching a string of autos go by.

group of banks operating the Christmas savings funds, this bank having an approximate total of $143,000.

The total this year is surprisingly large and nearly totals that of any previous year. Apparently the Christmas savings idea is one that the people like.

Lawrence Savings & Trust Co.	$143,000.00
People's Savings & Trust Co.	50,341.61
Union Trust Co.	50,000.00
Union National Bank	30,000.00

HOUSE AND SENATE REASSEMBLE TODAY FOR THREE MONTHS

well-marked-out things that all Congresses must do, such as appropriating the billions of dollars needed to run the government for another year. For one thing, the time is too short. For another, this Congress has already been voted out of office, and a new one comes in on March 4.

If this Congress, in the next 12 weeks, acts on Boulder dam, reapportionment, the naval cruiser bill and ratifies the Kellogg outlawry of war treaty, in addition to appropriating some four billions of dollars for the various departments, it is the opinion of the leaders that a good job will have been accomplished.

This does not take into account farm relief or tariff revision, around which most of the speculation centered today as the gavels fell.

Farm Relief in Front Seat

Farm relief, as usual, occupied a front seat at the session beginning today, but there were few on Capitol Hill who believe there is a Chinaman's chance of passing any major program before March 4.

The farm bloc itself is split on the desirability of attempting it, and the split extends generally throughout both houses and both parties. There is a well-defined feeling that more can be hoped for from the new Congress, which President-Elect Hoover has promised will be called into session immediately to deal with farm relief if the present session does not act.

The mid-westerners prefer to take their chances with Mr. Hoover, and they have the promise of an extra session.

With the mid-westerners clamoring for an extra session on the farm relief question and the Republicans of the industrial East joining them in demanding an extra session for upward revision of the tariff, it is entirely probable that both these problems will go over until March 4—although not without considerable talking and wrangling.

Hoover's Responsibility

Overshadowing all else in some congressional minds is the feeling that farm relief and tariff are properly Mr. Hoover's responsibility, inasmuch as it is his administration that will have to take the credit or blame for whatever is done concerning them.

The Senate, as usual, starts off in a jam that probably will be continuous until the stroke of noon on March 4.

Boulder dam is the unfinished business. During the six months' recess the controversy over this great engineering project has become intensified. The battle promises to be long-drawn-out and bitterly fought.

Behind the Boulder dam bill on the Senate's calendar looms the new cruiser bill, designed to add 15 new cruisers and an airplane carrier to the navy. This bill already has passed the House and bears the endorsement of President Coolidge. The "little navy" people and the peace organizations are opposed to it and are going after it hammer and tongs. The debate over this, too, will be long.

Still further back on the Senate calendar is the Kellogg-Briand outlawry of war treaty, which the Coolidge administration is intent upon ratifying before it goes out of office. Here, too, the debate will be interminable.

In Between times the always turbulent Senate must pass the enormous supply bills that will be dished up to it by the disciplined House.

Reapportionment Bill Battle

The principal battle in the House is to be over the reapportionment bill, which will decrease the congressional representation from states and increase it in others, in accordance with the increases and decreases of population during the last 18 years.

The constitution provides Congress must be reapportioned every 10 years, in accordance with the decennial census, but this was not done in 1920. Congressmen from those states that would lose by the reapportionment have succeeded in blocking the bill session after session.

The bill probably will pass the House this session, however. What its fate will be in the Senate is problematical, for the Senate always winds up a session in a jam in which many things are lost.

Forty members of the House and seven members of the Senate who were defeated in the November election are members of the present session.

Tomorrow President Coolidge's annual message on the state of the Union will be read, and it will be Wednesday before Congress really buckles down to work.

ing that the meeting be continued until the New Castle men could get there. This was done.

Because of the pressure of time only one speaker was permitted to present the claims of each city. For Scranton the commander of the American Legion post spoke, and for New Castle, Assistant Deputy District Commander P. J. Dempsey spoke. The meeting was held in the Benjamin Franklin hotel.

Appreciates Aid

In a statement made today, Phil G. Greer, chairman of the convention committee of the American Legion expressed his apreciation of the cooperation of the merchants and citizens of the city in the attempt made to get the American Legion State Convention for 1929.

From the outcome of the meeting in Philadelphia Saturday it is possible that New Castle may get the convention for 1931, and when the time comes no doubt the same fine spirit of co-operation will be shown.

GRAVE CONCERN OVER CONDITION OF KING GEORGE

was lower, his vitality has been impaired by the strain of long illness and complications are threatened along with heart weakness.

Drugs were administered to induce sleep and oxygen administered as a tonic.

The Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, is hurrying home, having left Dar-Es-Salaam, East Africa, on the British Warship Enterprise, yesterday.

The Prince of Wales will travel across Continental Europe by fast train to shorten his journey home, it was officially announced this afternoon. The Prince will transfer from the Enterprise to the Cruiser Forbisher at Alexandria, leaving the Forbisher at Brindiis, Italy. He will travel overland, via Turin and Paris to Calais where he will board a fast destroyer for Dover.

Despite the more reassuring bulleting and the exclusive statement of Lord Dawson of Penn to International News Service that "there is no immediately danger," public anxiety was not completely allayed.

Because of past disappointments and in view of the heart weakness suffer by the king last night there was frank apprehension in many quarters. Official circles were obviously pessimistic.

Queen Mary, Princess Mary and the Duke of York stayed in rooms adjoining the sick-room most of the night.

"I do not want for one moment to deceive anyone and say the king's illness is over, for things were serious last night," said Home Secretary Sir William Joynson-Hicks in a speech at the Constitutional club this afternoon. He added: "But, there is undoubtedly a feeling in the air that his majesty is better today."

Reflecting the public anxiety over King George the stock exchange opened lower today with the whole list, especially industrials, depressed. Speculation has slowed down, with brokers anxiously hoping with more favorable bulletins in the next 24 hours.

Penitentiaries aren't perfect, even yet. The poor prisoners must at times use crude and primitive weapons to kill their guards.

William H. Patton.

William H. Patton, aged 67 years, passed away at his home on the Harlansburg road, Saturday, December 1, at 3:30 p. m. after a lingering illness due to complications.

Mr. Patton was born in Hickory township, July 4, 1861 a son of John H. Patton and Margaretta Hunter Patton. His entire life had been spent in that township and he was one of the best known and highly esteemed men in that community. He had been engaged in farming all his life. For many years he had been a member of the Neshannock United Presbyterian church.

Besides his wife, Mary E. Patterson Patton to whom he was united in marriage about thirty nine years ago he leaves the following children; Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. F. F. Alford and Wylie Patton of New Castle, Mrs. Carl F. Sewall of Altoona, Mrs. J. D. Reed of Mt. Jackson and Herman and Mary Elizabeth Patton at home. He also leaves two brothers, T. A. Patton and John E. Patton both of East Brook and thirteen grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday, December 4, at 2 p. m., from his late residence with Rev. J. W. St. Claire officiating. Burial will be made in Neshannock cemetery.

John B. Steele.

John Book Steele aged 67 years, died at his home 408 Norwood avenue Sunday afternoon at 1:35 p. m. after a lingering illness.

Mr. Steele was born in Frizzleburg September 7, 1861 a son of David and Elizabeth Book Steele. He had been a resident of New Castle for nine years. For some years he had conducted a service station on East Washington street.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran church. Surviving him are three children, Mrs. R. E. Salmon and Floyd and Milo Steele of this city. He also leaves eight grandchildren. His wife preceded him in death about five years ago.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday December 4 at 1:30 p. m. from his late residence. Rev. F. E. Stough will officiate. Burial will be made in the Lutheran cemetery at Petersburg, O.

Rev. J. C. McCain.

Rev. J. C. McCain pastor of the Second Baptist church of Farrell died very suddenly Sunday evening according to word received here today.

Rev. McCain sufered a stroke soon after entering the pulpit at the Sunday evening service and passed away a few minutes later.

He was well known in New Castle as he had been assisting Rev. W. L. Engram in a series of evangelistic services in St. Paul's Baptist church about two weeks ago.

He is survived by one son and one daughter.

Ida Barbati.

Ida Barbati, aged 6 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Barbati, died Sunday evening at 7:15 at the family home, 106 Sankey street.

Besides her parents she leaves one sister, Mary. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home. Interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Hulme Buried.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Margaret Hulme, wife of Joseph Hulme took place from the family home, 418 Northview avenue Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. Rev. A. J. Randles, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church of which Mrs. Hulme was a member was in charge.

The casket was banked with a profusion of beautiful flowers expressing sympathy and esteem.

The pallbearers were Joseph, Alexander and Samuel McKim, James Beatley, William Buchanan and Wallace Kutrz. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Jones Buried.

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Mary Jones took place from her late residence, 1205 Cunningham avenue, Saturday, December 1, at 2:30.

Rev. W. J. Johns, former pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church, now of Pittsburgh was in charge of the services assisted by Rev. Gaylord James of Middleport, O., acting pastor of the Emmanuel church.

The services were largely attended by many sorrowing firends and relatives of Mrs. Jones. Sympathy was expressed by many beautiful floral emblems.

The pallbearers were William Phillips, T. L. Jones, Edward Rosser, Daniel Williams, William Johns and Benjamin Jones. Burial was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Dr. Julius W. Cowden.

Word has been received here of the death of Dr. Julius W. Cowden of Columbus, Ohio, which occurred Sunday at noon at his home in that city. He had been in ill health for some time.

The deceased was well known in this city and county and has many relatives here. He was a brother of Rev. William F. Cowden, former pastor of the First Christian church of this city.

Dr. Cowden is survived by one brother here, S. A. Cowden, of Mt. Jackson, and leaves a number of other relatives in the county.

Funeral services will take place on Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Davidson funeral home in Struthers, Ohio, and interment will be made in the Riverside cemetery at Poland.

PETRIE SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENTAL, CORONER DECIDES

sion and Mr. Petrie cried, "My God, Al you've shot me." He started walking around in a circle in the kitchen. Mr. Martin jumped to his side and assisted him to a chair.

Petrie was bleeding from a ragged hole under the left armpit. As the family had no telephone one of the men ran to a neighbor's and summoned Dr. Mitchell, but by the time he arrived Mr. Petrie had bled to death. The shot punctured his lungs and other vital parts.

Examination of the gun showed that it was a hammerless. The sheil in the right hand barrel had been exploded. Mr. Martin stated that the gun had always been in good condition, and could not accounts for its having gone off unless the newly welded part had something to do with it. However it is hard to see how this could have affected it as the welded part had nothing to do with the mechanism of the lock.

Mr. Martin was heartbroken over the accident. Mr. Petrie had come to live with him some time ago, on account of not being able to secure work at his trade, that of a painter and paper hanger.

Mr. Petrie is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. Sherrick Spade of Hamilton street; Mrs. Howard Martin of County Line street, Mrs. Albert Martin, at whose home the accident occurred and Miss Isabel Petrie, who is at home.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home of Mrs. Florence Martin, 520½ State street. Burial in Graceland cemetery.

Merchants Meet Tuesday Morning

Better Business Bureau Will Decide Store Hours For Christmas Season

WILL ANNOUNCE HOURS IMMEDIATELY

John Higgins, president of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, is calling a meeting of the bureau membership for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce committee room in the Greer building.

The meeting is called in order that the merchants may settle the matter as to the time of opening and closing during the Christmas season and to determine the duration and exact dates of the season for the New Castle stores.

President Higgins is asking that all of the merchants attend in order that the question of closing hours might be settled to the satisfaction of all immediately.

SPEAKING OF CHRISTMAS GIFTS

CHRISTMAS season is coming on apace. From now on until after December 25, it will hold the center of the stage. Many gifts will be purchased, and many will be hoped for that probably will not be forthcoming.

A little suggestion was thrown out by Arthur Brisbane, famous editor, in his column in The News recently, that will bear more reflection at this time, even if you did read it and ponder over it at the time of publication.

Here it is:

What are you going to buy for Christmas? Do you own a home of your own, for your children now, or for your children when you get married and have them, a home for your old age, A PIECE OF THE EARTH WHICH IS YOURS?

If not, the best thing to do with Christmas savings is to buy a home, or at least start buying one. Buy only what you can pay for. There are 10,000 good investments in this country, but no investment is as good as money invested in a home of your own.

KING GEORGE'S FIGHT FOR LIFE

THE anxiety in Great Britain over the illness of the King is easily understood. While he has never had that peculiar adaptability to all sorts of conditions of men which characterized his father, he has won by conspicuous integrity and fidelity to duty a high place in the affections of his people. During the trying times of the World War his Ministers owed more to his good judgement than most persons realize.

For that matter, he has met every emergency with courage. His tact and his kindness of heart have alike been conspicuous. In the brave fight for life he is now making the sympathy of all his subjects follows him. Americans share some part of that feeling and hope for his prompt recovery.

KEEPING THE ROADS OPEN

PAVED streets and improved highways have imposed a duty and expense hardly anticipated by the early builders. The duty and expense here referred to have to do with the removal of snow, which is an economic necessity rather than a convenience and luxury.

It is estimated that 120,000 miles of streets and highways in the thirty-six states in the so-called snow belt will be kept open this winter though nature may do her dernedest to block them with snow and ice.

Millions of dollars are spent annually to keep motor traffic moving twelve months and 365 days of the year. But it is money well spent. It is just as essential to keep main highways open as to keep the railroads in operation. Over these roads daily pass thousands of motor trucks carrying perishable freight, more thousands of automobiles carrying customers to town, rural mail carriers, and school busses.

The new activity in keeping highways open is attributed to a refusal to allow business to slow down and rural trade to fall off during the winter months. It is estimated that every $100 spent plowing snow off motor highways yield a business return of $1,000. But purely as an economic proposition, it would be poor policy to allow a road which cost millions to build to lie idle and useless for months of the year when the cost of keeping it in continuous use is relatively trifling.

Tough to Be Fifty? No.
The Biggest Engine.
Cannon in Parlor.
Stop Us, If You've Heard It.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Joseph Medill Patterson writes an article headed "It's Tough to Be Fifty," because at that age he discoverers that he can't fly an airplane as well as Lindbergh does.

The business of men past 50 is to encourage others to fly, going along as passengers if the y choose.

Patterson flew in 1910 at Dayton, sitting on the lower wing of a biplane with his feet braced against two bars. That should have been enough excitement, but evidently it was not.

Ln December Patterson starts with his daughter Alicia, Mrs. James Simpson, Jr., in a flying tour of the West Indies. She has made "solo" flights and has her flying license.

Patterson and W. R. Hearst both flew in early days when it wasn't safe. Their business now is to help make flying safe for others and persuade Uncle Sam to make himself safe in the air.

There's nothing "tough" about being 50, every reason to be grateful for having escaped the first half century. Real life and work at 50 except for mushrooms.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, president of the New York Central railroad more than 70 years ago is to have his big bronze statue moved from a freight depot to a fine position in front of New York's Grand Central station. With bare head and a bronze fur overcoat the old Commodore will divide the stream of automobiles pouring over the viaduct a machine that he never saw.

Cornelius Vanderbilt like other men successful, did not like new ideas. Asked to invest in New York elevated railroad, he missed millions, saying "The people may be fools but they are not fools enough to ride up in the air."

He would be interested in the latest, biggest locomotive, made for the Northern Pacific railroad by the American Locomotive company.

It will be powerful enough to pull a loaded freight train two miles long on a level track. The engine and tender, 175 feet long, will weigh 1,000,000 pounds, burn in one hour enough coal to warm two average houses all winter and use in one hour as much water as 100 families use in a day.

No wonder industrial, railroad and other stocks go up yith such efficiency.

The Rev. Macleod of a New York Fifth avenue church, rebukes Herbert Hoover for traveling on a warship and says: "A Quaker on a dreadnanght is like a cannon in a parlor."

Thats the point Herbert Hoover IS like a cannon in a parlor. He has no little parlor ways about him. And in his work the only thang he cares about is a dreadnaught.

As guest on Thanksgiving Day of the American Society in London Premier Baldwin told a story and gave a piece of advice important to American statesmen and American bankers.

He told Franklin's story of two Quakers at a revival meeting. One, deeply moved, asked the other to lend him money for the collection. The other replied, "Friend at any other time, but not now for thou seemest not to be in thy right mind."

Baldwin says that's what America should reply to any European country trying to borow money for war purposes. The trouble is that our financiers are not so particular if the rakeoff is big enough.

"Learned and devout scholars" of the Church of England in a commentary on thte Holy Scripture class Jonah and the whale. Noah's ark Belshazzar's feast and the Tower of Babel as "myths without historical foundation and impossible to believe."

Hints and Dints

The most important part of every business is to know what ought to be done.

When it comes to Newspapers most people take everything for granted until the newspaper says something they don't like and then nothing is too mean for them to say.

This is the season when husbands and other animals are trapped for fur coats.

Now with all the other little services rendered by gas station attendants if they'd just scratch a fellow's back.

A fever blister, as every girl knows, is a thing that appears in the morning if one has an important date at night.

A wealthy man is poor who is without happiness.

A chap who plays bridge tells us that he can always tell the character of the people with whom he plays that game. We do not play bridge, but we have a wonderful line on a lot of people who don't play bridge either.

CHIVALRY AND CUSTOM GIVE THE HELL-CATS FREEDOM TO SNARL

This is written for afflicted husbands. If that doesn't mean you, don't read it.

At Phelps, N. Y. last week a sauer kraut factory burned down and in it there were twelve thousand barrels of perfectly good kraut. Did you ever smell burning kraut? Omigosh!

It is stated that last Christmas a Pittsburgh traffic cop was given over two thousand dollars by admiring motorists who passed him during the year. This shows that even a traffic cop can be admired if he shows an inclination to bend a bit in favor of the public.

Our little four-year-old grandson stumped us when he asked why Santy Claus' face was always red. We did know why some other bimbos had red faces, but the only reason we could think of Santy having a red mug was because he was out in the cold so much. Some may differ on this.

The Democrats spent over five million dollars in the attempt to elect Gov. Smith. This ought to give the Democrats in the Senate and the alleged Republicans who are always allied with them a chance to make a real investigation. Oh, wham de doodle wham!

Mr. Ford is starting an automobile factory in Turkey. There are only about six thousand automobiles in that country. It will not be long now until the shieks there get next to some of the modern conveniences. Those birds with harems will have to have a couple of Fords.

A man in Flint, Michigan, has been sentenced to prison for life for being convicted the fourth time for violating the prohibition laws. Some states have a law which provides life imprisonment for those who are convicted of a felony four times. Those same states, let a lot of murderers go also.

The full name of the Prince of Wales is Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David Windsor. Some day it may be just plain King. He will have a lot of nice names to give a wife.

But I know a number of wives, as yet unbeaten—perhaps unbeatable except with a club—who treat their husbands much as a cat treats a wounded mouse. The strange part of it is, they actually love their men—love them passionately and jealously—and would fight for them tooth and nail. Yet they are almost pathologically cruel. They scold and berate from dawn to dark. They snarl and gibe and insult and torment. Their husbands live in constant terror of saying or doing the wrong thing and bringing whirlwinds of wrath about their heads.

If you have a hell-cat wife who speaks to you sweetly in public and thus fools the neighbors, and yet in private talks to you as though you were a yellow dog with the mange and makes your home life much like the place where Dante saw the wolf, there are two things you can do.

THE MEANEST LADY ON OUR STREET
Franklyn Blanning.

"All poets glorify the sun,
Composing sonnets by the ton;
But I lean to the cold, wet days
When all the streets are wrapped in haze.
I even like the pouring rain—
Please do not think that I'm insane."

"When others must be in a storm,
I can sit by fireside warm
And nibble toast, perhaps drink tea;
That's why the rain appeals to me.
Too peaceful is the scene for talk

"Dry, walnut logs flame and sputter
As my neighbor jumps the gutter.
When she misstepped I shrieked and laughed.
She really should have had a raft.
I love to chuckle over those
Who gather mud on silken hose.
I find more joy in rainy days
Than in the sun's most golden rays."

The bread and water diet becomes cruel and unusual only when prisoners are placed on it.

A modern intellectual is somebody who agrees with nobody on anything even if he can't explain why.

The people who have been talking so much about the slaughter of humans in war might take a day off now and see if something could be done about the automobile killings that are going on every day in this country. It's getting worse and worse every day.

First: You can take advantage of your superior strength and haul off and knock her silly. In that case she will do one of several things. She will stick a knife in you, or quit you and go home to mother, or tell the neighbors and make them think you a brute, or she will mend her ways and make a decent wife. This method is dangerous, and few men dare attempt it.

Second: You can swallow your pride, accept your fate as punishment for your sins, hope the neighbors won't find out what kind of hell you live in, and wait patiently for death while keeping up a pretense of happiness to fool the public and preserve part of your self-respect.

The pessimist reflects bitterly that as an incentive to scratching winter woolens are about as effective as summer mosquitos.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

You can afford the things you want
In time—no doubt—
If you don't buy the things you now
Can do without.

This second method is prompted by chivalry and discretion, and is the usual one employed. I have heard of a few hardy souls who resorted to violence, but in every case they were condemned by the public and their wives got all the sympathy. As a matter of fact, I agreed with the public except in one instance, for the wives seemed harmless little creatures incapable of cruelty.

They are beaten men, without ambition or hope, grimly making the best of things and doing their "duty" as they see it. They are hooked, and in a state where divorce is impossible they are doomed for life.

If law and public opinion made divorce easy, I'll wager another month would find at least a dozen local hellcats wishing they hadn't abused a good thing.

"The camel kneels at break of day,
To have his guide replace his load.
Then rises up anew to take
The desert road.

So shouldn't thou kneel at morning's dawn,
That God may give thee daily care,
Assured that He no load too great,
Will make thee bear."

HOME

Home to laughter, home to rest
Home to those I love the best.

Home, where mother is the cook,
Home to slippers, pipe and book.

Home where children race and romp
Far away from pride and pomp.

Home, where there is none to hate,
Where no foes in ambush wait;

Where no jealous, envious mind
Shrieks with glee a fault to find.

Home where cunning, strength or skill,
My place cannot hope to fill.

Now the day is done and I
Turn to hear a welcoming cry.

Love is dancing at the door,
I am safe at home once more.

Stewart Acquittal Is Viewed As Ending Oil Prosecutions

Press Inclined To Accept Failure Of Government In Perjury Case To Mean That Further Action Would Be Futile

"Apparently the ending of this case means that further efforts to hold to legal accountability the perpetrators of the most astonishing frauds in American history will be a waste of time." Thus the DAYTON DAILY NEWS sums up a view which seems to be held rather generally by the press in connection with the acquittal of Col. Robert W. Stewart of perjury charges growing out of his testimony before a senate committee in an investigation of the oil scandals.

After weighing the evidence, the NEW YORK TIMES holds that "even without the technical point in his favor (the absence of a quorum at the time he testified before the committee) it is highly doubtful if Col. Stewart could have been, or should have been, convicted of perjury." The times adds, however: "Col. Stewart may assert now that he has been fully vindicated. But he should remember that public opinion is often able to reach and punish derelictions which are beyond the jurisdiction of any jury."

In a review of the oil prosecutions, the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL observes that "in its larger aspect, the case adds one more to the long roll of criminal prosecution failures. Doheny, Fall, Sinclair, now Stewart. And people will be saying, cynically again, about these cases," continues The Journal, "things that are not good for us to have to think or say. But how can it be avoided? For all that was done in Washington, nobody has paid. * * * The termination of this case provides no satisfaction for anybody. Certainly not for the American people, who mark it down as one more blundering trial in the criminal prosecution of the oil cases that ends in failure. Certainly not for the senate committee and the senate, both of which have given a demonstration of how loosely government business can be conducted."

"Mr. Stewart has emerged successfully," remarks the SPRINGFIELD UNION, "from two trials brought about because of his participation in the transactions that preceded and followed the unlawful leasing of the oil reserves, but scarcely with heightened prestige. In the failure of the law, a double obligation may be imposed upon those other agencies that have already indicated their dissatisfaction with the quality of service that Mr. Stewart has rendered modern business, and that have taken steps to clear its good name of any shadow that may rest upon it."

The HARTFORD TIMES, noting that "the government has had poor luck with criminal cases growing out of the oil matter," offers the views: "Whenever individuals have been put to trial on criminal charges, the absence of important witnesses or the presentation of technical defenses has prevented convictions. With Mr. Blackmar still hiding in Europe and resisting all efforts to extradite him for appearance before the courts, the presumption of innocence which attaches to those accused of connection with the various cases cannot be exceedingly strong. It is not to conceal the innocence of transactions that men make themselves expatriates."

"This technical acquittal serves its purpose. It frees Stewart. And it leaves the sorry record as it was," says the NEW ORLEANS MORNING TRIBUNE. The difference between civil and criminal actions is pointed out by the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS with the statement: "In civil actions, the decisions by the courts, the government scored smashing victories. In criminal trials, with decisions by juries, it has suffered a series of defeats." * * The supreme court in the civil actions swept through side issues to the central fact of guilt. The juries in the criminal cases did otherwise. It is still difficult to convict a million dollars."

The CHARLESTON DAILY MAIL suggests that "the question of perjury in a case having such possibilities and so many leads, was a mere episode, if not something of a diversion from more important things." The SCRANTON TIMES quotes a report that "Col. Stewart is jubilant over the outcome of the trial," but continues: "He can be, if satisfied with a technical verdict which frees him of any danger of punishment by the court, but does not change his status in the eyes of the general public.

"The result will probably surprise some of the very good lawyers in the senate," according to the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, "but it will nevertheless serve to check that body up in its custom of spreading a committee member over too much ground." The Post-Dispatch adds that "the harm done by the whole oil scandal is incalculable. The ease with which Fall, Doheny, Sinclair, and now Stewart, were all extricated from what looked like a bad mess has weakened the country's faith in the inexorableness of justice."

"Perhaps the Stewart trial set up a good precedent for senate investigations," in the judgment of the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS, "in making it plain that there is no use voting them unless a quorum is willing to stick them out. A one-man quiz is entirely too open to suspicion of vindictiveness and political intent and self-glorifying. The senate has to be pretty serious before it will keep up a quorum, and serious investigations are the only kind worth holding."

"It did not help justice," declares the SEATTLE DAILY NEWS, "to drag the oil cases through two campaigns and to harp continually upon them in committee rooms and on the senate floor. The senate investigation started as an important public service, but the people are likely to forget that in reflecting on the political kips shown by the special committee."

Looking beyond the verdict, the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS concludes: "Col. Stewart still has an account to settle with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who called on him to resign his Standard Oil post after his appearance before the senate committee last April. The outcome of the contest of strength between the two men will be followed with keen interest by the public."

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

LITTLE EXCITEMENTS

Excitement, which is enthusiasm in an extreme form, may be a highly desirable thing when matters of high importance are confronted. Not so with little matters. Little people are the ones who are most excited about little things. Excitement produced by no adequate reason is merely a demonstration of the lack of self-control. And a lack of self control is fundamental and fatal.

CONDENSING

To say it all in a few words is a great art. Henry Chester Tracy, writing an important book called English as Human Experience," says this:

"Civilization began when things began to be more beautiful than they need be."

Here we have, as one might say, a history of the whole idea of civilization. It is said there are more than 400,000 words in the English language. Education would be a terrible thing if anyone was smart enough to use them all.

SEEING THROUGH

Seeing things and seeing what things mean are two different experiences. Hearing facts and having the power of analysis to discover what facts mean are different experiences. For instance, at the time of an election the uninformed or thoughtless person is impressed with the first election returns he hears. It makes no difference what state the returns come from, he thinks they tell a story. The thoughtful person takes into consideration every fact bearing on the case and discovers for himself whether the returns mean anything, whether they indicate a trend. So with all facts. To be understood and interpreted they have to be related to other facts. If we don't know these other facts the new ones can mean little to us.

PROVINCIALISM

Each part of our country thinks some other part is provincial. The New Yorker is frequently astonished to find things happening in the rest of the country that he never thought would happen. The westerner, on the other hand, is astonished by what New York thinks and does. The New Yorker says the West is provincial. The westerner says New York is the most provincial city in America. And the same pre-conceived notions exist in the North about the South and vice versa. Now we are all Americans, and America is a very broad country. It is the most natural thing in the world that our intensive interests are centered in a small section. Provincialism is to be expected.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SANDY AGAIN.

"Sandy took his wife and baby to a show. They went early and so got good seats down in the first row. The show had been advertised as being a "double bill" and the feature picture was supposed to be great.

Just as Sandy and his wife got themselves comfortably fixed in their places to enjoy the show, the baby started to cry. It would not be comforted—it howled. After a moment or two an usher came down the isle and said to Sandy, 'If that baby cries again I'll have to ask you to step to the box office and get your money back.'

For the next hour and a half the baby slept while Sandy and his wife enjoyed the show. When there was nothing left on the bill but the acrobatic closing act, Sandy leaned over toward his wife and said:

'Laurie, will ye stick th' bairn wi' a pin?'

Your Broadway And Mine

By WALTER WINCHELL

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The Willebrandt woman, the local sheriffs and the Rothstein case have contributed much to the discomfort of One Who Is Supposed To Know All the Places Where One May Do Things. Even the Man About Town may easily "get lost in a crowd" these Sabbath nights, unless he frequents the Harlem Black Belt, the 15 and 5 cab fare being but $2.50, including tip, from the Times Square tubes. With almost a dozen of the regular Broadway rendezvous preparing to hang Federal crepe on the entrances shortly, and The Furnace Club, "the hottest place in town," being shut suddenly for operating sans a license, there is only The Whoopee to frequent if you're a Stay-Up-Late.

* * * *

Here one may witness mad clowning and low-down songs and chatter, and the fascinating Mildred Manley moaning this part of "The St. Louis Blues":

"I'm sittin' in a jailhouse with my back to the wall.
I said I'm sittin' in a jailhouse with my back to the wall,
An' a sax-OH!-phone play-yah wuz the cuz of it awl!

They call Miss Manley" the ball of fire," a tag not to be question. Blond and low down, she is fascinating without being too vulgar.

* * * *

At 4 o'clock in the morning, then, if your columns for Monday, Wednesday and Saturday are done, and the legs, arms and orbs are not too weary your Sabbath night is listless unless you go to Harlem. Perhaps The Lenox Club, near 143d Street, is the most sizzling place. We only just discovered it. Jeff Blunt and another brownskin named Oscar Hammerstein run it. It is where the fascinating music usually is unfolded at a pashy pace, and white women dance with black men and black women dance with whites. To the uninitiated it is all interesting.

* * * *

It is also where they introduce you to a very homely old white woman, whose hat is cocked and her escort is a sepia-shaded fellow. She resembles John Bunny in a way, and they say she is harmless, if always intoxicated. "We don't know what to do with her," they explain up there. "It seems she owns lots of real estate and likes to mix with us. Of course, she spends from two to three hundred a night, so what the hell"

* * * *

Then a talented lad, affectionately called Snake Hips, attracts attention with his fox trotting (with a girl) while he unfolds a buck-and-wing routine. Racing through the crowded floor, his specialty signals joyous shrieks and other manifestations of whoopee. You get out of his way and like it. Or you orbs are glued on the pair in front, in back, or to the side of you, who neck passionately (whites and blacks) as they 'grind" to the retarded tempos. The Girl

Twelve Drowned When Seaplane Falls Into Sea

Twelve Prominent Brazilians Trapped And Drowned In Seaplane Disaster

WERE TO WELCOME NOTED INVENTOR

Accident Occurs Near Rio De Janeiro As Noted Inventor Pays Visit

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 3.—Twelve prominent Brazilians, including educators, engineers and economic leaders, were drowned today when the Seaplane Condor, in which they were flying out to meet the noted inventor Alberto Santos-Dumont was forced down into the bay.

Twelve bodies were found inside the seaplane when it was picked up from the water. All had been trapped inside.

Among the dead is Prof. Tobias Moscoso, Brazilian delegate to the Pan American conference Havana.

The victims were members of a reception committee that had flown out to welcome Santos-Dumont to Rio.

The cause of the plane's crash has not been ascertained, but authorities believe it must have been due to motor trouble. The suddeness with which the disaster overwhelmed the occupants of the plane was evident from the fact that not one of them had left his seat or succeeded in opening the door of the enclosed cabin.

The accident threw a pall of sorrow over Rio De Janeiro, changing the air of festivity with which Santos-Dumont was to have been welcomed to city-wide mourning.

Santos-Dumont is ranked among the foremost of Brazil's native sons, his inventive achievements having gained for him recognition throughout the world. His return today, the first time he has set foot on Brazilian soil in many years, was to have been commemorated with elaborate and formal ceremonies. Santos-Dumont has made his home in Paris for the past several years.

Prince Edward Not Engaged To Lady Anne Maud Wellesley, Secretary Says

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 3.—A report printed in the United States that the Prince of Wales has become engaged to Lady Anne Maud Wellesley, was officially denied this afternoon.

Sir Godfrey Thomas, principal private secretary to the prince, issued the following statement to International News Service:

"That story is perfectly untrue. It is absolutely without any foundation whatsoever."

Lady Anne is the 18-year-old daughter of the Marquis Douro, eldest son of the Fourth Duke of Wellington.

Consolidation Of Legal Activities Urged By Sargent

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Consolidation of all legal activities of the government under the direction of the department of justice, was recommended to congress today by Attorney General Sargent.

In his annual report Sargent declared that a large number of legal officers have been created in the past 60 years and that as many of them act independently of the justice department, a situation has arisen comparable to that prior to 1870 when the responsibility for legal work was divided among many law officers.

Col. William J. Donovan, assistant to the attorney general in charge of anti-trust activities, reported that 13 new cases were instituted in the year under the Sherman and Clayton laws with 22 pending June 30, 1927. Fourteen cases were terminated, five criminal and nine civil. The government was successful in all cases, according to the report.

John B. Truman, Chief Of State Game Commission, Hands In Resignation

HAS SERVED TWO AND HALF YEARS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—The resignation of John B. Truman, Tioga county, as executive secretary of the state game commission was announced here today.

Truman, whose resignation would be effective January 1, is on a leave of absence and his duties are being attended to by J. J. Stautterback, chief of the bureau of vermin control.

Truman has been with the commission for six and a half years. He was field man and later chief of the bureau of protection, which position he held when he succeeded Seth E. Gordon as executive secretary two and a half years ago.

Truman said he intends to go into business for himself. The commission will select a successor early in January.

Boulder Dam Plan Termed Feasible

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — The Boulder Dam project is entirely feasible from an engineering standpoint, the special commission of engineers reported today.

The report was sent to congress by the Secretary of Interior.

The engineers, appointed to survey the project, expressed a preference for a dam at Black Canyon, instead of Boulder Canyon, but declared that both sites are feasible. A preliminary survey which the engineers submitted to President Coolidge last month had indicated that the final report would be favorable to the project.

Doctors Show How To Relieve A Cold Almost Instantly

EASY, PLEASANT WAY TO END COLD!

Many Here Surprised to Find How Quickly Head Colds, Coughs and Chest Colds Disappear When Treated At Home By Hospital Method Doctors Now Advise

Realizing the danger as well as the misery of stubborn colds, doctors are now advising home use of a pleasant hospital method that brings quick, sure relief. And the experience of Miss Edith Burks is typical of reports every day, not only in home use among thousands of New Castle people, but in extreme hospital cases that brought fear of pneumonia.

EASY WAY TO AVOID HAVING A BAD COLD

Glad that he took the advice of his doctor, E. H. Ashley, like numbers of people here, now realizes how easily the needless misery of a cold can be avoided.

Mr. Ashley used to catch cold easily ever since he had acute bronchitis. On the advice of his doctor, then, he started taking Ayer's Pectoral the minute he felt a cold coming on—and in this way he prevents a cold from getting a start.

This helpful medication, doctors find, quickly checks congestion, drives out a threatening cold and restores linings of the air passages to a stronger, healthier condition. In this way it builds up resistance so that the cold may be ended before the miserable feeling begins. Used in time, Ayer's Pectoral is helping vast numbers here to go thru the winter without ever having a bad cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician.

CHILD'S COLD WORSE —PNEUMONIA FEARED

Mrs. R. H. Gordon, like numbers of mothers here, realizes that there's no need to be alarmed when a child wakes up with cold congestion in the middle of the night. And she is grateful to her doctor for telling her what to do.

Her little daughter, Estelle, awoke with a severe coughing spell, a fever of 101 and congestion spreading rapidly. On the doctor's advice she was given a laxative followed by double strength doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral every hour. Almost immediately the cough began to subside, the doctor reports. In a few hours the congestion was clearing up and in another day or so she was out playing—as well as ever.

Note: See other cases—all certified by the attending physician.

"Feverish," "Grippy" Feeling Soon Gone

Miss Eurke, for example, had neglected her cold for three days in the hope it would "cure itself" without treatment. Instead, it grew worse and started spreading. In two days she felt "achy" all over and her fever was so high she called her doctor, who advised double strength doses of Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital certified medication of wild cherry, terpin hydrate and other ingredients now used in leading clinics to help reduce fever, clear up congestion and drive out the cold.

Relief began immediately, when she felt its soothing, healing warmth—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. Within an hour or so the medication had been absorbed by her system, loosening up congestion and relieving the "achy" feeling. By night her fever was less; she slept comfortably without coughing and woke up feeling like a different person. In another day or so, the doctor reports, congestion was gone completely and there was no trace left of the cold.

Note: See other cases—all certified by the attending physician.

SOON ENDED COLD CAUGHT AT DANCE

Miss Julia Barr caught a stuffy head cold while overheated at a dance. It was mild at first, but she made the mistake of neglecting it, "thinking it would soon go away." Instead it became worse and congestion started spreading rapidly. Fearing pneumonia then, she called the doctor who prescribed double strength doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a hospital certified compound which quickly drives a cold out of the system.

Almost instantly she felt its comforting, healing warmth—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. This soon ended her coughing spells. By night her fever was reduced and temperature normal, and in another day or so all traces of the cold were gone.

LEADING DRUGGISTS ENDORSE HOSPITAL REMEDY FOR COLDS

Realizing the needless misery and danger caused by neglecting a cold, leading druggists have now made a "hospital certified" remedy available for home use among their patrons. For they know the action of every ingredient in helping remove congestion, relieve the "feverish", "achy" feeling and drive out the cold. And all druggists now guarantee Ayer's Pectoral to end a head cold, acute cough or chest cold in two or three days or the small cost will be promptly refunded on request.

Cars Collide; Both Damaged

Reports Of Traffic Accidents Are Made To Police Officers

Quite a number of automobile accidents were reported to the police over the week end. Some damage was reported, but no persons reported injured.

Arthur G. Marshall, 460 East Washington street, reported Sunday that he was driving east on East Long avenue at Clearview avenue, with a car bearing Pennsylvania license 491-269 following his machine. Marshall started to make a left hand turn onto Clearview avenue after giving a signal of his intention. The machine tried to go to the left of his machine at the same time, striking his machine and damaging it. The other car after hitting the Marshall car went up over the sidewalk to the left and between a telephone pole and a store and ran headon into a tree. It was badly damaged.

Lewis M. Susany, Bessemer, reported Saturday that he was going east on East Washington street in front of the Nixon Theatre, as a machine bearing Pennsylvania license 857-592 was going to park on the south side of Washington street. This machine stopped in the middle of the street and was about to back into its parking place. As Susany got even with it, it started to cut into the curb and struck and damaged the Susany machine.

Nathan Rosen, 1130 Scioto street, reported Saturday that he was going north on South Jefferson street on the green light at the south side of the public square, when Paul W. Geugler, 241 Oak street, Butler, Pa., going east on Washington street, hit and damaged his car.

Howard Cade, New Castle R. D. No. 9 reported Saturday that his machine was parked on East Washington street at Ray street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license S 51-716 going south on East Washington street ran into and damaged his car.

J. E. Rose, New Wilmington, reported Saturday that he was enroute north on Jefferson street at Grant street, as a car bearing Pennsylvania license C 21-230 also going north on Jefferson street, made a turn to go west on Grant street. The Rose machone ran into the other car belonging to August Dalmolin of the Butler road. Both were damaged.

J. A. Byers, 423 Garfield avenue, reported that he was going south on East street Saturday, when his machine collided with a car bearing Pennsylvania license S 44-794, which came out of Sycamore Way. Some damage was done.

PULASKI

Mr. and Mrs. William Kerr entertained at a prettily appointed dinner at their home on Thursday. Covers were arranged for nineteen at an attractively decorated table, yellow and white being the colors used in the decorations. The hostess was assisted by her daughter Miss Lois Kerr. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Newell Kerr and children Louise, John and Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen and daughters, Helen and Jean of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Meek and son Arthur and daughter Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kuhn and daughter Hazel. The day was spent in games and a general good time.

Mrs. Laura Wilson proved a very delightful hostess when she entertained at an attractively appointed six o'clock dinner at her home on Thursday evening. A large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums formed the certerpiece, and yellow and white being the colors used. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson and son Glenn Jr., of Monaca, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ferrell, Ellwood City, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hicks and daughters Katheryn and Jean and Mr. and Mrs. William Lorihmer of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson and daughter Agnes and Mary of Struthers, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wilson and Mont Wilson of Youngstown.

Squire and Mrs. Lloyd E. Rodgers entertained in a very delightful manner the members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church at a party at their home on Thanksgiving evening. Games, radio music and a general good time was enjoyed. A very delicious lunch was served over thirty five being present. Miss Lenora Taylor of Edinboro State College and Arthur Meek of Ohio University were special guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simpson of Youngstown were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Simpson Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Meek and Arthur and Drothy Meek were dinner guests of Mrs. Emily Meek and Mr. and Mrs. Will Meek of Courtland on Saturday.

Mrs. Alice Davidson and granddaughter Rebecca Hull spent Thanksgiving with the former's sister Mrs. Martha Ediburn of West Middlesex.

Mrs. E. L. Ayers, Mrs. Chas. Clark, Mrs. J. R. Meek, Misses Clara and Agnes Ayers were recent New Castle visitors.

Mrs. E. C. Lostetter who has been confined to her home with illness for the past couple of weeks is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Doyle of Akron, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schell and children Mary Ethel and Bobby were entertained at a very attractive Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Baker at noon on Thursday.

E. Reese who has been confined to his home with illness is improving.

The regular meeting of the official board of the Methodist church will be held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Baker on Monday evening.

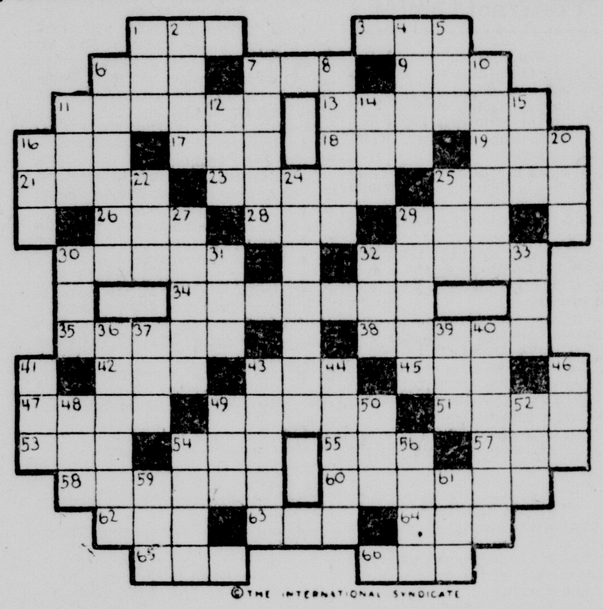

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thompson have gone to Sharon where they will reside for the winter.

Ray Hoskins who has been spending the past couple of months in Detroit has returned home.

No story the A. E. F. hero tells his small son seems quite as incredible as the belt he says he used to wear.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

PETER PLANS THE ESCAPE

Dove was beside himself with fear and was twisting and turning and upsetting the rest of the pigeons on the branch. Peter knew that would never do. If they were to be saved Dove must keep a cool head.

"Here now; stop that fussing," commanded Peter, grasping Dove's beak to make him stay still. "All is not lost yet. If you listen to me I will tell you a way out.

"The Humans are coming back; so you must hurry. Do exactly as I tell you. Warn the pigeon next to you and tell him to pass this word along to the others on the branch. When I give the signal let every bird rise into the air at the same time and, never stopping to look behind him, let him fly straight up to the top of that tall tree that stands off by itself on the side of the hill.

"It is too far away and too high for the Humans to try to get us, and there is penty of standing room there.

"It may be well for us not to fly too far away. We might run into more Two-Legs, and perhaps if we stand by we may help to rescue some of the pigeons that are trapped.

"Make haste, Dove! Don't wait a second longer. I just caught sight of that pole sticking up through the branches of the tree in front of us."

Shaking with frieght, Dove at last managed to do as Peter told him, quick as a flash the warning and the plan to escape were passed along from one bird to the other. Peter climbed upon Dove's back.

"One! Two! Three! Fly!" cried the boy and clapped his hands, and almost with one flap of their wings the pigeons rose into the air and only just in time. In a second more a Two-Legs with a pole would have been whacking at their branch.

As it was this Two-Legs saw them rise, and giving a cry dashed after them, hitting at them with his stick. But he missed, and before he could raise the pole to try it again the pigeons were far above his reach and hurrying as fast as they could go toward the tall tree that stood by itself.

Two-Legs gave up the chase in short order, just as Peter had guessed he would. How foolish it would have been for the Two-Legs to waste time and strength in running after a few birds when there were so many more close at hand.

Breathless but safe in a very few moments Peter and the Doves alighted in the top of the tall tree. Not until they found their feet firmly planted upon a branch, far out of harm's way, did they look to see what was going on in that part of the woods they had just left. What a scene of terror!

Next—"Night of Terror."

"ONE! TWO! THREE! FLY!" CRIED PETER

BOY IS VICTIM OF "UNLOADED" GUN

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Dec. 3.—Funeral services for Warren Thompson, 15, victim of an "unloaded" shotgun, were held today from the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith, 1909 Main street. The boy was accidentally killed when William Barker, 14, a playmate, snapped the trigger of his father's shotgun, which he had carried to the Thompson home. With his brother, Lynn Barker, 16, and Junior Thompson, eight, brother of the dead boy, he fled to his home and went to bed. Mrs. Bessie Thompson, widowed mother of the boy, found the body of her son when she returned home from work.

Death Claims Woman At 130; Daughter Is 90

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Reyes Cota, aged 130 years lacking a month, is dead. Mrs. Cota was born in Mexico December 24, 1798, and died at Mendota, Fresno county, yesterday.

When Mrs. Crota was born John Adams was President, George III ruled England and Brancefort was viceroy of Mexico. A daughter, Mrs. Rosenda De Arango, is 90 and vouches for her mother's age. Mrs. Cota was in good health all her life until three weeks ago, when she became ill.

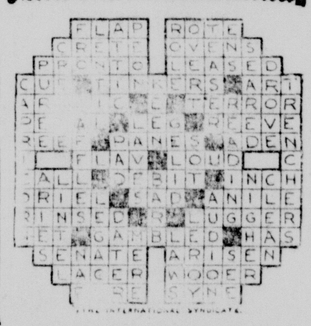

ILL HEALTH CAUSE OF MAN'S SUICIDE

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 3.—No motive except that of ill health is given by relatives for the suicide of William Marshall, 60-year-old resident of Polk, who was found dead in a rocking chair, a small caliber revolver nearby and a bullet hole through his temple.

Coroner Osenider, making an investigation, found that a brother, C. W. Marshall, had left the house at four p. m. yesterday, and four hours later William Marshall was found dead.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 3.—Unknown to each other, two Milwaukee friends, Ben Scherer and William Zitrow, went hunting in northern Wisconsin near Mercer.

Scherer encountered a big black bear and fired. Zitrow saw a bear and he fired.

Scherer rushed forward to see his prize, as did Zitrow. Surprised, they greeted each other near the dead bear.

"Hello, Ben," said Zitrow, "isn't that a fine bear I shot?"

"Why, I shot him, Bill," Scherer countered.

An argument followed and they finally agreed that both had come upon the bear from different directions and had fired simultaneously so that only one report was heard. There was the evidence of their marksmanship—one bullet through the lower jaw and another in the left side.

Both claimed him and neither would sell his rights.

The bear was brought back to Milwaukee and Gerald Lacher Jr., a mutual friend, was to effect the role of Solomon and divide the bear.

In 1891, Prof. Samuel P. Langley published his notable "Experiments in "Aerodynamics" and in 1893, "The Internal Work of the Winds."

Mission Children Enjoy Big Feast

First Of Annual Thanksgiving Dinners Held On Saturday

Happiness and frivolity characterized the first of the annual Thanksgiving feasts for the children of the Sunday school department and sewing classes of the City Rescue mission of New Castle which occurred on Saturday evening at 5 o'clock.

Preceding the treat, the weekly sewing school took place in the rooms of the mission building on South Mercer street, and then the dinner was served.

Promptly at 5 p. m. the boys and girls who had come to celebrate their Thanksgiving season began to move to the tables that had been placed in the main room of the mission. Two long ones were secured from the Y. M. C. A. and decorated in such a manner that it clearly emphasized the fact that it was a Thanksgiving celebration.

The kiddies enjoyed the weiners, scalloped potatoes, rolls, cake, ice cream and a number of other goodies that would delight the appetite of any boy or girl. And it was served in abundance, too. The food was made possible by many of the generous and warm-hearted citizens of the community who donated either foodstuffs or money for the occasion.

Volunteer workers served the dinner to the kiddies, and for their tiring services the mission is most grateful. Those who helped were T. J. Hinkson, general chairman; W. H. Rech, assistant; Mrs. Stephen McBride, Mrs. Ed Mitchell, Mrs. Benjamin Watkins, Mrs. H. F. Thompson, Mrs. Margaret Palmer, Mrs. A. G. Zahnizer, Mrs. W. H. Butler, Mrs. B. Smith, Miss Marian Markle, Miss Grace Young, Miss Ruth Young, Miss Helen Young, Mrs. Frank Steindorf, Miss Mabel Weimer and Miss Margaret Asher.

Beautiful floral decorations for the tables were furnished by Butz Brothers, florists. Following the dinner they were sent to various families where sickness exists.

Superintendent Benjamin Watkins acted as generalissimo of the entire doings and due to his guidance this children's Thanksgiving dinner can be chalked up as a grand success.

New Castle Wins Over Gary, Ind.

First Baptist Men's Bible Class Victorious In Inter-City Contest

The Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church of this city won the eight-week attendance contest with Every Man's Bible class of the Central Baptist church of Gary, Ind., which closed yesterday.

The final score was: New Castle 5,088, and Gary, 4,800. Gary staged a seventh-inning rally which almost overcame the early lead acquired by the New Castle class. Rev. William W. Ayer, pastor of the Gary church and teacher of the Every Man's class, wired G. M. Landis, teacher of the New Castle class: "You deserve to win, congratulations".

During the eight weeks of the contest the New Castle class averaged 106, which was a gain of 31 per cent over its average for the six months prior to the contest. The Gary class averaged 75 men per Sunday, or a gain of 25 per cent, over the six months preceding the contest. Both classes reached high-water marks in attendance yesterday. Gary having 105 men out and New Castle 162. Both classes profited greatly in attendance and interest by the contest.

Mr. Landis made the remark that the Gary men were clean sportsmen, hard fighters and good losers. As a stimulant to increase the attendance during the contest the New Castle class was divided into two divisions, the Odds and the Evens, under the captaincy of William E. Harris and W. O. (Red) Williams. The Even side won this intraclass contest by the narrow margin of six points.

Babies Gain By This Simple Method

Doctors say, souring waste in baby's digestive tract is usually back of any failure to gain weight according to schedule. And the best proof, this is true, is the quick way, weak, fretful, puny babies improve when you cleanse their stomach and bowels and put them in order with a few doses of purely-vegetable, pleasant-tasting Fletcher's Castoria. This gentle, harmless preparation is the doctor's first thought to relieve those ills of babies and children, such as colic, gas, constipation, diarrhea, colds, etc. Just be sure you get genuine Castoria in the bottle that bears the Fletcher signature.

Cathedral Gets Animal Circus

Excel Animal Circus Will Head Bill During Week Of Frolic

Following its most successful season under canvas, Schultz' Excel Animal Circus will be the headliner at The Cathedral auditorium during the week of the Winter Circus and Frolic, starting Monday, December 10, and continuing throughout the week, declares Herbert Peairs, manager of The Cathedral, who, for weeks has been negotiating with the owner of the circus for its appearance in New Castle.

The Excel Animal Circus is acclaimed both by critics and showmen, as one of the finest collections of trained animals in the United States. One of their feature presentations is a flock of trained sheep, and these animals, as well as others, only serve to build up suspense for the wild animal acts. The remainder of the program will be announced at a later date, as negotiations have not yet been fully completed.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening, the clown band will again be on the streets of New Castle.

Miss New Castle (Elizabeth Ciampoli) is now leading The Cathedral popularity contest. Miss Independence (Ann Lyden) is second, Miss Builders (Ruth Calahan) is third, Miss P. H. C. (Gladys Erwin) is fourth, and Miss Rainbow (Ruth McComb), who led the contest last week, is fifth.

Christmas Seal Sale Starts Today

Six Hundred Thousand Seals Mailed To People Of New Castle And County

At noon today 6,000 envelopes containing 600,000 Christmas seals were placed in the mails at the New Castle postoffice. And late this afternoon it is expected that the people of New Castle and Lawrence county will begin to receive the annual Tuberculosis Christmas seals, thereby making it possible for the work of tuberculosis prevention to continue in the state of Pennsylvania for another year.

In former years $3,000 and more has been raised in the county for the prevention of tuberculosis through the seal sale. This year it is expected far to exceed former figures because this year according to Miss Della A. Glenn executive secretary of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society which is sponsoring the seal sale, the people of the county are realizing even more the scope and necessity for the work.

As the Christmas season approaches it is expected to place one or more booths for the sale of the seals in the department stores of New Castle so that every one may have a chance to purchase them.

POSTOFFICE PAY DAY

Woman Embezzler Files Appeal In Supreme Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Adah H. Kaufman, former clerk and teller of the Exchange Bank and Trust company, of Franklin, today filed an appeal with the supreme court from her conviction on two charges of embezzlement, which was recently upheld by the superior court.

The Venango county court found Mrs. Kauffman guilty on two of three charges of embezzling the bank's funds and sentenced her to pay a fine of $500 and serve three months in jail for each of the two indictments, the sentences running concurrently.

Negro Murderer Is Executed At Rockview Today

Shortly Before Death Negro Slayer Makes Complete Confession

ADMITS KILLING OF POLICEMAN

(International News Service)

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., Dec. 3.—Completely unnerved by a two-year wait for death, Rogers Dilsworth, Philadelphia negro, broke down and confessed the murder of John Creevy, 68, a policeman, a few minutes before he was electrocuted for the crime early today.

Dilsworth walked into the execution chamber at 7 a. m., two minutes later the lone contact was applied and at 7:06 a. m. he was pronounced dead by Dr. A. L. Hickok, prison physician.

A few minutes before the death march began, Dilsworth lost the grim composure he had maintained, and sobbed a complete confession of the shooting to the prison chaplain, Rev. P. M. Osborne.

Waited Two Years.

Due to an oversight in the office of a court clerk, Dilsworth waited two years after being sentenced to death before Governor John S. Fisher set a date for the negro's death.

He was convicted of the slaying on June 19, 1925, of Creevy in the home of James Grubb, negro, in Germantown.

Dilsworth, trembling with fear as the time for the death march neared, told the prison chaplain how, when the policemen came to Grubb's home to quiet a disturbance, he snatched Creevy's gun from its holster and killed the aged policeman with one shot.

After the confession, Dilsworth managed to regain his composure and walked to his death quietly. His only attendants were prison officials, with Rev. Osborne chanting a prayer.

There was no one at the prison gates to claim the body.

Doris Niles Scores Hit At Cathedral

Small Audience Applauds Classical, Romantic Dancers Saturday Evening

That a show in New Castle of a Saturday evening, cannot draw a crowd is to be mourned, for on Saturday evening, December 1, there was presented at The Cathedral a ballet second to none now on the boards.

It was Miss Doris Niles, late of California, and her ballet, and a crowd of less than 500 people witnessed one of the most enjoyable evenings of dancing which has been presented in New Castle in a long time.

Miss Niles, herself, is the most radiant dancer that one will see in a long time. Equally at home in the classical, interpretive and romantic schools of dancing, she gave a performance in which she rendered classical, interpretive and romantic numbers to an enthusiastic audience. Her specialties, those that seemed to strike the fancy of the audience, were her renditions of Memoirs of the Arena, and the Russian Gypsy.

Her sister, Miss Cornelia Niles, also showed her mettle in Mme Pompadour, done exquisitely. The ballet, of course, was an assemblage hard to beat, and one can say nothing but praise for Miss Niles and her company, and one can only mourn that more people of New Castle did not see her performance.

Funny world! The law punishes one who uses a bomb to cause suffering, and does nothing to the one who deposits wads of gum underfoot.

Muriel McLean

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec.3.—Miss Muriel McLean, Buffalo, N. Y., will direct the production of "The Romance of the Willow Pattern", one of three one-act plays to be presented by the Westminster dramatic fraternity Friday evening.

Miss McLean, a sophomore, is an accomplished amateur actress as well as a good director. She wrote and directed a Thanksgiving play which was presented last week by members of the Y. W. C. A. She is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Zoning Board Three Cases For

Pennsy Employes Seek Permit To Erect Garage; Other Appeals

Three cases will be up for consideration Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock wmen the board of Zoning Appeals convenes in the city council chambers.

The first is that of R. E. O'Donnell in behalf of employes of the Pennsylvania railroad who sought permision to erect a garage for housing their automobiles while at work at 306 South Liberty street. The permit was refused in the first instance by the city engineering department because the proposed garage was to have been erected flush with the property line and this was too close, according to the zoning regulations.

An appeal was made to the board of zoning appeals on the ground that it was impossible to move the proposed garage building back further on account of the swampy and wet condition of the back part of the lot on which it is to be erected.

The second case is that of Fred E. Woods, 312 Garfield avenue who desired permission to erect an addition to his present garage repair shop at that place.

The permit was refused by the engineering department on the ground that it would be for a use nonconforming with a residence district in which the proposed addition is to be located.

The third case which will be up for consideration is that of Joseph Lepore at 10-12 East Madison avenue, which was held over from the last session of the board because of the failure of Mr. Lepore to appear.

Mr. Lepore sought a certificate of occupancy for the building which he recently erected at the address given. It was erected originally for use as a storeroom, but Mr. Lepore plans to sell automobiles and desires to establish a car repair shop in the rear part of the building. It was refused by the engineering department because of the fact that it would be a non-conforming use and also too near to the Mahoning M. E. church.

RHEUMATISM IS QUICKLY OUSTED BY NEW KONJOLA

Sufferer Had About Given Up Hope Of Ever Being Well Again —Lauds New Medicine.

What encouragement and hope are to be found in the endorsements that pour in, telling of the amazing results that follow the use of Konjola, the new medicine. The records of this super-remedy fairly bulge with the glad letters from those who have found in Konjola the one avenue of escape from pain and suffering that have defied and resisted every effort to find relief. Konjola is not sold on promises nor claims, but upon the record of its achievements. Konjola passed the experimental stage years ago. It is a medicine known for what it actually accomplishes, not what it claims to do. The best proof of the astonishing merits of this super-remedy is that it triumphs where all else has failed. It conquers the stubborn cases that have baffled every other medicine and treatment tried; it is victorious where disease has held sway so long that all hope of new health was gone.

Consider, as an example of Konjola's powers, the experience of Mr. Micke Meeky, 531 East Washington street, New Castle. He had his doubts about Konjola's ability to help him, because everything else he tried had failed. But today Mr. Meeky, an expert molder, is among Konjola's most enthusiastic friends.

"No wonder Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends. I can understand this when I consider what this wonderful new medicine did for me. I had rheumatism for months and months, and what I suffered cannot be described. I had pains all over my body; it was hard to tell where I hurt the worst. The agony was particularly keen in my legs and arms, and this made my work a torture. I am a molder, and a molder with rheumatism is entirely out of luck. I took enough medicine to relieve a dozen case of rheumatism, but I was not benefited a bit. Fact is, my pains grew worse day after day, and I was wondering what to do when a friend advised Konjola.

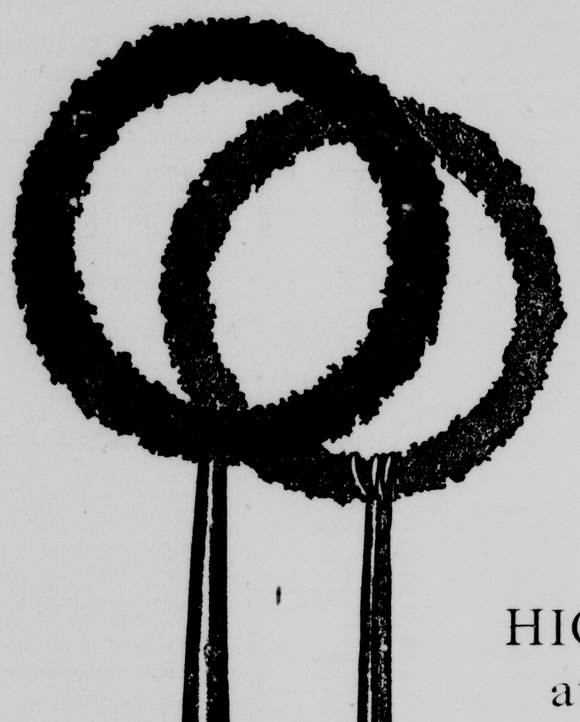

"It seemed like a joke to me to try another medicine, however fine the recommendation, but my friend urged me to take his advice. 'Try just two bottles', he said, 'and then decide what to do'. So I started on the treatment. My friend certainly knew what he was talking about, for before I had finished the second bottle I was so much better that I knew that the finish of my rheumatism was not far distant. Six bottles—a treatment covering six weeks—banished every pain. I feel simply great, and my friend is as happy as I am that he can say to me 'I told you so'. If anyone has any doubts about Konjola, refer him to me. It will be a pleasure to put any sufferer on the right road to health."

Not an unusual case of speedy relief of a stubborn disease; Konjola's files fairly overflow with thousands of endorsements like this. Isn't it reasonable to believe that what Konjola did for Mr. Meeky it will do for you?

Tigers Club Elects Bullano President

Other Officers Are Named At Sunday Meeting; Plan For Minstrel

J. V. Bullano was unanimously elected president of the Tigers Club, formerly the Independent Athletic Association, at a meeting which took place Sunday afternoon at their club house on South Mill street.

At the same election, W. N. Chill was elected vice president, V. Conti, treasurer; C. F. Scungio, financial secretary; E. F. Strizzi, corresponding secretary, and F. Cola, sergeant at arms.

Other officers who were appointed by President Bullano are: L. DeFiore, business manager; M. Ross, purchasing agent; J. Bordonaro, L. DeLillo and M. Lombardo, auditors; E. Casachi, H. E. Ross and L. Strizzi, social committee; lecturers, Steve Griffith, B. Cubbellis, P. Lombardo, E. Palus, F. Coli, H. E. Ross and C. Calella.

Before the election of officers the regular meeting took place at which time plans were discussed for the fourth annual minstrel show, which will take place in 1929. The show this year will be bigger and better than before, and will be directed by W. N. Chill. At the next regular meeting of the club, the date of the show will be announced, since the show committee will meet Tuesday evening, December 11, at 7:30 to decide on the date.

The Tigers Club, formerly the Independent Athletic Association was organized in 1926 for the purpose of sponsoring athletics, but the following year the organization abolished athletics and was reorganized as a social club under the name of The Tigers Club.

We are a far-scattered people, and agree on nothing except the idea that it's nice to get a living without earning it.

Daniel Leasure Camp To Nominate Officers

Believe Negro Struck By Door Of Freight Car

Mystery In Death On Erie Train Is Believed Solved

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 3.—Police today announced they have found the solution of the mystery surrounding the death of Fred Hill, Triadelphia, W. Va., Negro, whose body was found in a box car at the Ferrona yard of the Erie railroad, Friday night.

Hill died from wounds on the head and a fracture of the skull, an autopsy conducted by Dr. E. N. Hagin at the request of Coroner William J. McGrath disclosed. At first, officers believed he had been murdered, but further investigation by Erie railroad detectives and local police, late yesterday, revealed that his head had been crushed by the sliding door of the car in which his body was found.

The train of which the car was a part, en route from McKees Rocks to Sharon, stopped suddenly at Harbor Bridge, near New Castle, when an air brake line parted. The suddenness of the stop almost wrecked the train and also is believed to have caused Hill's death. From marks on the car, paint on the Negro's cap, and other clues, it is believed that Hill was standing in the open doorway of the car when the sudden stop was made. The door was of the sliding type and worked unusually easy. At the sudden stop, it was slid shut, crushing Hill's head. Much blood was found in the car, indicating that Hill had moved about considerably before he died.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Ten years makes a lot of changes in folks. The striplings you knew ten years ago may now be sporting a subdivision in the front, and the hair that once pomped may now be among the missing. Found it so Saturday night at the reunion of Battery I', 108th field artillery, in Philadelphia.

What a time that was! It was only the second reunion of the battery and many of the fellows had seen nothing of the other lads until Saturday night. Some of the boys had gotten so fat that little resemblance remained. Jim Maginn had taken on something like 75 pounds, Hetzel had developed into what looked to be a near heavyweight champion. The chaplain of the regiment, Rev. MacFetridge was one of the few that looked about the same.

Somehow or other there is something about Philadelphia that other eastern cities lack. It's a big city with small town friendliness. Folks are in a hurry but not so much so that they haven't time to be friendly. Perhaps it's the old Quaker influence.

Or it may be the fact that one can get shore dinners down there. Now that's a meal for you. Starting with a basket of soft shell clams, steamed, they lead you up to a broiled lobster that hits the spot with a pleasant bang.

Came nearly getting there, along with the committee of the American Legion. All of us were riding the Red Arrow, a Cleveland to New York train, due in Philadelphia at 7:40 a. m. At a little place called Iroquois, Pa., about 18 miles west of Harrisburg, a heavy freight train was a few miles ahead of us on an inside track. Something went wrong, a brake beam dragged, or an air hose broke, and the freight train buckled. In an instant what had been a freight train was a tangled, jumbled heap of wreckage. Steel cars were squeezed together like sandwiches; coal, coke and miscellaneous merchandise were heaped up; the eastbound main track was twisted into a question mark, and traffic was blocked both ways on all tracks. The Red Arrow was just behind the wrecked freight and had the accident been a few minutes later the freight would have toppled over onto our train, all of which would have made a number of insurance policies due and payable immediately. As it was the engineer slammed on all the brakes he had with him and we stopped short of the wreckage.

The accident was at 4:30. About 8 o'clock the passengers began to feel hungry and everybody was invited to go back to the trains which had diners on them. The New Castle crowd ate breakfast on the Broadway Limited, and after finishing up about $1.65 worth of food each were informed that the breakfast was a courtesy of the Pennsylvania railroad. Phil Greer still insists that had he known that before he started, he would have had a planked steak for breakfast.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when traffic was under way and a fine flock of passenger trains it was that were parked back of the smash-up. Two sections of the Broadway Limited, the Red Arrow, the American and one or two local passenger trains. Finally arrived in Philadelphia at 3 o'clock, just 7½ hours late.

New Castle didn't get the 1929 convention, but grounds were laid for 1931. The 1930 convention will probably go to Harrisburg to assist in the dedication of the Memorial bridge there.

How Science Fights Fat

Not by starving

Some 25 years ago, scientists found a great cause of excess fat. It lies in an under-active gland. By thousands of tests on fat animals they found that treating this cause led to loss of weight and gain in health and vigor. That discovery changed the methods of dealing with excess fat.

That is the basic factor in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for over 20 years—millions of boxes of them. They did not starve or overwork. They simply took four tablets daily until weight came down to normal.

Users told the others the results. The use of Marmola spread. Now you see the results in every circle. Excess fat is disappearing. Slender figures are the rule. New youth and beauty, new vitality, has come to countless people in this modern way.

Consider these facts. Then, if you are seeking like results, get them in this scientific way. Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. As fat departs and new vitality returns you will know exactly why. Try the method which for 20 years has brought such delightful results to so many. Do it now. You owe that to you rself.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

GIRL SCOUTS

MINNEHAHA TROOP

Anyone coming unexpectedly into the Sons of Veterans' Hall (headquarters for the Minnehaha Troop of Girl Scouts) on Saturday morning would have thought they had stepped into Santa Claus' headquarters. The girls were busy making toys for children less fortunate than themselves to give them on Christmas Eve. Notwithstanding a good many of the troop were out putting up posters for the Tuberculosis Society a great deal was accomplished. Next week will probably see the things all completed. Calico dogs, gingham and oilcloth cats are being made, dolls are being dressed and bean bags are being filled.

Time was taken for the investiture ceremony and Audrey Gilliland was invested as a Girl Scout. It being Edith Sherbine's birthday, according to custom, she was presented with a midget girl scout pin. Kathryn Taylor came to tell the troop goodbye, as she is moving to California, and she was presented with a midget girl scout pin also, so that she may always remember the Minnehaha troop.

Each girl having any of the animals some will please be sure to bring them to the next meeting.

Sugarless cereal means a fight

A little sweetening does away with an awful lot of trouble

CHILDREN'S meals should not be something to be dreaded. One of the most important of all dieting problems is to get children to eat enough bone-building, health-promoting foods. Ranking among the highest of foods for children are cereals, and yet, as an eminent food authority recently stated it, "Sugarless cereal means a fight."

He went on to advise mothers to make these necessary foods welcome and even looked forward to by the children through intelligent and judicious sweetening. Sugar in itself is the most perfect fuel to furnish energy for active children, and best of all it makes other necessary foods so easily and gladly eaten.

Children should not dread their meals. The wise mother or nurse, by an intelligent use of sugar, can enable children to enjoy all kinds of healthful cereals, fruits, vegetables and milk. Properly sweetened cereals also encourage the child to eat more milk. Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor. The Sugar Institute.

Constantly we are finding new and better ways of doing things

THE new Ford was a good car when it was first introduced. It is a better car today. Constantly we are finding new and better ways of doing things. Ceaselessly, untiringly, our engineers are working for the improvement of the car. Every new idea that seems to promise advancement is studied and tested in every conceivable way.

Not only in the laboratory, but out on the road in actual running. As soon as we are sure of its value we put it into the car.

The result is an automobile that is always new. There is no such thing as saving improvements for a yearly model designed to speed up sales or capture a passing fancy.

No matter when you buy a new Ford—in January, May, August or December—you know that it embodies every latest development that has proved sound and good.

You know more than this. You know that in design, materials and workmanship it is the best car that can possibly be made at a low price. The deciding thought behind every move is not sales or profits—but "What will give the most service to the public?"

Our whole effort is toward simplicity—to give you complete, well-rounded performance with the least amount of machinery and without sacrificing quality anywhere along the line. You cannot make a complicated car at a low price without cutting corners somewhere.

The new Ford is a truly great car because it brings you a proved, sensible balance of every essential feature of an automobile. No one part has been over-developed at the expense of another.

You get remarkable acceleration and smoothness at all speeds. You get speed of 55 to 65 miles an hour. You get uncommon power and hill-climbing ease. You get reliability and economy of operation that will save you many dollars in the up-keep of your car.

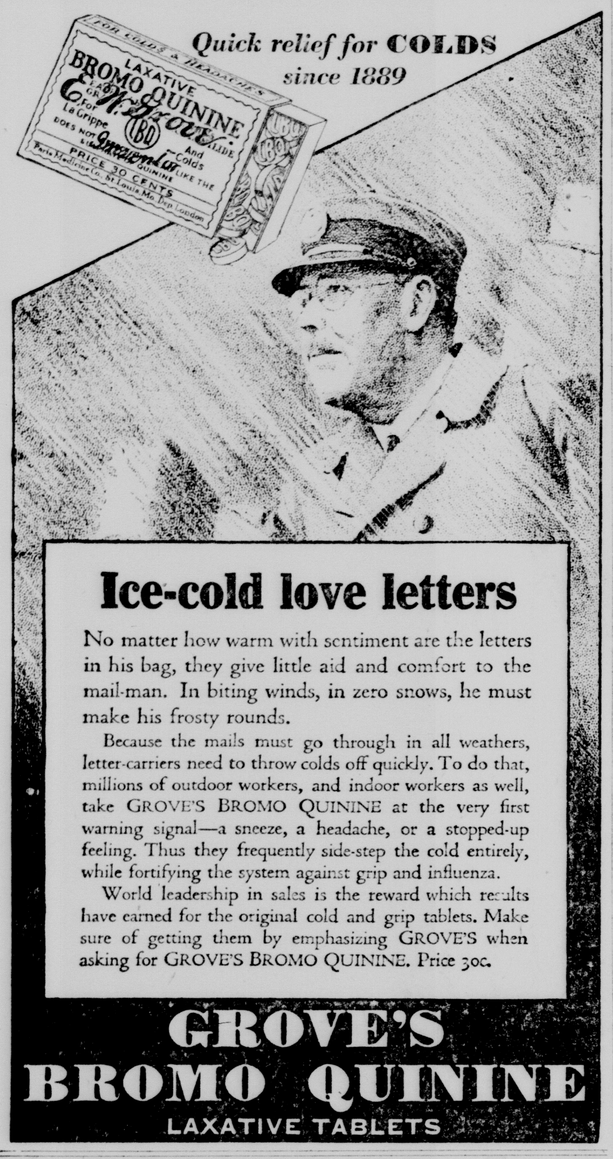

You get more than this . . . a fully enclosed, silent six-brake system—four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers—Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield—the full and immediate advantage of many improvements developed exclusively by the Ford Motor Company.

Arrange now to see the new Ford and know the thrill of driving it. Judge it not only on acceleration, power and speed, but also on safety, comfort, ease of control, reliability, economy—on its long life and the security of its trade-in value.

You will know then that today, more truly than ever before, there is nothing quite like the new Ford in design, quality and price.

Jim Bottomley Given Award As Valuable Player

FREDDY LINDSTROM IS PLACED SECOND

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Players on a pennant-winning National League team who are candidates for the most valuable players award in the future will be judged partly on their work in the world's series, it was indicated today following the choice of "Sunny Jim" Bottomly, St. Louis first baseman, as the 1923 winner. He received 76 votes, six more than his only rival, Fred Lindstrom of the New York Giants.

"Sunny Jim" will receive a diploma and $1,000 in gold.

Although Bottomley's bat proved to be full of holes in the last two months of the season and during the world's series, he was chosen because of his great playing in the first four months of the campaign which practically won the pennant for the Cards.

Lindstrom Second Choice.

Supporters of Lindstrom point out that the New York third sacker outbatted Bottomley by 33 points and was consistently brilliant in the field. This faction will suggest at the annual meeting of the league next week that the committee consider world's series performances in making its selection, as is done in the American League.

John J. McGraw, leader of the Giants, says he will propose that the league award a prize of $500 to the second most valuable player and another of $250 to the third. He pointed out that Lindstrom received more votes than winning players polled in other years.

Each of the eight sports writers making the selections represented a National League city. Bottomley was first choice of four and second choice of the others. Lindstrom received three first choices, three seconds, one third and one sixth.

The remaining votes were distributed as follows: Grimes, Pittsburgh, 53; Benton, New York, 37; Critz, Cincinnati, 37; Traynor, Pittsburgh, 28; Wilson, Chicago, 21; Hogan, New York, 17; Jackson, New York, 16; Maranville, St. Louis, 14; Vance, Brooklyn, 13; Hafey, St. Louis, 11; Hornsby, Boston, 10; Hartnett, Chicago, 6; P. Waner, Pittsburgh, 5; Richbourgh, Boston, 5; Douthit, St. Louis, 5; Bissonette, Brooklyn, 3; Flowers, Brooklyn, 3; Whitney, Philadelphia, 2; Ford, Cincinnati, 2; Thompson, Philadelphia, 1.

WIDOW, 65, KILLED BY INTERURBAN CAR

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Tillie Steele Rogers, 65, widow of Alfred Rogers of Tuscarora, near here, was struck and killed by an interurban electric car late today as she hurried across the tracks toward the car stop.

Mrs. John Rogers, a sister, of New Philadelphia, tried to restrain and save the other, who apparently misjudged the speed of the car. They had been visiting relatives four miles from here and were en route to a younger sister's home in New Philadelphia.

Snowfalls Mark Week's Weather

Average Temperature For The Week Of November 25 Stands At 34 Degrees

Snow was noticable on three days of the week of November 25, and the total precipitation for the week was .66 inches, according to the report of last week's weather conditions, made available this morning by B. F. Johnson, weather observer at the City of New Castle Water Company's pump station.

Sunday, November 25, Monday and Tuesday were the days on which snow fell. All other days had a slight amount of rain.

The average high temperature for the week was 41 degrees, and the average low temeprature was 28 degrees. Five days were partly cloudy and three days were wholly cloudy. The average mean temperature for the week was 34.5 degrees.

To Show Pupils How To Tie Up Holiday Bundles

With a view to giving the students of the school system the proper kind of instruction in color harmonies for the tieing of Christmas packages, Miss Emilie Salomon, art supervisor of the New Castle schools, has an interesting display in the administration building.

Contract Awarded For Bank Building

The Boldt Construction company of this city, builders of the Jameson Memorial hospital, First National bank and other jobs in New Castle has been awarded the contract for the construction of a new building for the Farmers National Bank of Beaver Falls. The building will have a frontage of 50 feet on Seventh avenue and extend back 110 feet. It will be three stories high, built to accommodate five additional stories at a later date.

Rivers Receding; Danger Is Over

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3. — After reaching a crest of 20.7 feet, five feet below flood stage, the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers were falling today.

No damage was reported done by the rise which is believed to have been caused by melting snow and recent rains.

Small Coal Mines Again Operating

Apparently the coal business is taking on a spurt. Numerous small mines in this Western Pennsylvania district which had been idle are now in operation. Especially is this true in the lower end of Mercer county.

Tells Friends How Ten Herbs Benefited Her

Feels Fine Since Pains, Headaches, Nervousness and Dizzy Spells Are Gone.

"I feel fine, since taking Ten Herbs," was the recent statement of Miss Amelia Snyder, 553 Walker Avenue, Butler, Pa., to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street.

MISS AMELIA SNYDER

New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this famous new herbal compound to crowds of men and women. "I have told friends how your medicine benefited me," continued Miss Snyder, who is pastry baker at the Anderson restaurant in Butler, Pa.

"For more than a year I had very severe pains across my shoulders and back. At times I got so dizzy that I almost fell over, and specks came before my eyes. Constipation troubled me. I could not get proper sleep at night, and was troubled this way for a long time. Catarrh bothered me. Upon arising in the morning, I would be all choked up and would cough up a great deal of mucus. I was very easily irritated, and there were terrible pains across my forehead. My eyes were puffed up when I arose in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I was troubled with waterbrash—that certainly was a bad feeling. My muscles and joints would get sore and stiff at times. Awful headaches came on me, and my nerves were in very bad condition.

"A friend recommended Ten Herbs to me. I have been taking your medicine regularly and it certainly has done me a world of good. Those severe pains have left my shoulders and back. I am free of dizzy spells. My vision is clear, as I do not have any more specks before my eyes. I sleep soundly all night long and am not choked up in the morning when I arise. I have no more headaches across my forehead. My appetite is good, and I am not troubled with waterbrash any more. The soreness has left my muscles and joints, and I feel more like working. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to others."

Ten Herbs not only benefits the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, but seems to have a cleansing, soothing, correction action on the whole system.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

House Robbed Owner Absent

Two Pairs Of Slippers Reported Missing When Police Investigate Theft

When members of the household of Miss Mary Plant, 213 North Shenango street returned home about 11:50 p. m. Saturday night after being away for the evening they found that some one had gained an entrance into the place.

The police were notified and Officers Criswell and Emery answered the call. They found that some one had broken the glass from the side cellar door and reaching in had unlocked the door.

Money in the house was apparently overlooked but the thief did take two pairs of women's slippers, that being all that was found missing.

School Board Elects Tonight

Following the provisions of the School Code, a special meeting of the New Castle School Board will be held this evening in the Administration Building on East street, for the purpose of organization.

A president of the board will be elected, a vice president, a superintendent of buildings and grounds, and a solicitor. The indications are that there will be no change from the present officers.

It is also probable that a date will be set tonight for the dedication of the new George Washington Junior High School.

Classes Moved From Old Main

Historic Structure At Penn State Is Abandoned; Will Be Rebuilt

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 3.—For the first time in the history of Pennsylvania State College, students no longer have classes in Old Main. Returning from Thanksgiving vacation today, students found Old Main completely abandoned for class room use. For the past month the college officers have been moving classes to other buildings so that the condemned structure can be vacated.

The building is about 257 feet long and five stories high. It is the outstanding landmark of the Nittany Valley, towering high above all other college buildings. The expense of rebuilding has been estimated at $500,000, which is to be borne by contributions of Alumni and by the state building appropriation. Rebuilding plans are being prepared.

Sloan Believes That Stock Exchange Has Been Overdiscounted

Alfred P. Sloan Jr. Shows Big Earning Power Behind General Motors

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1928, International News Service.

(Article Number Three)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, is of the opinion that the New York Stock Market which has been cutting spectacular didoes for many weeks "has overdiscounted its earning power for some time to come," he said today in an exclusive interview with the writer. He made it clear, however, that he does not class himself as an authority on the market and that he was expressing his opinion merely as an individual.

"There is one fundamental way to create wealth. That is through work," said Mr. Sloan when pressed for his views on the orgy of speculation in Wall Street in which the American public is playing such a heavy part.

Earning Power Ruined.

He was referring to the huge profits that are reported to have been made by many persons on the upward swing of the market.

Sloan whose time and energy has been concentrated in directing the affairs of a corporation which this year will do a gross business of between $1,500,000,000 and $1,750,000,000 and show the largest profits for a single year ever made by any industrial corporation in peacetime, gave as his viewpoint that the market has overdiscounted its earning power for some time to come.

"The large profits, relatively or otherwise, made through the stock market has a tendency to discount work which, after all, makes these things possible. In the last analysis the stock market simply capitalizes and establishes a value on the constructive efforts of industry."

General Motors Good Stock.

Sloan's statement that "work is the fundamental way to create wealth," is illustrated by the rapid rise of General Motors Corporation to its present outstanding position in the industrial world. Many men who a few years ago held small blocks of stock in this company are wealthy today. It is the biggest profit-making organization in existence.

Today General Motors stock is selling on the New York Stock Exchange at around $215 a share. There are 17,400,000 shares of common stock outstanding. At $215 a share this stock is worth today the staggering sum of $3,726,000,000. Contrast this with the situation only four years ago: in 1924 the stock of General Motors was selling at $70 a share and there were 5,800,000 shares of common outstanding which would make the total value at that time $406,000,000.

The profits made by stockholders can be illustrated in another way: in 1924 there were 5,800,000 shares outstanding. Without asking for a penny from stockholders and without selling a single share of common stock, the big corporation split up its stock so that every person who held 100 shares now holds 300.

That was made possible by the piling up of surplus, due to the huge profits made over and above the cash dividends paid to the stockholders. This was the result of the enormous increase in earnings and the leadership of General Motors in the field of automobile production and world wide distribution.

Any individual who in 1924 bought 100 shares of General Motors at $70 a share paid, of course, $7,000. Today he has 300 shares worth $215 a share, or $64,500. In the meantime he has received in actual cash dividends about half his original investment!

Stop Work On Frame Garage

It was reported to the police this morning by the city engineering company that there was a man erecting a frame garage at Taylor and Mill streets, and that he was doing so without a permit and also within the fire limits, where new frame structures are prohibited. He refused to stop when ordered to do so by the representative of the engineering department. Officer U. G. Harper was detailed and ordered the work stopped. The proprietor of the property stopped when ordered to do so by the police.

Three Companies Answer Fire Alarm

Cigarette Causes Small Blaze At Runkle Electric Company Saturday

Three fire companies, and the aerial and Pirsch service trucks from the Central fire department responded to an alarm Saturday evening, at 10:35, when they found that someone had thrown a cigarette through the sidewalk grating of the Runkle Electric Company at 26 North Mill street, causing the rooms above the store to be filled with smoke. No damage was done.

A small garden hose was sufficient to extinguish the small blaze. At 11 o'clock, all of the companies were back in service. Responding to the alarm were No. 1, No. 2, No. 6 and truck A and B.

Women's Federated Clubs

The short session of the 70th congress opens today, Monday, December 3, at noon.

More projects than this session can hope to complete by March 4 await the fall of the gavel.

The general feeling that a special session of the new congress is inevitable, may invite postponement of a number of projects.

The women of the nation are looking to an early signing of the Kellogg treaty renouncing war.

The end of this short session will bring many changes in the make-up of national life, not the least of which is the departure from the White House of President Coolidge and the ascendancy of Herbert Hoover.

Primarily this short session must deal with providing the necessary funds for government. A budget well above $4,000,000,000 awaits action.

Reapportionment of the house membership probably will be accomplished this session. House membership at this time is 435. The house will have six new members and before March 4 comes another woman, Mrs. William A. Oldfield of Arkansas, successor to her husband, the late Democratic whip. Mrs. Oldfield will be elected at a special election in her state without opposition. Thirty days being required to elapes between election and actual service, she will take her seat in January. Mrs. Oldfield states she has no political ambitions and will serve only two months, until this congress becomes history March 4.

Four new senators will take office, among these Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio returns to scenes of earlier triumphs. He will be sworn in December 15.

Let us remember that these new members of both house and senate are filling unexpired terms.

President Coolidge's message will be read to the senate and house in joint session Tuesday. It is hoped that present plans will be changed and that President Coolidge will appear in person and read his last message to congress.

BELLA A. TAYLOR,

Elk Boy Scout Troop Have Meeting

Scouts Make Tour Of Telephone Exchange; Troop To Get New Uniforms

The Elks Boy Scout troop No. 5 on Friday evening, November 29, in the Elks home on North Mill street held its regular meeting. The meeting was held on Friday, instead of Thursday on account of Thanksgiving on Thursday. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Davis, who was assisted by Walter Kerr, assistant scoutmaster. Walter DeArment, chairman of the troop committee, was present.

Walter Kerr had charge of the opening exercises and was assisted by Senior Patrol Leader Alfred Howard. The Lords Prayer was led by Hugh Irwin. Walter DeArment received the good turns. He talked to the boys about their good turns and announced that the troop would go through the Rieck-McJunkin milk plant next week; that the Elks club would purchase all official scout uniforms for the troop, and reminded them about the Elks memorial service to be held at the home December 3. Scoutmaster Davis instructed the boys in first aid.

The White Eagle patrol is now leading the Lions patrol. Many new projects were brought in. The first demonstration in first aid was rescuing a person from an electric wire and how to apply artificial respiration. The second demonstration was a person injured in an automobile accident who had been cut on the lower left arm, a fractured right leg above the knee and a scalp wound.

The meeting was brought to a close with the usual ceremonies. After the meeting the boys went through the Bell Telephone company.

Scribe—Alfred Howard.

Y. W. Bible Class Tuesday Evening

The Y. W. Bible class will meet Tuesday evening at 7:45 in the Y. W. building. Mrs. W. E. McClure is teacher. The book of Exodus is being studied. Last Tuesday evening thirty-six were present, this was not near as many as usually attends this class. All are welcome.

DRIVER GOES TO SLEEP; AUTO TAKES SHORT CUT

CIRCLEVILLE, December 3.—H. H. Woodward of Cincinnati representing the Squibbs Pharmaceutical Drug Co. of New York dozed off to sleep en route to this city from Washington, C. H. last evening while driving his car.

When he awakened the car had left the road, going through three farm fences and jumping two ditches.

The driver thought he heard some noise he said. He escaped injury. The radiator of his car was smashed.

"How much is he worth?" people ask. But a more intelligent question would be: "How much is he worth—without his money?"

Court Order Is Issued With Regard To Property Today; Other Orders

Continuance of the sale of the late Walter Crowl of Hickory township, was made by court this morning, upon the representation of M. Belle Crowl, that no bidders had been secured when property was recently offered.

Motion for the awarding of an issue was made in the case of H. Kulkin and Son against Ben and Nick Crangi, it being claimed that defendants had a defense to the judgment.

Motion for judgment for want of an affidavit of defense was made in the case of the Rubin Shoe company against Samuel Levine.

RABBI MENKES PAYS TRIBUTE

He said the aeroplane without the touch of life from the human is inorganic and said that life can only be grasped by spiritual natures.

He talked of the purpose of life and in various ways carried his audience along life's trail, said life was generous and described how parents planned for their children's future. He said that life shouldn't be feared—but that it should be faced with courage and to take it as it is, instead of as one would like it.

He pointed to the late Theodore Roosevelt, and said Roosevelt faced difficulties but overcame them and found life "bully" and felt joyful in meeting the difficulties.

A description how once the Isle of Nightingales was a barren spot and how it had become a beaty spot thru the efforts of a man who wasn't afraid to try to meet difficulties, was given.

Rabbi Menkes likened some who are now Elks as having felt barren before they joined the Elks but said that having been inculcated with the principles of Elkdom, their hearts now are filled with fidelity and added that the Elks make life worth while.

Program of Afternoon.

During the service, musical selections and vocal numbers were rendered.

Officials are paid only once a month.

To Create Endowment Fund For Care Of Westfield Cemetery

An every family canvass is now being made by the congregation of Westfield Presbyterian church for the purpose of creating an endowment fund for the care and upkeep of the cemetery located near the church.

It is the purpose of the congregation to raise a fund of $6000, $2000 of that amount having been subscribed.

The Westfield cemetery is one of the oldest cemeteries in Lawrence County. The first one to be buried here was Francis Nesbit in 1802. Among the many graves are a number of Revolutionary and civil war veterans.

The cemetery is incorporated. The board of trustees of the church have arranged with the Union Trust Co. of this city to handle this fund. Only the interest on the principal will be used by the trustees in keeping up the cemetery.

A great deal of work has been done in the cemetery by the congregation during the last year. The lots have been leveled and resoded and the monuments straightened.

Find Much Liquor; Owner Is Arrested

Armed with a search warrant, Lieutenant Hillers, officers Thomas and McMullen and Constable John Miller, last night visited and searched the home of George Deep, 404 Waldo street.

Three gallon containers ful of liquor were found in the cellar, while a forth with a small quantity in, also a pint bottle full and some whiskey glasses were found elsewhere in the house.

Deep was this morning taken before Alderman David Roberts, where Chief of Police C. C. Horner made an information charging Deep with violation of the Snyder act. He waived a hearing and was held for court on a charge of violating the Snyder act. He gave bail in the sum of $1,500 for his appearance at court for sentence.

Local Business Man To Speak At Kiwanis

Harry S. Bailey of this city, district manager of Remington-Rand Business Service, Inc., in New Castle, will speak on the subject "Record Evolution and Record Protection" at the regular weekly meeting of the New Castle Kiwanis club on Wednesday. Mr. Bailey has addressed a number of local organizations on this subject which indeed is most interesting.

Members of Kiwanis are looking forward to the meeting of December 12 when the question as to who the next officers of the club are to be will be settled. Reports of various committees will also be given at that annual meeting.

FALSE ALARM.

Fire companies No. 5 and No. 4 answered an alarm from box 49 at 12:30 Sunday morning, December 2, but when they arrived in the vicinity of the box, they could not find the person who sent in the alarm, nor could they find a fire, says the report made by Assistant Fire Chief H. C. Stockman.

Nearly 6,000,000 Gallons Of Milk; County Production

Half Million Bushels Of Corn Produced In County In Year

Nearly 17,000 Passenger Autos Now In Use In County

There are 530 farms that have running water in the homes and 210 are equipped with modern lavatories in Lawrence county.

Nearly six million gallons of milk were produced on farms throughout the county; the value of livestock is worth more than the value of all crops; hay crops despite the fall of the horse still rank first in acreage, while there are nearly as many dairy cattle as there are all other kinds of livestock combined.

These are some of the figures and estimates which are furnished by the government observers for Lawrence county. The estimates furnished are those for the year 1927. Figures for the present year have not been compiled as yet.

Other production and maintenance figures follow:

Corn—12,990 acres; production, 428,670 bu.

Wheat—5,390 acres; production 63,600 bu.

Rye—260 acres; production 3,170 bu.

Pears—production, 1,170 bu.

Horses and mules—4,860.

Milk cows and heifers two years and older—11,900.

Average value for 1927, $73; 1928, $103.

All other cattle, 16,810.

Heavy Milk Production.

Milk production, 5,867,600 gallons.

Butter production, 498,700 lbs.

Swine estimate, 8,070.

Sheep estimate, 8,150.

Chickens, 189,800.

Hives of bees, 1,460; production, 24,200 lbs.

Value of crops, $2,133,670.

Value of livestock, $2,283,970.

Fertilizer used, 4,100 tons; cost, $108,860.

Lime used, 6,940 tons; cost, $44,420.

Motor vehicle, passenger, 16,390.

Motor, commercial, 2,615.

Tractors, 350; gas engines, 570; electric, 430.

DIVORCED, EACH TAKES NEW MATE SAME DAY

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 3.—Frank P. O'Hare and his divorced wife, Mrs. Kate Richard O'Hare, Socialist leader, have both been remarried, it became known today.

O'Hare married Miss Irene M. Reynolds here and Mrs. O'Hare was married to Charles G. Cunningham, former San Francisco engineer, at San Jose, Cal. Mrs. O'Hare obtained a divorce in Arkansas last June.

When informed that his divorced wife had married the same day he had, O'Hare said: "I'm mighty glad to hear that. The former Mrs. O'Hare was a wonderful woman, and I was afraid she would be lonely. I hope she has found a mate who will make her happy."

O'Hare said his former wife had been "emotionally unhappy" since her release from the Missouri state penitentiary in 1920, after serving 14 months of a five-year sentence, under a wartime espionage act, growing out of a radical speech after the United States entered the war.

Any furnace that will burn coal efficiently will burn coke!

IF you are now heating with coal, switch to Youngstown domestic coke and find out for yourself how much better it really is.

You can burn this concentrated fuel in any furnace that will burn coal efficiently. It is coal in its most efficient form. It is easy to burn and requires less attention than coal. It is absolutely smokeless and much cleaner than the expensive coals sold as "smokeless". Once you have used it and "got the knack" of burning it you will never go back to coal. If you have never used coke before your dealer will gladly send out a coke service man to show you how to burn it properly and get the utmost in heating service out your furnace.

ORDINANCE No. 4152
Introduced by Mr. Davies, May 2, 1927.
Reported Dec. 12, 1927.
COUNCIL BILL No. 216.

AN ORDINANCE

Establishing fire limits in the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, and regulations governing the construction, equipment, alteration, repair or removal of buildings or structures; and providing for the enforcement of such regulations, and penalties for the violation thereof.

ENACTMENT

Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, That from and after the approval of this Ordinance, no building, structure, or part thereof, shall be built or constructed, except in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance; and no building already erected or hereafter to be built shall be raised, altered, moved or built upon in any manner that would be in violation of the provisions of this ordinance or the approval issued thereunder.

SHORT TITLE

This ordinance shall hereafter be known and cited as the "Building Code."

SCOPE

All matters concerning, affecting or relating to the construction, equipment, alteration, repair or removal of buildings or structures erected or to be erected in the City of New Castle, are presumptively provided for in this Ordinance, except insofar as the meaning of the same may be interpreted by the rulings and findings of the Building Inspector or the Board of Appeals. (See Section 1.27)

INTERPRETATION

This ordinance is enacted to provide adequate and safe building construction,—including the proper planning, design, quality, use and erection of building materials, systems, units and forms of construction—to prevent loss of life and damage to property from unsafe and improper design and construction—and shall be so construed.

CONFLICTING ORDINANCES

All ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed so far as the same affects this ordinance.

VALIDITY

Should any section or provision of this ordinance be declared by the courts to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the ordinance as a whole or any part thereof other than the part so declared to be invalid.

CHAPTER I—ADMINISTRATION
SECTION 1.1—GENERAL PROVISIONS

1.11—Permit Required

No excavation for foundation nor the erection, construction or structural alteration of any building or structure, or parts of same, and no installation or alteration of the plumbing, drainage, piping, or wiring of any building, structure, or premises shall be undertaken until a permit therefor shall have been issued by the Building Inspector.

Before commencing or proceeding with the wrecking, shoring, raising, or moving of any building or similar structure, a permit therefor shall first be obtained from the Building Inspector.

1.12—Permit Not Required

No permit will be required for:

(a) Ordinary repairs to buildings or structures, wherein there is no structural alteration as herein defined. Such repairs shall not be construed to include the cutting away of any wall or any portion thereof, the removal or cutting of any beams or supports, or the removal, change or closing of any stairway or required means of exit, or the alteration of any house sewer, private sewer or drainage system, or the installation of any soil or waste pipe, provided that all provisions of the Plumbing Code must be complied with as heretofore.

(b) The repair of leaks in plumbing or drainage system.

(c) The installation of wires to operate electric bells, gas lighting apparatus, call bells, burglar alarms, telephones, telegraph, district messenger, fire alarm, or similar installation.

1.13—Application for Permit

Application for permit shall be made to the Building Inspector. Such application shall be made by the owner or lessee, or agent of either, or by the architect, engineer or builder employed by such owner or lessee in connection with the proposed work. Such application shall be made in duplicate, on appropriate blanks, to be furnished by the Building Inspector, and shall be accompanied by such plans, structural details, drawings, specifications, and computations as the Building Inspector may require; and the plan in duplicate, drawn to scale, showing the actual dimensions of each lot to be built upon, the size and location of each building or structure to be erected upon each lot and all existing structures that are to remain.

The application shall contain a statement giving, among other things, the full name, residence and business address (by giving street and number whenever possible) of the owner of the building and of the owner of the premises upon which the building or structure is to be erected, altered, or removed, or in which the installation or alteration of plumbing, drainage, piping, or wiring is to be made. The application shall describe the location of the building, structure, or premises, give the name and address of the responsible party or parties to whom notice shall be sent for any violation of this Code, which may occur during construction or alteration, and the name and address of the architect, or other representative duly authorized to perform or have performed the said work.

1.14—Amendments to Applications

Amendments to applications, plans, detailed drawings and specifications may be made and the City Engineer shall approve same, provided the application, plans, detailed drawings and specifications, when so amended, shall be in conformity with the provisions of this Code and the requirements of the City Engineer.

1.15—Fees

All fees for permits shall be paid at the time of filing the application and shall be deposited with the City Treasurer by the issuing officer. Such fees shall be as follows:

(a) For a new structure costing less than $500.00, no fee.

(b) For buildings costing more than $500.00 and less than $10,000.00, a fee of $1.00 for each $1,000.00 of cost or fraction thereof.

(c) For buildings and structures costing more than $10,000.00 and less than $100,000.00, a fee of $10.00, plus 50c per thousand for every $1,000.00 of cost in excess of $10,000.00.

(d) For buildings or structures costing more than $100,000.00, a fee of $55.00, plus an additional fee of 25c per thousand for every $1,000.00 of cost in excess of $100,000.00.

(e) For moving buildings or other structures to new locations $2.00, plus an additional fee of $2.00 for each day that any street or alley is to be obstructed or occupied by such structure or by the equipment used in connection with the moving thereof.

(f) For the erection of billboards and signs, 50c for every twenty-five (25) lineal feet or fraction thereof.

(g) For the demolition or wrecking of any structure, no fee shall be charged for the permit unless the work consumes longer than one week, in which case a fee of $2.00 for each week in excess of the first week shall be charged.

1.16—Issuance of Permits

It shall be the duty of the Building Inspector to approve or reject any application filed with him, in accordance with the provisions of this Code, within a reasonable time.

The Building Inspector may, at his discretion, issue a permit for the construction of a part of a building or structure before the approval of application and plans for the complete structure.

1.17—Revocation of Permit

Each and every permit shall be subject to revocation by the Building Inspector, whenever it appears that the work for which the permit has been issued is being installed, erected, constructed, altered, removed, repaired or added to, so as to violate any of the provisions of this code, or in a manner not in accordance with the application for the permit or with the permit itself, or, for failure and refusal to comply with any order made by the Building Inspector under the provisions of this Code. The revocation of the permit in every instance shall be in writing and shall be served upon the owner or lessee or his duly authorized agent or the person or persons having charge of the work; and in case the said owner or lessee, agent or person in charge of the work cannot be found, notice of said revocation shall be posted upon the premises. From and after such notice has been served or posted, all labor shall be discontinued on any and all portions of such building or structure for which said permit was granted.

If after the issuance of a permit, the operations authorized thereunder are not commenced within six months after date of permit, or if after the commencement of operations the work is discontinued for a period of twelve months, such permit shall be void and work may not again be commenced until a new permit shall have been issued as for the original work.

1.18—Certificate of Occupancy

A certificate of occupancy either for the whole or a part of a new structure, or in connection with the alteration of an existing structure, shall be applied for coincident with the application for a building permit, as required by the Zoning ordinance of the City.

No building, structure or part thereof shall be occupied or used for any purpose, or in any manner, other than that prescribed in said certificate of occupancy.

1.19—Change of Occupancy

No change in the manner of occupancy shall be made in any story of any building or structure, or portion thereof, tending to increase the floor loads or the number of persons to be accommodated therein, until there shall have been issued by the Building Inspector a Certificate of Occupancy covering such new use or manner of occupancy; nor shall the purpose for which any building or structure or portion thereof is used be changed, except in conformity with the requirements of this Code and the Zoning Ordinance, as to exits and floor loads.

The Building Inspector shall cause any building or story therein to be vacated whose occupancy has been changed, or floor loads increased in violation of this Code, and it shall not be occupied until made to conform with the requirements of this Code.

SECTION 1.2—ENFORCEMENT

1.21—Powers and Duties of Administrative Officer

The City Council shall, from time to time, appoint a building inspector and shall fix the compensation for his services and the length of his term of office. Such Building Inspector shall serve in the Department of Engineering under the general supervision of the City Engineer.

The Building Inspector shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to enforce the provisions of this Code; to approve or disapprove, within a reasonable time, applications, plans, detailed drawings, and amendments thereto; issue permits and notices; to make rules and specifications with the approval of Council, to assist in the proper application of this Code, or to provide for necessary regulations covering details in special cases; to pass upon questions relative to the mode, manner of construction, or materials to be used in the erection or alteration of buildings or structures; to require that such mode, manner of construction or materials shall conform to the true intent and meaning of the several provisions of this Code, and to authorize the City Solicitor to institute any and all actions that may seem proper or necessary for the enforcement of its provisions.

Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships in complying strictly with the provisions of this Code, the Building Inspector, in specific cases and upon application to him therefor in writing by the owner or lessee of the building or structure, or by the duly authorized agent of either, may adjust any such conditions in harmony with the general purpose and intent of this ordinance, so that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done. Upon receipt of such application, setting forth the grounds for the desired variation, the Building Inspector shall fix a date, within a reasonable time, for a hearing and shall give to the persons as practicable render his decision, which decision shall be final, except for appeal to the Board of Appeals as provided in Section 1.27. The particulars of each such application and the decision thereon shall be entered on the records of the Building Inspector, and if the application is granted, a certificate therefor, together with a statement of the reasons for such decision, shall be issued by the Building Inspector. A record of all such modifications shall be kept by him properly indexed under section numbers of this Code, and such record shall be open for public inspection.

Any variations from the provisions of this Code, which may be made by the Building Inspector as herein authorized, or such rules and regulations as he may draft in accordance with the authority above granted, shall in no manner serve to essentially lower the standards of construction which this Code prescribes.

Copies of all documents hereinafter referred to in this Code, for reference in connection with standards of building construction and materials, shall be kept on file in the office of the Building Inspector for public inspection.

Neither the Building Inspector, the City Engineer, nor any person appointed, hired, or employed by him, when acting in good faith, and without malice, shall be liable for damages by reason of anything done under the provisions of this Code.

1.22—Appointment of Assistant Inspector

In any emergency, the City Engineer, with the approval of City Council, shall have the power to appoint an assistant inspector, and such other inspectors or assistants as may in his judgment be necessary to enforce the rules of this Code. The compensation of such assistants shall from time to time be fixed by Council. Said appointed inspector or other assistants are not to be kept in the employ of the City Engineer after emergency has ceased.

The City Engineer shall have the power to dismiss any assistants appointed by him, or by any predecessor in office, from the service at any time.

1.23—Relations Between Administrative Officer and Public

The owner, lessee or his duly authorized agent or the person or persons in charge of the work shall provide for the Building Inspector, the City Engineer or for any person appointed, hired or employed by him the right of entry and for the proper inspection facilities.

1.24—Approval of Materials and Construction

No new materials or appliances or methods of construction shall be employed in any building until they have met the test requirements of the Building Inspector and have been approved by him.

1.25—Dangerous Structures

Whenever the Building Inspector shall have knowledge that any building or structure, or part thereof, erected or in the process of erection in the City of New Castle, is in such a condition as to be dangerous to the health or lives of the occupants thereof or to the general public or to persons passing near or living in the vicinity, or is unsafe for the use for which the building or structure is intended, or is in such a condition as to endanger the security of property within the vicinity, he shall have the authority and it shall be his duty to notify in writing the owner, agent, or person having charge or control of the building or in lieu thereof, the person in possession, requiring such changes or removal to be made as may be deemed by him to be necessary to correct the condition which he describes. He shall state a time within which such conditions shall be corrected. If an emergency shall demand it, the Building Inspector may require that the occupancy of said premises to be discontinued until such time as such changes or removal shall be made as are deemed by him to be necessary. Whenever the Building Inspector shall be unable to find the owner of such a building, structure, or part thereof, or any agent or person in charge or in control thereof, or any person in possession of the premises upon whom such notice may be served, he shall cause to be placed, the notice herein provided for, upon such building at or near its principal entrance, and he shall also post or cause to be posted in a conspicuous place at each entrance to such building in large letters a notice that the building is in a dangerous condition and has been condemned by him. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or corporation to remove said notice or notices without the written permission of the Building Inspector.

If at the expiration of the time specified in such notice for the completion of the work required to be done to render the building or structure or part thereof safe or to remove same, said notice shall not have been complied with, it shall be the duty of the Building Inspector to proceed to place such building in a safe condition or to resort to such emergency measures as he may deem necessary and the expense incurred by him thereby shall be charged to the person or persons owning the same. Upon the completion of said changes, or removal, he shall render a statement of account to the person or persons owning the property by sending said statement either to such persons or to any agent or person having charge or control thereof, or in lieu thereof, to the person in possession, and if payment therefor is not made within ten (10) days from the date that the notice is sent, he shall charge the same against the property upon which the change or removal has been made and certify such charge to the City Solicitor for collection.

Whenever any building or structure or part thereof is being wrecked or torn down, or is being constructed, erected, altered, or repaired in a reckless, careless, or unworkmanlike manner, or in violation of any part of this Code or any other ordinance in force relating to the same subject matter, or in such a manner as to endanger life or property, the Building Inspector may order such work of wrecking, tearing down, construction, reconstruction, alteration, or repair to be immediately discontinued and it shall not be resumed until the Building Inspector shall be satisfied that adequate measures will be taken for the protection of life and property, and that the work will be prosecuted carefully, in a workmanlike manner, and in conformity with this Code, and that such alterations shall be made as he shall deem necessary.

1.26—Violation and Penalties

Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall for each violation upon conviction thereof, pay a penalty of not less than ten ($10) or more than Three Hundred Dollars ($300), with costs recoverable before the Mayor or any Alderman of the City, and upon default of payment of the penalty and costs, the person or persons convicted may be committed to the City or County Prison not exceeding ninety (90) days. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

1.27 Board of Appeals

Whenever the Building Inspector shall reject or refuse to approve the mode or manner of construction proposed to be followed, or materials to be used in the erection or alteration of any building or structure, or when it is claimed that the rules and specifications of the Building Inspector or the provisions of this Code do not apply, or that an equally good or more desirable form of construction can be employed in any specific case, the owner or lessee, agent or person in charge of the work, or his duly authorized agent, may appeal from the decision of the Building Inspector.

Such appeal shall be heard by a Board of Appeals, consisting of the City Council and the Chief of the Fire Department. At least four (4) affirmative votes shall be necessary to the granting of any petition by said Board. No member of said Board of Appeals shall pass upon any question in which he is personally interested.

The appeal authorized by this section may be taken by the party aggrieved within ten (10) days from the entry of a decision upon the records of the Building Inspector, by filing with the City Clerk, an application containing the decision of the Building Inspector, the grounds upon which such appeal is taken, and the argument in support of the request of a reversal of the decision of the Building Inspector. The necessary blanks shall be furnished by the City Clerk.

The Board of Appeals shall thereafter fix a day, within a reasonable time, for the hearing of such appeal and upon such a hearing the appellant may be represented either in person or by his agent or attorney. The decision of the Board of Appeals, upon such appeal, shall be rendered without unnecessary delay.

CHAPTER II—DEFINITIONS

For the purpose of this ordinance, certain terms and words are herein defined. Words used in the present tense include the future; the singular number includes the plural and the plural the singular; the words "used for" include the meaning "designed for"; the word "structure" includes the word "building". Such definitions shall not be held to modify or affect, in any way, the legal interpretation of such terms or words where used in other ordinances.

Billboard.—See Signboard.

Curb Level.—The elevation of the top of the curb, or the established curb grade, opposite the center of the building or portion thereof under consideration. Where no curb level has been established, the elevation of the ground at the center of the traveled portion of the street in front thereof shall be considered the equivalent of the curb level, and where the building does not adjoin the street the average elevation of the proposed grade line of the ground immediately adjacent to the building as shown on the building plans shall be considered as the curb level.

Fireproof or Fire-Resistive.—As used in this Code refers to materials not combustible in the temperatures of ordinary fires, and to constructions which will withstand such fires without serious impairment of their usefulness for at least one hour under the Standard Time Temperature Test Specifications of the American Engineering Standards Committee as filed in the office of the Building Inspector.

Height of Building.—The vertical distance measured from the curb level to the highest point of the roof adjacent to the street wall for flat roofs; to the deck line of mansard roofs; and to the mean height between the eaves and ridge of gabled, hipped and gambrel roofs.

Horizontal Exit.—The term horizontal exit shall be understood to mean one or more openings through or around a fire wall, fire exit partition, or any wall separating two buildings; or such an exit may be an exterior bridge or balcony connecting two buildings or two floor areas of the same building, as required under Section 4.31.

Incombustible.—See Fireproof.

Signboard.—Any structure or part thereof on which lettered or pictorial matter is displayed for advertising or notice purposes.

Story.—That portion of a building included between the surface of any floor and the surface of the next floor above it, or if there be no floor above it, then the space between such floor and the ceiling next above it.

Story, Half.—A story under a gabled, hipped or gambrel roof, the wall plates of which, on at least two (2) opposite exterior walls, are not more than two (2) feet above the finished floor of such story.

Structure.—Anything constructed or erected, the use of which demands its permanent location on the land; or anything attached to something having a permanent location on the land.

Structural Alteration.—Any change in the supporting members of a building or structure such as bearing walls, partitions, columns, beams or girders.

Walls.—

Curtain Wall.—An exterior non-bearing wall between columns or piers which is not supported by beams or girders at each story.

Fire Wall.—A wall built or adapted to prevent or limit the spread of fire.

Panel or Enclosure Wall.—An exterior non-bearing wall in a skeleton structure, built between columns and piers and supported at each story.

CHAPTER III.—CLASSIFICATIONS
SECTION 3.1—CLASSIFICATION OF BUILDINGS BY OCCUPANCY

All buildings shall be classified according to their occupancy or use under one of the following groups and shall conform to the requirements herein set forth:

Group I.—Public Buildings

Public buildings shall be construed to include all buildings or structures accessible to the public, and in which people may congregate for civil, political, educational, religious or amusement purposes; or in which they may be voluntarily or forcibly detained or housed for safety, punishment, observation or care.

Class A.—Armories, Asylums, City Halls, Court Houses, Detention Buildings, Police Stations, Libraries, Museums, Nurseries, Hospitals exceeding two (2) stories in height and Theaters exceeding a capacity of five hundred (500) persons or over one (1) story.

Buildings of this class shall be of fire-resistive construction. Where armories, museums and similar buildings have large, exposed, arched or trussed roof construction, the fire-proofing of the structural members may be omitted, if, in opinion of the Building Inspector, the construction of the remainder of the building would reasonably warrant such omission.

Class B.—Amusement Halls, Banks, Churches, Colleges, Lodge Rooms, Exhibition Halls, Public Halls, Railroad Passenger Stations, Schools, Hospitals not exceeding a height of two (2) stories, and Theaters not exceeding a capacity of five hundred (500) persons nor over one (1) story in height.

Buildings of this Class, if not exceeding three stories or forty-five feet in height, may be of Ordinary or Mill Construction; except those used for educational purposes, which shall be of fire-resistive construction throughout, if over two stories in height.

Buildings of this Class, over three stories in height shall be of fire-resistive construction throughout, except that church spires may be constructed of wood to a height not exceeding seventy-five feet.

In all non-fire-resistive buildings (except Mill Construction) over one story in height, which are used for Class B occupancies, and in all hospitals and theaters, the roof construction, the ceiling and partitions enclosing corridors, and all ceilings and partitions separating Class B occupancies from commercial occupancies, shall be completely covered with metal lath and plaster, or other protection which will provide a resistance of one hour to the passage of fire.

Buildings of this Class occupied by not more than two families may be built of frame construction not more than 2½ stories or 35 feet in height. Private garages, accommodating not more than three (3) cars, may be built under a portion of a dwelling or adjacent to and abutting on a dwelling if the enclosing walls and the ceiling are constructed of fire-resistive material or are covered with metal lath and plaster or other protection which will provide a resistance of one hour to the passage of fire.

All buildings of this Class over one story in height, except single and two family dwellings, shall have the basement ceiling, all ceilings and partitions enclosing corridors, all partitions separating spaces used by different tenants, all ceiling and partitions separating Class D occupancies from commercial occupancies, and in frame buildings all enclosures of stairways, shall be completely covered with metal lath and plastered. All non-fire-resistive buildings of this Class over three stories or 45 feet in height, shall have the under side of every floor so covered.

Group III.—Business or Commercial Buildings

Business or commercial buildings shall be construed to include all structures used for the transaction of business, the operation of machinery, manufacturing or storage purposes, the housing of live stock, or for any other industrial or commercial purposes.

Buildings of this Class, if not exceeding three stories or 45 feet in height, may be of ordinary construction, or frame construction throughout, except as otherwise provided herein.

Buildings of this class, four stories in height, may be of Ordinary Construction provided that all ceilings and partitions are completely covered with metal lath and plaster or any other protection providing a resistance of one hour to fire passage.

Buildings of this Class, over four stories or 60 feet in height, shall be of fire-resistive construction throughout except that such buildings of Mill Construction buildings of this Class, eight of six stories or 80 feet if equipped throughout with automatic sprinkler systems.

In all non-fire-resistive buildings (except Mill Construction) over one story in height if within the fire district, or over two and one-half stories or 35 feet in height, if outside of fire district, used for Class E occupancies, the basement ceiling and all ceilings and partitions enclosing corridors, shall be completely covered with metal lath and plaster, or other protection, which will provide a resistance of one hour to the passage of fire.

Class F.—Car Barns, Foundries, Light and Power Plants, Railroad Freight Stations, Ice Houses, and Special Industrial Buildings, used for a special purpose or industry and not otherwise classified, such as Coffee Roasters, Cooperage Shops, Dry Cleaning Establishments, Grain Elevators, Ice-Making Plants, Laboratories, Malt Houses, Oil Houses, Oil Refineries, Refrigerating Plants, Rendering Plants, Soap Factories, Sugar Refineries, Smoke Houses, Slaughter Houses, Wharf Buildings; also Garages accommodating more than three cars.

Buildings of this Class such as oil houses, varnish works, etc., and buildings or portions of buildings which are used for the storage or handling of large quantities of combustible packing or refuse material, shall be only of fire-resistive construction. All other buildings of Class F shall be of fire-resistive or mill construction if within the fire district or if they exceed 60 feet in height, except as provided under Section 4.1.

Where there is any doubt under which of the Classifications of this Section a building should be included or in the case of a building used for two or more purposes, the Building Inspector shall designate under which class or classes it shall be placed and his decision shall be final except for appeal to the Board of Appeals as provided in Section 1.27.

SECTION 3.2—CLASSIFICATION OF BUILDINGS BY TYPE OF CONSTRUCTION

For the purpose of this Code, buildings shall be classified according to the method of construction, as follows:

Class I.—Fire-proof or Fire-resistive Construction

Class II.—Non-Fireproof Construction

(a) Ordinary Construction.—This includes buildings or structures with walls of approved masonry or reinforced concrete, and floors and partitions of wooden joist and stud construction. The supporting posts and girders may be of wood, or of metal properly protected to resist fire.

(b) Mill Construction.—This includes buildings or structures with walls of approved masonry or reinforced concrete and of heavy timber interior construction.

Class III. Frame Construction

This includes buildings or structures of which the exterior walls or any parts thereof are of wood, or which otherwise do not conform to the requirements for fire-proof or non-fireproof construction of buildings.

CHAPTER IV.—GENERAL BUILDING RESTRICTIONS
SECTION 4.1—RESTRICTIONS AS TO LOCATION

The extra hazardous district shall be all those portions of the City of New Castle heretofore fixed and designated as the fire limits in an ordinance No. 3760, passed June 9th, 1924 and recorded in Ordinance Book 13, page 370, and entitled: "An Ordinance Amending Section one (1) of An Ordinance prescribing the limits and places in or within which buildings shall not be constructed, reconstructed, enlarge, or have additions made thereto, or into or within which the same shall not be removed except the same be of brick, stone, iron, glass, or other incombustible materials, with slate, tin, or other fire proof roof, providing for the restraining of any such constructions, reconstructions, enlargements or additions, and prescribing the manner of enforcing this ordinance, approved May 24, 1904, so as to enlarge and establish the fire limits in the said City."

All buildings hereafter erected or enlarged within the fire district shall have their outer walls and roofs constructed of incombustible materials, including the roof, top and sides of all roof structures and dormer windows. All cornices, except open railings, shall be of incombustible material.

No frame or wooden buildings or structures shall hereafter be built within the said fire district as heretofore established or as it hereafter may be established; nor shall any additions be made thereto nor shall any frame or wooden buildings be moved in or into such district.

(1st) Where any person shall be the owner of any property lying within the fire limits as established in the said City and shall have erected thereon a substantial frame or non-fire proof building and shall desire to alter, repair or change the said building in such a manner that the said alteration, repair or change cannot be made of fire proof construction or without overlapping the outside walls of the said property, and where the said alteration, repair or change of the said building with non-fire proof material, will not increase the fire risk or injure neighboring properties, or

(2nd) Where any person, being the owner of any property on which is erected a substantial non-fire proof building, shall desire to move the said non-fire proof building on the said lot to make place for a fire proof building, and where the fire risk will not be increased by such removal, or any property injured thereby, or

(3rd) Where any person, being the owner of any land upon which a substantial, non-fire proof building is erected, is deprived of the use of his said land by the provisions of the said fire limit ordinance, but could enjoy the free use of the said land by the erection of a non-fire proof building that would not in any way increase the fire risk or injure other properties.

When any owner of property included in any of the above classifications shall feel himself aggrieved by the provisions of the said section relating to fire limits, or its amendments and supplements, he may petition Council for permission to build with non-fire proof material and for the modification of the operation of this section of the ordinance, its amendments and supplements, whereupon the Council shall refer the matter to the Board of Appeals created by Section 1, paragraph 1.27 of this ordinance, and the said Board of Appeals, after examination of the facts, may modify the operation of this section and direct a permit to be issued to the said owner to build upon his said property with non-fire proof materials, upon such terms and conditions as the said Board of Appeals shall specify, provided, however, that any person who shall feel himself affected or aggrieved by a proposed modification of this section, its amendments and supplements, shall be entitled to a full and complete hearing by the said Board of Appeals upon written demand therefor within ten (10) days from the time the application for such modification is presented to Council.

The regulations for location of buildings and structures, according to use, shall be as in the Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION 4.2—RESTRICTIONS AS TO HEIGHTS

No building or structure hereafter erected, except church spires, water towers, smoke stacks or chimneys shall exceed in height the following limits:

	Height in Stories	Height in Feet
Frame buildings used for purposes other than dwellings and tenements	2½	35
Frame dwellings and tenements occupied by not more than two families	2½	35
Frame dwellings occupied by not more than one family	3	45
Buildings having bearing walls of hollow terra cotta or concrete blocks	3	45
Non-fireproof buildings, ordinary construction	4	60
Non-fireproof buildings, mill construction:
Without sprinklers	4	60
With sprinklers	6	80
Fireproof buildings	10	125

The height limitation of buildings or structures according to their location shall be according to the regulations of the Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION 4.3—RESTRICTIONS AS TO FLOOR AREA

4.31—Measurements of Floor Areas

The area of any floor of a building shall be measured in the clear between fire resistive walls. Walls of any other kind of material shall not be considered as dividing walls. (See Section 9.43).

4.32—Dividing Walls, When Required

Dividing walls will be required:

In buildings not exceeding 2½ stories, or 35 feet in height, the floor areas herein designated may be increased fifty percent.

In buildings equipped with automatic sprinkler systems the floor areas herein designated, including the additional allowance for those not exceeding two and one-half stories in height, may be increased thirty percent; and if such buildings are located as to front on not less than three streets, or two streets and an alley, such floor areas may be further increased twenty percent.

Floor areas shall not be limited in buildings of one story in height of fireproof construction or where the structural parts are of fire-resistive materials and all other parts of the building of fireproof construction.

CHAPER V.—ZONING

The regulations for buildings, structures and land in the different classes of districts into which the City of New Castle is divided; by the Zoning Ordinance, shall be as set forth in such ordinance.

CHAPTER VI.—LIGHT AND VENTILATION

Every room in any building in which persons live, sleep, work or congregate, shall have at least one window opening directly either upon a street or alley or upon a yard or court located upon the same lot. Such yard or court shall conform to the requirements prescribed by the zoning ordinance of the City.

No court designed to meet such requirement shall be covered by a roof or skylight, but every such court shall be at every point open from the ground to the sky, unobstructed, except by an outside stairway or fire escape.

No building shall be erected or altered so that any room, public hallway, or stairs shall have its light or ventilation diminished in any way not approved by the Building Inspector.

CHAPTER VII.—MEANS OF EGRESS
SECTION 7.1—GENERAL EGRESS REQUIREMENTS

In every building hereafter erected, except in dwellings not more than three stories in height, each floor area above the first shall be provided with at least two means of egress remote from each other. One of these shall be an enclosed fireproof stairway opening to a street or alley or fireproof passage leading thereto. The other may be a horizontal exit. See Section 7.5. No portion of any floor area shall be more than 100 feet from a place of egress. Elevators shall not be considered as a means of egress as specified in this Section.

Hallways and corridors at the street or court level furnishing exits from stairways, shall be not less in width than the aggregate width of the required stairways which they serve.

Exits shall be provided from the basement and first story of every building, as may be required by the Building Inspector.

Every theater, opera house or other building or part of building designated or used for theatrical or operatic purposes, or motion picture shows, shall conform to the requirements of Section 13.1.

SECTION 7.2—EXIT DOORS

In every building, all required exit doors in the first story, including the doors of vestibules, shall open outwards. This requirement shall not prohibit the use of doors which swing both inward and outward, nor of sliding or rolling doors where approved by the Building Inspector.

All exit doors leading from rooms having an occupancy of 15 or more, shall open in the direction of exit travel.

The opening of one door shall not be permitted to obstruct another, and the area of doors which open upon stairways, landings or platforms, shall not reduce the width of the passage-way to less than the required width of the stairs.

SECTION 7.3—STAIRWAYS, INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR

Except in dwellings, no required stairway shall be less than 44 inches wide, and the total width of exit doorways leading therefrom shall at least be equal to the total width of stairways which they serve.

The total width of stairway, interior and exterior, provided for the occupancy of each floor and those above, shall be not less than 44 inches for the first 50 persons and 12 inches for each additional 50 persons to be accommodated thereby.

Each stairway shall have an exit to the street at the street level, or to a court or yard which connects directly to the street.

SECTION 7.4—SMOKE-PROOF TOWERS

In buildings of Class E, over 60 feet in height, except office buildings, and in every building over 80 feet in height, one of the two required means of exit shall be either a smoke-proof tower or an interior enclosed stairway with self-closing doors opening into hallways which are also enclosed in fire-proof partitions.

SECTION 7.5—HORIZONTAL EXITS

All horizontal exits shall be provided with self-closing fire doors. Such doors shall be kept unlocked during the occupancy of any portion of the floor areas or connected buildings. Non-glass except wire glass, not exceeding 144 square inches in area, shall be used in such doors.

No horizontal exit shall be less than 30 inches in width.

In horizontal exits where there is a difference in level between connected buildings or floor areas, gradients shall be provided of not more than 1 foot in 6 feet where practicable. The bridges or balconies shall be not less than 44 inches wide, and shall be constructed of incombustible material, and enclosed on the sides at least 4 feet high.

CHAPTER VIII.—MATERIALS, LOADS AND STRESSES
SECTION 8.1—QUALITY OF MATERIALS

8.11—Grades

All building materials shall be of a quality to meet the requirements of this Code and such additional specifications as may be promulgated by the Building Inspector, in conformity with Section 1.2.

Bricks, used in building, shall be sound, hard burned, and of a good merchantable quality. Second hand brick shall be thoroughly cleaned before being used. Not more than 15 percent, shall be bats or broken brick.

Brick shall develop an average compressive strength, when tested on five test samples, of not less than 3,000 pounds per square inch, and no sample shall fall below 2,000 pounds per square inch. Brick shall be tested flatwise.

The absorption on five test samples shall not exceed an average of 15 percent by weight, when dried to constant weight at a temperature between 225° and 250° Fahrenheit and placed in water with the top surface exposed to the air for a period of 48 hours.

Sand used for mortar in all masonry construction and in concrete work shall be clean grit sand, free from vegetable, colloidal or fine gelatinous substances or other deleterious matter.

Lime shall be of a quality to meet the current standard specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials, as filed in the office of the Building Inspector.

Portland cement and Natural cement shall be of a quality to meet the respective requirements of the current standard specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials, for those cements, as filed in the office of the Building Inspector. No air slacked, caked, or lumpy cement shall be used.

Cement mortar shall be mixed in the proportion of one part cement to not more than three parts of sand by volume. Hydrated lime or lime putty may be added to the foregoing mixture in a proportion not to exceed 20 percent by volume of the Portland cement used.

Lime mortar shall be mixed in the proportion of one part lime to not more than three parts sand, by volume.

Cement and lime mortar shall be mixed in the proportion of one part lime and cement in equal proportions to not more than three parts of sand, by volume.

Gypsum mortar shall be mixed in the proportion of one part gypsum to not more than two parts of sand, by volume.

For block or tile made of concrete weighing less than 140 lbs. per cubic foot, the average absorption in percent by weight shall be not more than 10 multiplied by 140 and divided by the unit weight in pounds per cubic foot of the concrete under consideration.

Bearing webs for hollow building tile shall have an average thickness of not less than one-eighth, and bearing shells an average thickness of not less than one-sixth of the clear span of the same between cross webs or shells. A shrinkage allowance of not more than 1-16 of an inch below the average requirements shall be permitted.

The ultimate compressive strength of hollow building tile designed to be laid with the cells vertical, when tested with the cells in that position, shall be not less than 1,800 pounds per square inch of gross cross-sectional area of tile.

The ultimate compressive strength of hollow building tile designed to be laid with the cells horizontal, when tested with the cells in that position, shall be not less than 800 pounds per square inch of gross cross-sectional area of tile.

The absorption of five test samples shall not exceed ten percent of the initial dry weight of the sample when dried to a constant weight at a temperature between 225 and 250 degrees Fahrenheit, and placed on end under boiling water for a period of 5 hours and cooled and dried of surplus water before weighing.

Hollow or solid concrete block shall be made of Portland cement and fine and coarse aggregate of suitable materials which shall be clean and free from deleterious substances. The blocks must be sound, well seasoned and of a good merchantable quality.

The ultimate compressive strength of hollow concrete block shall be not less than 800 pounds per square inch of gross cross-sectional area.

The absorption of five test samples shall not exceed ten percent, by weight when dried to a constant weight at a temperature between 225 and 250 degrees Fahrenheit and placed in clean water with the top surface exposed to the air for a period of 48 hours.

All timbers and wooden beams used in building shall be of good sound material, free from, large or loose knots, shakes, or any imperfection whereby the strength or durability may be seriously impaired. Lumber used structurally and conforming in quality to the basic provisions for structural material published by the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, in Simplified Practice Recommendation No. 16, a copy of which is filed in the office of the Building Inspector, may be designed with the working stresses as given in the report of the Building Code Committee of the U. S. Department of Commerce on "Requirements for Working Stresses in Building Materials", as published by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, a copy of which is on file in the office of the Building Inspector.

All wrought and cast structural steel and iron shall conform to the test requirements of the current standard specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials, as filed in the office of the Building Inspector.

8.12—Weights

The weights of various materials entering into the construction of buildings shall be assumed to be not less than those given in the following table:

Materials	Pounds Per Cu. Ft.
Asphalt	81
Brick
Pressed Brick	140
Common Brick	120
Cinder Fill	69
Concrete with aggregates as follows:
Rock or gravel aggregate	144
Crushed blast furnace bank slag	130
Cinder concrete	108
Cast Iron	450
Steel	490
Lumber—Dry
Oak, Locust and Longleaf Yellow Pine	48
Spruce, fir, hemlock, white pine and shortleaf yellow pine	30
Plastering and Mortar	100
Stone Masonry:
Granite and Marble	168
Limestone	156
Sandstone	144

SECTION 8.2—TEST OF MATERIALS

Whenever the Building Inspector deems it necessary, he shall have authority to require the architect, engineer or builder to furnish reports of tests of materials to be used in building construction.

All tests shall be conduc

Business and Public Buildings.—For business and public buildings, the minimum allowable thickness of bearing walls shall be as follows:

(a) When not over 25 feet in height:
Eight inches for full height.

(b) When over 25 feet but not over 40 feet in height:
Eight inches for the upper 25 feet.
Twelve inches for the remaining lower section of the wall.

(c) When over 40 feet in height:
Twelve inches for the upper 28 feet.

(a) When not over 35 feet in height:
Eight inches for the uppermost twenty feet of the wall then reinforced with buttresses, pilasters, stud cross partitions securely anchored or masonry cross walls not farther apart than twenty feet.
The minimum allowable thickness of the walls may be eight inches for the full height if not exceeding a height of twenty-four feet to the square of the roof or thirty-five feet to the gable point, provided same are reinforced with buttresses, pilasters, or stud cross partitions securely anchored or braced, or with masonry walls not farther apart than twenty feet. Mansard roofs are not to be taken as coming within the regulations of this paragraph.

(b) When over 35 feet in height:
Eight inches for the uppermost fourteen feet of the wall when reinforced with buttresses, pilasters, stud cross partitions securely anchored or masonry cross walls not farther apart than twenty feet.
Twelve inches for the next lower twenty-eight feet of the wall.
Sixteen inches for the next lower thirty-six feet of the wall.

Interior Bearing Walls.—All interior masonry bearing walls not in excess of fifteen feet in height may be eight inches in thickness, provided same are reinforced by piers, pilasters, buttresses or masonry walls not more than thirty feet apart on centers.

Party Walls.—In all buildings, except dwellings, frame buildings, and skeleton construction, the minimum allowable thickness of party walls which serve as bearing walls on both sides, shall be 4 inches greater than above described for masonry bearing walls.

9.43—Miscellaneous Wall Requirements

Pilasters and buttresses used for reinforcing bearing and foundation walls shall be not less than 12 inches in width in the direction of the walls and not less than 4 inches in addition to the thickness of the wall. Chimney breasts may be taken as masonry pilasters or buttresses.

Excessive Openings.—Whenever the horizontal section through an eight-inch masonry bearing wall shows more than 20 percent. area of windows or other openings between masonry piers, cross walls, or buttresses, that part of the wall where such openings exist shall be increased 4 inches in thickness over the minimum requirements as herein given.

Excessive Length.—All walls over 100 feet in length between cross walls or piers or buttresses, shall be increased at least 4 inches in thickness over the minimum allowable thickness as herein given.

Excessive Spans between Enclosing Walls.—Whenever the clear span between enclosing bearing walls of masonry exceeds 30 feet, the thickness of such walls shall be increased 4 inches over the minimum allowable thickness as herein given, unless adequate piers, pilasters, buttresses, or cross walls are provided.

Existing Walls.—Walls built prior to the adoption of this code, which are in good condition, may be used for new buildings or those which are to be altered or extended provided the construction of such walls conforms to all the requirements of this code.

Parapet Walls.—All exterior or party walls over 20 feet high, except where such walls are finished as cornices, gutters, or crown mouldings, excepting also the walls of detached dwellings with peaked or hipped roof, shall be furnished with parapets. Parapet walls shall be the full thickness of the top story walls, and shall project at least 2 feet above the roof at all points. All parapet walls shall be provided with non-combustible coping.

Dividing Walls.—Where dividing walls are required in any building, such walls shall be of solid, incombustible, fire-resistive materials, and of the same thickness as enclosing walls, and shall be continuous from the foundation to 3 feet above the roof in non-fireproof buildings. All openings in these division walls shall have approved fire doors on each side of the opening.

Non-Bearing Masonry Walls.—The thickness of non-bearing masonry walls may be 4 inches less than the minimum allowable thickness of masonry bearing walls as herein provided but no exterior non-bearing masonry wall, except walls of reinforced concrete, shall be less than 8 inches in thickness, nor shall the clear height of any eight-inch non-bearing masonry wall exceed fifteen feet in height, without lateral supports or anchorage; and the total height shall not exceed twenty-four feet.

Exterior non-bearing walls of reinforced concrete shall be not less than 4 inches in thickness, and shall have vertical and horizontal reinforcement spaced not exceeding twelve inches between centers, and fastened to each other at each intersection. Interior non-bearing partitions may be 3 inches in thickness when properly reinforced. All such walls shall be securely connected to contiguous construction.

9.44—Stone Masonry Walls

Rubble Masonry.—Ordinary rubble masonry shall be built of unsquared stone, roughly shaped and laid so as to fit and bed properly with at least one bonding or header stone the full thickness of the wall for every 6 superficial feet.

Block Rubble Masonry.—Block rubble masonry shall be built of stone roughly squared and laid with beds and joints approximately level and plumb, with stones overlapping so as to break the joints. At least one bonding stone the full thickness of the wall shall be built in for every 6 superficial feet.

Coursed Masonry.—Coursed masonry shall be built of squared stones having beds and joints dressed and laid in regular courses. All beds shall be level and all joints plumb. All beds and joints shall be completely filled with mortar. All stones shall be the full thickness of the wall. The length of the stone on the bed shall be not less than one and one-half times the height of the stone.

Stone Facing Counted in the Allowable Thickness of Masonry Walls and Piers.—Stone facing, to be counted in the allowable thickness of masonry walls and piers must be bonded to the masonry backing according to the following minimum allowable requirements:

(a) When said facing stone is dimension stone laid in regular courses bonded not less than 4 inches into the masonry backing, and such bonding stone shall be staggered, but the bonding courses need not be closer together than 24 inches vertically.

(b) When said facing stone is laid in random range, at least one through bonding stone having a cross-sectional area of not less than 64 square inches shall be built in for every 6 superficial feet of wall.

Stone Facing Not Counted in the Allowable Thickness of Masonry Walls and Piers.—Stone facing not counted in the allowable thickness of masonry walls and piers must be securely anchored to the masonry backing with metal anchors not less than one inch by three-sixteenths inch having ends bent up or down not less than one inch and spaced not more than 24 inches apart horizontally, or other equivalent method.

9.45—Brick Masonry Walls

All masonry walls or piers made of brick or of other materials in combination with brick must conform to the following requirements:

Brick Facing Counted in the Allowable Thickness of Masonry Walls and Piers.—Brick facing counted in the allowable thickness of masonry walls, and piers shall be bonded to the backing with true headers laid in Flemish bond not farther apart than every sixth course, or by a complete course of full headers not farther apart than every seventh course, or if running bond is used, every sixth course shall be bonded into the backing by cutting the corners of the face brick and putting diagonal headers behind the same, or other equivalent method of construction may be used.

Brick Facing Not Counted in the Allowable Thickness of Masonry Walls and Piers.—Brick facing not counted in the allowable thickness of masonry walls and piers must be tied to the wall backing with looped wire ties not less than one-eighth inch in diameter of metal ties not less than No. 22 American Standard gage weighing not less than 45 pounds per thousand, which shall be spaced not more than 12 inches apart horizontally, and not farther apart than every fifth course vertically, and they shall be staggered.

Brick Bonding Not Otherwise Provided For.—All bricks in walls, the bonding of which is not otherwise provided for, shall be bonded by full heading courses, not farther apart than every sixth course, and all brick walls shall be bonded into each other, and chimneys shall be bonded into walls.

9.46—Walls of Hollow Building Tile or Concrete Block

All hollow building tile or concrete block shall be laid in Portland cement mortar as defined in this code, with vertical joints broken, and with all courses thoroughly bonded. All masonry facing shall be bonded to the backing as required for the kind of facing used.

Whenever such walls are to be covered with stucco or plaster, the surfaces to receive same shall be roughened.

All bearings on hollow building tile or concrete block construction shall be not less than 4 inches. Where vertical cell construction is used, the load shall be distributed by means of metal or masonry bearing plates of sufficient size to properly distribute the imposed load, or the supporting course may be filled with concrete or made of solid block, or other equivalent method of construction may be used.

9.47—Chases in Walls

No chase shall extend into any wall more than one-third of its thickness. All horizontal chases shall be solidly backfilled with masonry and mortar. No chase shall be in the required area of any pier, pilaster or buttress. No chase shall be cut in an eight-inch wall, but a chase may be built in by properly formed masonry. This shall not be taken as preventing the grooving of a wall for gas or water pipes or electric conduit not exceeding one inch in diameter.

Chases or recesses in walls built of hollow blocks shall not be formed by cutting of blocks or by other methods which might impair the strength of the wall.

SECTION 9.5—REINFORCED CONCRETE

Reinforced concrete construction shall be designed and constructed according to the rules of the "Joint Committee on Concrete and Reinforced Concrete" of the engineering societies as filed in the office of the Building Inspector.

SECTION 9.6—IRON AND STEEL

9.61—General

The effective or unsupported length of main compression members, such as columns and main members of trusses of rolled steel, shall not exceed 120 times, and for secondary members of rolled steel, 150 times, and for cast iron columns, 70 times, the least radius of gyration.

In proportioning columns provision shall be made for eccentric loadings.

In proportioning tension members the net section shall be used. Rivet holes deducted must be taken one-eighth inch larger than the nominal diameter of the rivets.

Members subjected to the action of both axial and bending stresses shall be proportioned so that the greatest fiber stress will not exceed the allowed limits for the member.

In proportioning members subject to tension and compression, each stress shall be increased by 50 per cent. of the lesser and the member proportioned for that stress giving the larger section. Details and connections shall be proportioned for the sum of the two stresses.

Rolled I-beams and Channels, and built up members used as beams and girders, shall be proportioned by their moments of inertia.

Plate girder webs shall have a thickness not less than one-one hundred sixtieth (1-160) of the unsupported distance between flange angles, generally, but further apart than the depth of the web plate, with a maximum limit of six feet.

The lateral unsupported length of beams and girders shall not exceed 40 times the width of the compression flange. When the unsupported length (l) exceeds 10 times the width (b) of the compression flange, the stress per square inch in the compression flange shall not exceed 19,000 minus 300 times l-b.

9.62—Minimum Sections

Excepting sheet metal, or when used as fillers or for ornamental purposes or in the construction of metal stacks, no material less than 1-4 inch shall be used in iron and steel construction.

Lateral and sag rods and all similar ties, straps, and braces shall be not less than 3-16 square inch in cross section at the smallest point.

9.63—Details of Steel Construction—General

Adjustable members in any part of a structure shall be avoided and sections preferably shall be made symmetrical.

No connections except lattice bars, ceiling hangers, sag rods, or crossings of diagonal braces shall have less than two rivets.

Trusses preferably shall be riveted structures. Heavy trusses of long span, where the riveted field connections would become unwieldly, or for other good reasons, may be designed as pin-connected structures.

Abutting joints in compression members faced for bearing shall be spliced sufficiently to hold the connecting members accurately in place. All other joints in riveted work, whether in tension or compression, shall be fully spliced.

Lateral, longitudinal and transverse bracing in all structures preferably shall be composed of rigid members and shall be sufficient to safely withstand wind and other lateral forces when building is in process of erection, as well as after completion.

Beam Girders.—When two or more rolled beams or channels, used to form a girder, are not connected by top and bottom cover plates, they shall be connected at intervals of not more than 5 feet, either by top and bottom tie plates riveted to each member, or by bolts and separators. Beams having a depth of 12 inches and over shall have at least two bolts to each separator.

Flange Plates.—The flange plates of all girders, unless stiffened, shall be limited in width, so as not to extend beyond the outer line of rivets connecting them to the flanges or angles, more than 6 inches or 16 times the thickness of the thinnest piece connected.

Plate Girders.—Web stiffeners shall be in pairs, and shall have a tight bearing against the flange angles. Those over the end bearings or forming the connections between girder and column shall be on fillers. Intermediate stiffeners may be on fillers or may be crimped over the flange angles. Web plates of girders shall be spliced at all joints by a plate on each side of the web, capable of transmitting the full stress through splice rivets.

(a) Riveting.—The minimum distance between centers of rivet holes shall be three diameters of the rivet; but the distance preferably shall be not less than 3 inches for seven-eighth inch rivets, 2½ inches for three-quarter inch rivets, 2 inches for five-eighth inch rivets, and 1⅝ inches for one-half inch rivets.

(b) The minimum pitch in the line of stress for members composed of plates and shapes shall be 6 inches or 16 times the thickness of the thinnest piece and for angles in built sections with two gauge lines, with rivets staggered, the maximum pitch in each line shall be twice as great.

(c) Where two or more plates are in contact, rivets not more than 12 inches apart in either direction shall be used to hold the plates together.

(d) The minimum distance from the center of any rivet hole to a sheared edge shall be 1½ inches for seven-eighth inch rivets, 1¼ inches for three-quarter inch rivets, 1⅛ inches for five-eighth inch rivets, and 1 inch for one-half inch rivets, and to a rolled edge, 1¼ inches, 1⅛ inches, 1 inch, and ⅞ inch respectively. The maximum distance from any edge shall be 8 times the thickness of the plate. The pitch of rivets at the ends of built compression members shall not exceed 4 diameters of the rivets for a length equal to 1½ times the maximum width of the member.

(a) Latticing.—Compression members of two or more pieces not connected by web or cover plates shall have their open sides provided with lattice bars, and have tie plates at each end and at intermediate points where the lattice is interrupted. The tie plates shall be as near the end as practicable. In main members, the end tie plates shall have a length not less than the distance between the lines of rivets connecting them to the flanges and intermediate ones not less than half this distance. Their thickness shall be not less than one-fiftieth of the same distance. The latticing of compression members shall be proportioned to resist a shearing stress equal to 2 percent. of the direct stress.

(b) The minimum thickness of lattice bars shall be not less than one-fortieth for single lattice, and one-sixtieth for double lattice, of the distance between end rivets. Their minimum width shall be as follows:

For 15-inch channels or for built-up sections with 3½ inch and 4-inch angles; two and one-half inches.

For 12-inch, 10-inch and 9-inch channels or for built-up sections with 3-inch angles; two and one-quarter inches.

For 8-inch and 7-inch channels or for built-up sections with 2½ inch angles; two inches.

For 6-inch and 5-inch channels or for built-up sections with 2-inch angles; one and three-quarter inches.

(c) The inclination of lattice bars to the axis of the member shall be not less than 45 degrees for double lattice and 60 degrees for single lattice. When the distance between the rivet lines in the flanges is more than 15 inches, the lattice shall be doubled.

Pins.—Pin holes shall be reinforced by plates wherever necessary. At least one plate shall be as wide as the projecting flanges will allow. Where angles are used, this plate shall be on the same side as the angles. The plates shall contain sufficient rivets to distribute their portion of the pin pressure to the full cross-section of the member. Pins shall be long enough to insure a full bearing of all parts connected upon the turned down body of the pin. Members packed on pins shall be held against lateral movement.

Anchors.—Anchors of ample size and strength shall be provided at the ends of all beams, channels and girders that bear on walls.

Straps.—The ends of all beams, channels, girders, girts, purlins, etc., that rest on a girder, truss, column or pier, shall be connected by straps, with never less than two bolts or rivets, not less than ⅝ inch in diameter, to each member at each connection.

Wall Plates.—Wall plates of a thickness and area ample to distribute the loads shall be set under the ends of all beams, channels or girders that bear on masonry or concrete walls or piers.

Skew-backs and Tie Rods.—(a) Beams, channels, girders and other members acting as skew-backs for floor arches shall be of ample strength and rigidity to withstand the lateral thrusts in addition to all other loads they must sustain.

(b) Tie rods shall be proportioned to resist their respective stresses, and holes for them shall be placed as near the spring of the arches as practicable.

9.64—Cast Iron Columns

When cast iron columns and posts are used in buildings, they shall be not less than 5 inches in diameter or least width, with a thickness of metal not less than 1-12 the diameter or least width of the column and never less than one inch; and their unsupported length shall be not more than 70 times their least radius of gyration. They shall be faced at both ends to plane surfaces at right angles to their axes; and when placed vertically, one over another, the diameter of the one below a joint shall be increased until its core is not less than the core of the one above. The core of the column below a joint shall be not greater than the core of the colmn above for a distance of at least 3 inches, and shall have a 45 degree taper added. The column shall be connected at each joint by means of at least 4 bolts of sufficient length, not less than ¾ inch in diameter, through square or rectangular flanges not less than one inch in finished thickness, cast on the ends of the columns and well reinforced by brackets and fillets. These flanges shall extend on each side at least 2½ inches beyond the widest part of the column shaft; and, at each joint, the flanges of the base of the column above shall match the flanges of the cap of the column below; and a cast iron plate planed on both sides to a thickness not less than 1¼ inches, or a rolled steel plate not less than ⅝ inch thick shall be interposed. The two flanges at the intermediate plate, at each joint, shall be drilled to the same templet, and the columns shall be securely bolted together as fast as erected. The bottom columns shall rest on plates or shoes of iron or steel of the proper thickness and dimensions to distribute the loads to the footings.

9.65—Ornamental Iron Work and Rolled Steel Sash

Rolled steel sash and ornamental work of iron and steel that is exposed to the weather shall have no section less than ⅛ inch in thickness, or 3-32 square inches in least cross-section. They shall be so designed and constructed that parts cannot become detached and fall out, and so that all parts may be accessible for painting on all sides. Rolled steel sash shall have joints locked rigidly and tightly together to prevent corrosion and leakage, and shall be designed and constructed to prevent their falling out. Pivots and pins for rollers shall be bronze, and sliding sash shall be equipped with proper and substantial slides and guides.

SECTION 9.7—WOOD AND FRAME CONSTRUCTION

9.71—Wood Beaming

All members shall be so framed, anchored, tied and braced together as to develop the maximum strength and rigidity consistent with the materials used.

The strength of wooden structural members shall be determined from actual dimensions of the pieces, and not from nominal dimensions.

Anchors.—Each tier of floor joists shall be securely anchored to masonry walls with T-shaped steel anchors at intervals of not more than 6 feet. Anchors shall be attached in a way to afford easy release in case of fire burning through the joists.

The ends of joists resting upon girders or bearing partitions when lapped shall be securely spiked.

When enclosing walls are of wood each joist, beam and girder entering same shall be securely spiked or anchored to the wall construction.

Rafters shall be vertically supported at the ridge when the slope is less than 6 inches per foot. All rafters shall be vertically supported at the ridge unless their feet are thoroughly tied at the plate.

Beam Bearings.—Every beam supported by masonry shall have bearings at least 3 inches in length.

The ends of beams resting in masonry walls shall be leveled approximately 1 inch to each 4 inches in height, but not to exceed a total of 3 inches.

Joists carrying non-bearing partitions running in the same direction shall be double. If non-bearing partitions cross joists near their center, these joists shall be of size required for normal loading with a span 2 feet greater than the actual span.

Trimmer and header beams over 6 feet long shall be hung in metal stirrups.

Bridging.—All floor joists shall be rigidly bridged at intervals not exceeding 8 feet.

Separation of Beam Ends.—Wooden beams shall not enter 8-inch brick party or division walls unless recesses for timbers on both sides are provided at the time the wall is built, otherwise a 12-inch wall is required. In all masonary walls the beams on opposite sides shall be so placed as to provide at least 6 inches of solid masonry between them.

Bearing Partitions shall be provided at the top with double plates, each plate to be at least 2 inches thick and of same width as stud. When studs are placed directly below each joist, a single top plate may be used.

All partitions not resting upon girders or the studs of which do not rest on partition plates below, shall have plates of dimensions not less than the studs.

Partitions unsupported by walls shall be supported on girders or double joists, or on plates if placed at an angle to the joists.

All stud partitions shall have angles at the corners framed solid, so that no lath can extend from one room to another.

Non-bearing Partitions shall be provided with at least one 2-inch single plate on top and bottom of same width as stud.

9.72—Exterior Walls

Wood studding shall be 2 x 4 inches nominal size or larger and spaced not to exceed 16 inches on centers. All walls shall be securely braced at corners. The minimum sizes specified in these requirements shall in all cases be understood as referring to the nominal sizes of such timbers.

Exterior walls except those of dwellings or parts thereof not more than one story high, shall be sheathed with boards not less than one (1") inch thick, nominal. Sheathing boards shall be laid tight and properly nailed to each stud with not less than two (2) eight penny nails. Where the sheathing is omitted all corners shall be diagonally braced and such other measures taken to secure rigidity as may be necessary.

Wood sheathing may be omitted when other types of construction are used that are proven of adequate strength and stability.

When joists are supported on ledger or ribbon boards, such boards shall be not less than 1 x 4 inches nominal, shall be laid into the studs and securely nailed with not less than 2 nails at each stud. The floor joists shall be well spiked to the sides of the studs.

9.73—Masonry Veneer on Frame Construction

Masonry veneer applied to the walls of frame structures shall rest directly upon the masonary foundation of the structures, and shall be not less than 3¾ inches in thickness.

Flashing shall be installed along top and bottom of veneered walls and around all openings in same, and other necessary precautions taken to prevent moisture from penetrating behind the wall.

The masonry veneer shall be securely attached to the frame structure at intervals of not more than 12 inches vertically and 14 inches horizontally.

Masonry veneer shall be provided with a backing or sheathing securely attached to the framework of the structure. Where a space is left between sheathing and veneer, firestops shall be installed at each floor level.

9.74—Stucco on Frame Construction

Flashing or other expedients adequate to prevent penetration of moisture behind the stucco surface shall be used around all wall openings and at all other exposed joints or edges.

Where wood lath or sheathing lath is used, it shall be of boards not less than 1 inch by 6 inches or more than 1 inch by 12 inches, and all boards in excess of 8 inches in width shall be nailed securely to the studding with at least 3 nails, all others with at least 2 nails.

Metal lath used for stucco base shall be expanded lath and shall not less than 3.4 pounds per square yard. Expanded metal reinforcing used for stucco base shall weigh not less than 0.2 pounds per square foot, with a minimum opening of 1½ inches. Wire lath for stucco base shall be woven or electrically welded and not lighter than No. 19 gage, with 2½ meshes to the inch. Woven lath shall be standard quality narrow lath, 4 feet long and not less than ⅜ inch thick. Woven lath shall have stiffeners at 8-inch centers.

Where back plastered construction is used, the plaster shall be of sufficient thickness to extend back at least ¼ inch between the studs.

9.75—Walls Separating Attached Dwellings

In rows of frame houses every alternate dividing wall or partition between units shall be built of brick, terra cotta, concrete or other approved incombustible material; or they may be built with 4-inch studs covered on each side with at least ¾ inch metal lath and plaster, or ⅜ inch plaster board, with ½ inch plaster. Such dividing partitions shall rest on masonry walls and shall extend to underside of roof boards. The masonry shall be built up to the full height of the joists and a flush mortar joint shall be made between the roof boards and the wall or partition.

9.76—Slow burning Construction

All timbers preferably shall be single sticks, but if built up they shall be properly bolted together and surfaces in contact shall be treated to prevent decay.

All exposed surfaces of floor and roof timbers must be planed smooth and all exposed corners rounded.

No joists, beam or girder shall have a dimension of less than six inches, except roof joists may have a minimum size of 4 inches by 8 inches, and no post or column shall have a dimension of less than 8 inches.

No roof planking shall be less than 2½ inches in total nominal thickness and no floor planking of less than 3 inches in total nominal thickness.

When floor beams rest on walls, they must be supported on wall plates, hangers or boxes of the self-releasing type.

Where girders meet at columns, they must fit tight. The end of the girder shall be held in place by suitable straps or metal post caps having sides projecting upwards, all of which must be fastened by the beam by means of through bolts or other equivalent method.

Posts and columns must be superimposed throughout all stories on metal post caps with brackets or shall have ends connected by properly designed metal caps, pintle and base plate. Wood bolsters may be used to support roof girders only.

In all floor construction regulated under this heading, care shall be taken at all wall lines to provide against expansion of the floor developing from the application of water.

Floors with planks laid flat must be made with splined or tongued and grooved planking laid so as to break joints, covered with tongued and grooved flooring not less than 1 inch in nominal thickness laid crosswise or diagonally.

Between planking and the top flooring there shall be placed two thicknesses of water-proof paper or saturated felt (but no asbestos) turned up at least 3 inches around the columns and at the side walls. Said turned up portions shall be protected by a counter-flushing coating or a wooden baseboard nailed in place with the joint between it and the floor covered with a moulding. Said water-proofing shall be laid with broken joints, the joints cemented and the surface mopped with a water-proof sealing compound. The top flooring must be laid immediately following the final mopping.

In construing the provisions of this chapter, the inspector shall use and apply "Industrial Standards" of the American Lumbermen's Standards, adopted July 1st, 1926.

CHAPTER X—PRECAUTIONS DURING BUILDING OPERATIONS

SECTION 10.1—STORAGE OF MATERIALS

Materials or machinery used in construction shall be stored so as not to obstruct traffic. Sufficient space shall be provided to take care of two lanes of traffic on main thoroughfares and one lane of traffic on minor streets.

SECTION 10.2—PROTECTION OF PUBLIC

When buildings or any part thereof are erected or increased in height to over 25 feet or along any street, the person erecting or altering such building shall erect and maintain an approved substantial shed from the building line to the curb for the full frontage of the building, and designed to support a load of 300 pounds per square foot. The street side shall be kept open for a height of not less than 6 feet 6 inches above the curb and the shed shall be kept properly lighted at night. No shel shall be required when a building is erected 10 feet or more back of the building line.

SECTION 10.3—PROTECTION OF WORKMEN

Floor construction shall follow up the erection of the steel framing of all structures within two complete tiers.

If filling with brick or other fireproof material is not required between floor beams, the under flooring or other planking shall be laid in each story as the building progresses.

Outside Scaffolds.—Whenever outside scaffolds are used on buildings over 35 feet in height, whether they be suspended or constructed of poles and throughouts, they shall be provided with a substantial guard railing or enclosure of wire mesh or other suitable material extending 4 feet above the working platform on its outer edge and ends. All such scaffolds shall be constructed in a manner to secure the safety of the workmen on them and the people using the street.

SECTION 10.4—PROTECTION OF SKYLIGHTS AND ROFS

Where walls are carried up above the roofs of adjoining buildings, proper means shall be provided and used by the person erecting the walls for the protection of the skylights and roofs of such adjoining buildings.

CHAPTER XI—FIRE PROTECTION

SECTION 11.1—RESISTIVE MATERIALS

Fire resistive materials are those which are poor conductors of heat; are non combustible in the temperatures of ordinary fires; and will withstand such fires without serious impairment of their usefulness for at least an hour. These materials include brick, concrete, tile, terra cotta, cement, gypsum, etc., in addition to roofing materials, such as tin, slate, asbestos, roofing felt with gravel or slag, and other materials of like grade.

SECTION 11.2—FIRE DOORS AND FIRE WINDOWS

Fire doors and fire windows shall be of a type which will meet the requirements, as to design and test, of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Approved fire doors and fire windows shall be understood to be those which bear the label of the Underwriters Laboratories.

SECTION 11.3—PROTECTION OF STRUCTURAL MEMBERS

All columns which support steel girders carrying exterior walls, and all walls which are built into walls and support floors only, shall be protected against corrosion by a coating of Portland Cement or gypsum mortar at least ¼ inch thick, and against moisture and fire by a casing of masonry, which shall not be less than 4 inches of brick or 2 inches of concrete on all surfaces; all to be well bonded into the masonry of the enclosing walls.

The wall girders shall have a casing of Portland cement and the same masonry protection as required for wall columns, all to be securely bonded and tied, but the extreme outer edge of the flanges of beams, or plates and angles connected to the beams may project within 2 inches of the outside surface of such casing. The inside surfaces of the girders shall be similarly protected by masonry, or if projecting inside the rooms, they shall be protected by concrete, terra cotta, or other approved fireproof material not less than 2 inches thick.

All metal structural members which support loads or resist stresses, other than those provided for by the two preceding paragraphs, shall have a protection of fireproofing, at least 2 inches in thickness, as herein specified. The protection material shall be brick, concrete, terra cotta, or gypsum block. Terra cotta may be solid or hollow, and porous or semi-porous, neither shells nor webs shall be less than ¾ inch thick. gypsum blocks shall be solid and of a quality approved by the Building Inspector. Plaster shall not be considered a part of any required fire-proofing for metal structural members except where specifically mentioned as such.

All bricks or blocks used for fireproofing shall be set in Portland cement mortar, except that gypsum blocks may be set in gypsum mortar.

The protection for interior columns shall cover the columns at all points to a thickness of not less than 2 inches and for the entire length from the base to the top of the column. The extreme outer edges of lugs, brackets, and similar supporting metal may project to within one inch of the outer surface of the protection.

Columns located in damp places shall receive a coat of Portland Cement mortar at least one inch thick before the application of the fireproofing.

Columns made of steel or wrought iron pipe filled with concrete, shall be protected by at least 1½ inches of fireproofing.

Where the fireproofing of columns is exposed to damage from trucking or handling of merchandise, the fireproofing shall be jacketed on the outside for a height of not less than 3 feet from the floor with metal or other approved covering.

SECTION 11.4—FLOORS AND ROOFS

Fireproof construction between steel floor and roof beams shall consist of segmental arches of brick or concrete, or of segmental or flat arches of hollow terra cotta, or reinforced cinder, stone, or gravel concrete; or of such other equally fire-resistive material or construction as may be approved by the Building Inspector after fire, water, and strength tests.

SECTION 11.5—PARTITIONS

In fireproof buildings, all partitions enclosing public halls or separating the spaces occupied by different tenants, and all other permanent partitions, shall be built not less than 4 inches thick, of solid or hollow brick, terra cotta, concrete, or gypsum blocks or tile; or not less than 3 inches thick of reinforced concrete or 2 inches thick of solid metal lath and cement or gypsum plaster; or of such other incombustible materials and thickness as shall meet the requirements of the specified tests of the Standard Test for Fireproof Partition Construction prescribed by the American Society for Testing Materials, or the specifications for such test employed at the Laboratories of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, as filed in the office of the Building Inspector. The required thickness of block or tile partitions shall be exclusive of the plaster. All such partition shall be securely fastened to the fireproof construction of floor and ceiling. All brick blocks or tile shall be laid with broken joints.

All partitions in fireproof buildings shall be independently supported at each floor level, and where lateral support is not sufficient they shall be stiffened by such steel reinforcement encased in the construction as the City Engineer may require and approve.

SECTION 11.6—PROTECTION OF VERTICAL OPENINGS

All interior shafts containing stairways required to be enclosed, and except in dwellings, all shafts exceeding 6 square feet in area containing elevators, escalators, hoistways, chutes, or used for any other purpose shall be continuously enclosed with fireproof walls or partitions as follows:

(a) Brick or plain solid concrete not less than 8 inches thick for the uppermost 30 feet, increasing 4 inches in thickness for each lower section of 30 feet or part thereof; or 8 inches thick for the entire height when wholly supported at vertical intervals not exceeding 30 feet.

(b) Reinforced stone concrete not less than 6 inches thick for the uppermost 20 feet, increasing 2 inches in thickness for each lower section of 30 feet or fraction thereof; or 5 inches thick for the entire height when supported at vertical intervals not exceeding 20 feet and braced where necessary with lateral supports or suitable steel uprights.

(c) Reinforced cinder concrete not less than 5 inches thick for the entire height when supported at vertical intervals not exceeding 15 feet, and braced where necessary with lateral supports or suitable steel uprights.

(d) Semi-porous terra cotta tile, or solid gypsum blocks not less than 6 inches in thickness for the entire height when supported at vertical intervals not exceeding 20 feet, and anchored by steel reinforcement encased in the construction. Terra cotta tile shall be not less than 2 cells in thickness.

(e) All door openings into such shafts shall be protected by fire doors and shall be self-closing except for elevator doors.

All dumbwaiters and other shafts or chutes not exceeding 6 sq. ft. in area except dumbwaiters which do not extend more than one story above the cellar or basement in dwellings, shall be continuously enclosed by partitions of brick, terra cotta, concrete, metal lath and cement or gypsum plaster, gypsum blocks, or other approved fire resistive material not less than 3 inches thick. Such walls or partitions shall rest upon incombustible foundations and shall be braced between floors with approved incombustible framing.

SECTION 11.7—PROTECTION OF WALL AND PARTITION OPENINGS

All openings in public hallway partitions shall be protected by approved fire doors or fire windows. Approved fire doors may be permitted in a partition separating tenants in a building, but no glass shall be permitted in openings in such partitions.

SECTION 11.8—CEILINGS

Metal ceilings, when used, shall be applied over wood sheathing or board surface with one inch special cone headed barbed ceiling nails, and the joints of such metal ceiling shall be tightly dressed.

SECTION 11.9—ROOF STRUCTURES AND ROOFING

Roof Coverings.—Incombustible roof coverings, as required for all buildings within the fire limits, shall be of an approved standard materials, of such as concrete, tile or slate; or of tin roofing, or of asbestos shingles, or of built-up roofing felt with gravel or slag surface or of built-up asbestos roofing; or other roofings of like grades.

The wooden planking and sheathing of roofs shall not in any case be extended across side or party walls.

Any roof having a pitch over 60 degrees, placed on any building over 35 feet high, except towers or church spires, shall be constructed of iron or steel frames filled with fireproof material not less than 2½ inches thick, and shall be covered with approved roofing.

Pent Houses and Bulkheads.—All enclosures upon roofs for tanks, elevators or elevator machinery, and all pent houses and bulkheads upon buildings, shall be of fireproof construction, or may be built of wooden studs filled with brick or other incombustible material, and completely covered with metal or other approved incombustible material, or may be built of wood or metal studs completely covered on both sides with metal lath and plaster not less than ¾" thick, the plaster on the outside thereof (weather side) being cement plaster; and all windows, doors and trim shall be of metal, or metal covered, and be glazed with wired glass where glass is used.

No staging, stand, sign or other structures shall be constructed upon the roof of any building without first obtaining the approval of the Building Inspector.

Sky Lights.—All sky lights shall have metal frames and sash, and the frames and parts thereof shall be riveted or otherwise securely fastened in addition to soldering.

Except as herein provided, all skylights shall be glazed with wire glass, or heavy plain glass may be used, if protected above by galvanized wire screen. If plain glass be used in skylights on buildings of a public character over any passageway or room of public resort, wire screens shall be placed beneath the skylight as well as above.

No wire glass shall be placed in a skylight at the top of enclosures for elevators, stairways, dumbwaiters, vent and light shafts, or over a theater stage; all such skylights shall be glazed with thin glass and shall be protected by galvanized wire screens. The mesh of such screens shall not exceed one inch, and the wire shall be of a size not less than number twelve gauge. All screens shall have substantial metal supports and shall be placed at least 6 inches above skylights and protect 6 inches beyond edges of skylights.

When metal louvres are used for ventilating purposes, over shafts or in connection with skylights, the louvres or slats shall be riveted to the metal frame.

Except windows in the side of shafts above the roof, wired glass only shall be used in skylights which are vertical or inclined at an angle of over 45 degrees, when subject to an exposure which would require wall openings to be protected by fire windows or fire doors.

SECTION 11.10—FIRE STOPPING

In all non-fireproof buildings used for business and residence purposes, fire stops of incombustible material shall be provided, at the line of ceiling, to completely cut off all communications to floors above through hollow stud partitions or side walls.

CHAPTER XII—CHIMNEYS, FLUES AND HEATING APPLIANCES

Chimneys and Smoke Flues.—No chimney or smoke flue in any building shall be made of or supported by or upon combustible materials.

Chimneys must not be supported by corbelling more than 8 inches from a 12 inch wall and the corbelling shall consist of at least 5 courses of brick. No wall less than 12 inches thick shall be used to support a corbelled chimney.

Masonry chimneys shall have walls not less than 8 inches thick except where the flues are provided with approved flue lining throughout or a cement lining not less than ⅝ inch in thickness, in which case 4 inches of masonry will be permitted.

Flue linings shall be not less than ¾ of an inch thick and shall be made for the purpose and adapted to withstand high temperatures. The flue sections shall be set in cement mortar as herein defined. Lining shall start below the bottom of smoke intakes or from the throats of fire places and shall be continuous the entire height of the flue.

Each smoke flue shall have a cross sectional area less than 64 square inches. Vent flues, where required for domestic gas burning appliance other than stoves or ranges, may be of smaller size but not less than 10 square inches. Such flues shall be made of fire clay or its equivalent, not less than one inch thick, with joints properly designed to effect a permanent seal, and in such cases the surrounding masonry walls may be omitted. Metal vent flues shall not be used unless constructed so that the pipe shall not come closer than two inches to combustible construction.

Walls separating flues within the same chimney shall be not less than 4 inches in thickness where flue lining is not provided, but there shall be not more than 2 adjacent flues without a 4 inch wall securely bounded to the other walls.

No smoke flue intended for a heating furnace shall have smoke pipe connections in any other floor of the building than that in which the furnace is located.

No smoke pipe in any building having combustible floors and ceiling shall enter any flue nearer than 12 inches from any floor or ceiling, and in all cases where smoke pipes pass through wood stud partitions, floors or roofs, whether plastered or not, they must be guarded by a metal collar with double walls having at least 2 inch air space and holes for circulation of air.

Chimneys for high pressure boilers, furnaces used in manufacture and other heating appliances where high temperatures are maintained, are not included in this Code.

Fire Places.—The fire-backs of fireplaces shall be of solid masonry not less than 8 inches thick.

All fire places shall be provided with not less than 4 inch brick trimmer arches or slabs of concrete not less than 4 inches thick.

Trimmer arches or slabs shall be at least house or other building or part of building designed or used for theatrical or operatic purposes, or motion picture shows shall be built to comply with the requirements of this Code.

Alterations.—No building which at the time of the passage of this Code is not in actual use for the purposes indicated above shall be altered or added to for the purpose of converting the same into a theater, opera house, or for use by a motion picture show, unless when altered or added to, it conforms to the requirements of this Code.

Approval Required.—No buildings described in the preceding sections shall be open to the public for theatrical or operatic purposes, or for public entertainment of any kind, until the Fire Chief and the Building Inspector shall have approved the same in writing as conforming to the requirements of this Code.

Separation of Vestibule from Auditorium.—Interior fire-proof walls or partitions shall separate the auditorium from the entrance vestibule, and from any communicating room or rooms over or under the same; also from any lobbies, corridors, refreshment or other rooms forming part of the theater; the openings in all such walls shall be protected by approved fire doors or fire windows. The doors shall be self-closing and the windows shall be stationary.

Floors.—All floor surfaces shall be of concrete or other incombustible material, and no wooden boards or sleepers shall be used as a covering for floors, seat platforms, aisles, steps, landings, passages or stairs.

Trim.—No combustible doors or trim shall be used in the auditorium, and none of the walls or ceilings shall be covered with wooden sheathing, wainscoting, or other combustible material, but this shall not preclude the construction of a wooden sounding board over orchestra pit when the same extends back of and below the overhang of the stage, provided the said wooden sheathing is properly fire stopped by a 12-inch brick wall back of same, and also has a proper fireproof construction directly under the overhang of the stage extending from the brick wall to the apron of the stage.

Width of Aisles.—Aisles shall be not less than 3 feet wide at the beginning, and all aisles shall be increased in width toward the exit 3 inches for every ten feet of length.

Passages.—The width of passages and hallways shall be computed in the same manner as that herein before provided for stairways, but no passage way may be less than 5 feet in width.

All passages, hallways and stairways leading from any balcony or gallery in any direction shall permit of free passage to an exit without returning.

Calculation of Exits.—The combined width of entrances and exits for each floor tier, likewise their stairways, shall provide one foot of width for each 20 persons to be accommodated in that tier.

The width of entrance stairways shall be at least 50 percent of the combined width of the entrance and exit stairways, and the aggregate width of emergency exit doorways opening from each gallery shall be 60 percent more than the stairways to which they lead.

Entrances.—A common place of entrance may serve for the orchestra floor of the auditorium and the first gallery, provided such entrance and the passages leading thereto are of the width required for the aggregate capacity of these two tiers.

Where the number accommodated in a gallery exceeds 200, there shall be at least 2 separate and distinct entrances.

Emergency Exits.—From the auditorium, at least two emergency exits remote from each other leading into open courts or streets shall be provided in each side wall of the auditorium on all tiers. Each exit shall be provided with approved fire doors.

Entrance and Exit Doorways.—The minimum width of doorways shall be 5 feet in the clear, except emergency exit doorways, which may be 44 inches.

All entrance and exit doors shall open outward and be hung in such a manner as not to obstruct any part of the required width of a doorway, passage or stairway. The fastenings of these doors shall be such as readily can be opened from the inside at all times without the use of keys or any special knowledge or effort. The use of draw bolts is prohibited. All such doorways shall be entirely unobstructed.

Marking Exits.—Every entrance and exit doorway opening from the auditorium shall have over the same on the auditorium side the word "Exit" inscribed in legible letters, not less than 6 inches high, or an illuminated sign with letters of the same height.

No mirrors shall be so placed as to give the appearance of doorway, exit or passage. There shall be no false doors or windows.

Entrance Stairways.—No entrance stairway to any tier in the auditorium shall be less than 5 feet wide.

Entrance stairways and passages for the dressing rooms shall be at least 36 inches wide and extend independently to the street or court. No stairs in the stage section shall be less than 30 inches wide.

No door shall open immediately upon a flight of stairs, but a landing at least the width of the door shall be provided between such stairs and such doors.

Courts and Corridors Kept Clear.—The courts or corridors or passages shall not be used for storage purposes, nor for any purpose whatsoever except for exit and entrance, and must be kept free and clear during performances.

Lighting.—The stage section and every portion of the building devoted to the uses or accommodation of the public, also all passages leading to streets, including the open courts and corridors, shall be satisfactorily lighted during every performance, and until the entire audience has left the premises.

Moving Picture Exhibition Rooms.—No motion picture machines shall be installed, maintained or operated in any building that does not abut directly upon a street or alley, nor shall any such machine be installed, maintained or operated in connection with any exhibition room contained in a building occupied as a hotel, tenement house or lodging house, nor in factories or workshops, except where the exhibition room and motion picture machine are separated from the rest of the building by unpierced fireproof walls and floors. In no case shall the main floor of such exhibition room be more than 4 feet above or below the adjoining grade level. To overcome any differences of level on the ground floor, gradients shall be employed of not over one foot in ten feet; no steps shall be permitted. Exit doors shall be of the same level as the sidewalk.

If the walls of the auditorium contain wooden studs, they shall be protected with metal lath and not less than ¾ inch of cement, cement tempered or gypsum plaster, or be covered with ½ inch of plaster board and plastered with ¼ inch of plaster or covered with metal. The joints shall be properly filled with mortar. The ceilings of all such auditoriums having wooden construction, and the ceilings of any basement or cellar which may exist under such auditoriums, shall be protected with metal lath and cement or gypsum plaster or with ½ inch plaster boards and covered with plaster or metal, as above specified for protection of walls.

All motion picture exhibition rooms shall be provided with at least two separate exits, one of which shall be in the front and the other in the rear, both leading to unobstructed outlets on the street or alley. The aggregate width in feet of such exits shall be not less than 1-20 of the number of persons to be accommodated thereby. No exit shall be less than 5 feet in width, and there shall be a main exit not less than 10 feet in total width.

The level of the open court or passageway where it intersects the street shall be not greater than one step above the level of the sidewalk, and the grade shall be not more than one foot in 10, with no perpendicular rises.

CHAPTER XIV—ELEVATORS

The term "elevator", as used in this Code, shall include all elevators, escalators or lifts used for carrying passengers or freight. Any hand power elevators having a rise of more than 35 feet shall comply with the above requirements.

CHAPTER XV—PLUMBING AND DRAINAGE

General.—All plumbing and drainage installations shall be in accordance with the Acts of Assembly and the ordinances of the City of New Castle relating to plumbing and drainage, now in effect or hereafter to be enacted.

CHAPTER XVI—HEATING

Heating boilers or furnaces in which fires are maintained producing a high degree of heat shall rest on the ground, a trimmer arch or fireproof floor. They shall be surrounded on all sides and top by an incombustible material not less than 1½ inches thick, and the overhead clearance shall be not less than 15 inches. Any woodwork within 2 feet of the top of such boilers shall be protected by a loose-fitting shield, but such shield shall not be placed so as to form concealed spaces.

Any woodwork or wooden lath and plaster partition within 4 feet from the sides or back or 6 feet from the front of such heating appliances, shall be covered with metal shields or other approved, incombustible material to a height of at least 4 feet above the floor. Such metal shields shall be so attached as to preserve an air space behind them.

Low pressure heating boilers, coffee roasters and similar appliances where fires are used shall rest upon fireproof foundations. The Building Inspector shall have the authority to require additional precautions regarding the placing of such appliances where the conditions are such as to warrant them because of the possibility of creating a fire hazard.

CHAPTER XVII—ELECTRICAL

All electrical wiring, apparatus or appliances for furnishing light, heat or power, shall be in accordance with the current issue of the "National Electric Code", as filed in the office of the Building Inspector, and no installation of electrical equipment shall be made, except in conformity thereto.

CHAPTER XVIII—SIGNS, BILLBOARDS AND AWNINGS

SECTION 18.1—SIGNS AND BILLBOARDS ENTIRELY ON PRIVATE PROPERTY

Before the erection of any sign or billboard shall have been commenced a permit for the erection of the same shall be obtained from the Building Inspector. Each application for the erection of any sign or billboard shall be accompanied by written consent of the owner or owners, or lessee of the property on which it is to be erected.

Wooden signs or billboards shall be permitted only:

(a) When not exceeding 13 feet in height above the curb level, with a clear space of not less than 3 feet beneath the bottom of the sign or billboard from the ground. Such signs or billboards shall be securely attached to posts or other supporting structures, shall be located entirely within the lot lines and shall be set back from the street line a distance not less than the total height of the billboard above the street level.

(b) When not exceeding 2 feet in height and fastened flat against the wall of a building, or in front of or on top of the cornice over a first story show window, or on top of a wall of the building.

(c) When exceeding 2 feet in height but not exceeding 40 square feet in area and fastened flat against the wall of the building.

(d) All signs attached to a building shall be fastened directly to the walls by well secured metal anchors. Wooden supports or braces shall not be permitted, nor shall wooden signs have electric lights or fixtures attached directly to them in any manner.

All other signs or billboards shall be constructed entirely of incombustible materials, including all supports and braces for the same.

Except as herein provided, skysigns shall be constructed entirely of metal, including the supports and bases for same, and no sky-signs shall project beyond the building line.

Within the fire limits, no sky-sign shall be supported, anchored or braced to wooden beams, or other wooden frame work, of a building which is over 3 stories high.

Sky signs shall set back at least 8 feet from the cornice of wall on street front, shall not project more than 15 feet above the roof of the building, and shall have a space at least 4 feet in height between the bottom of the sign and the roof. All such signs shall be designed to withstand a wind pressure of at least 30 pounds per square foot of surface.

No sign or billboard shall be so constructed as to obstruct any door, window or fire escape on any building.

SECTION 18.2—SIGNS EXTENDING INTO A PUBLIC STREET OR HIGHWAY

It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to erect or maintain any sign or other advertising device in, on, over or within the lines of any public highway in the said City or the sidewalks thereof, unless he shall have first obtained a permit and license from the Building Inspector so to do and shall have filed with the City Solicitor an approved policy of insurance to protect the City against any injury to persons or property on account of the erection or maintenance of the said sign or device.

Before granting any permit under this section, the Building Inspector shall inspect the location of the said sign or device and he shall keep a list at all times in his office showing the licensed and permitted signs in the streets of the said City, and shall provide the City Solicitor with a copy of the said list.

Erection.—All such signs shall be installed in substantially the following manner, to-wit: Hangers for supporting the signs from or on the wall to which it is attached shall be of a size not less than the size of the largest angle iron built into the sign. These hangers shall be securely attached to the building by bolts extending through the walls, or by expansion bolts embedded in the walls. When through bolts are used, a metal washer plate, equal in thickness to that of the hanger, shall be provided between the inside nut and the inside wall, said plate to cover at least four (4) inches. Expansion bolts, when used, shall be embedded not less than six (6) inches into the wall, and under no circumstances are wood, lead or other plugs to be used. The hangers shall be installed in such a manner as to support the entire weight of the sign without bracing. A head guy shall be installed, attached at its upper end to a through bolt or expansion bolt, as hereinabove specified, which guy shall be capable of supporting the entire weight of the sign. The sign shall be securely sideguyed to prevent swinging. If the condition or nature of the sign is such as to prevent installation as herein prescribed, then a plan showing the proposed manner of erection shall be submitted to the Building Inspector, and if the plans submitted will provide the security as covered by the above requirements, a permit may be issued, with the consent of Council, to install the same, subject to the final approval of the inspector. The factor of safety in the case of every sign erected must be 4.

Operation.—All such signs shall be lighted for at least three (3) hours on every week day, and if any such sign shall remain unlighted for a longer period than fifteen (15) days, without the special consent of Council being had therefor, the permit and license for such sign shall be null and void immediately, and the Mayor or Council may order the sign removed as though no permit or license had been granted therfor and cause the same to be removed.

Place of Erection.—The building or wall upon which any sign is erected must be built of such material and in such a manner as to furnish a safe and solid support for the said sign, and no electric sign shall be permitted in any location where it will in any way interefere with public travel or a clear vision of and along any of the streets and highways of the city, or shall in any way endanger life or interfere with or damage property.

Size and Height of Sign.—No such sign shall be nearer than twelve (12) feet to the sidewalk in any place, nor shall extend beyond the building line of the said street a greater distance than 4-5 of the width of the sidewalk and in no case more than eight (8) feet.

Insurance.—The owner of any such sign, before any permit or license may be granted, shall cause the same to be insured, on account of public liability, in a good and approved insurance company, and such policy of insurance shall be deposited with the City Solicitor. Such insurance shall provide for the payment of a maximum amount of ten thousand ($10,000.00) dollars for injury to one person, and twenty thousand ($20,000.00) dollars to any group injured in any way by the said sign, and shall provide that in any action for damages brought against the City of New Castle on account of the said sign, the insurance company shall defend the suit and pay all damages recovered therein. If at any time the said policy of insurance is permitted to lapse for one day, the permit and license granted for the said sign shall become null and void, and the Mayor or Council may cause the sign to be removed at once, as herein provided for.

It shall be unlawful for any person to attach to any such sign any flags, bunting or anything else whatsoever, and any person who shall violate the provisions of this section shall immediately forfeit his license.

SECTION 18.3—AWNINGS

All awnings shall be erected in such a manner that the aprons shall be at least eight (8) feet above sidewalks and shall be securely fastened to the building and kept in good repair.

SECTION 18.4—CANOPIES AND MARQUEES

Permanent canopies or marquees may be erected over the sidewalk of any street upon the same terms and conditions that apply to signs and advertising devices.

Enacted into an ordinance this twenty-ninth day of October, 1928.

WM. H. GILLESPIE,

CORDELIA ZEIGLER JONES,
Secretary of Council.

I, Cordelia Zeigler Jones, City Clerk, hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was passed by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., October 29, 1928, signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk.

In witness whereof I herewith set my hand and affix the seal of said City of New Castle, this 26th. day of November, A. D.

CORDELIA ZEIGLER JONES,
City Clerk.

More Than 2,700 Attend Services

Record Crowd Is Present Sunday Evening At Everybody's Tabernacle

ERICKSON SPEAKS ON KNOWING GOD

With every seat filled, and more than 250 people standing in the aisles, Evangelist C. H. Erickson opened another week of revival meetings Sunday evening when he preached on the knowledge of God to more than 2700 people who had assembled at Everybody's Tabernacle at the intersection of South Mill and Division streets.

Just before the sermon, Mr. Erickson raised almost $200 of the $800 which remains to be solicited before the expenses of the revival campaign can be met. After the collection was taken, the people pledged an additional $100 to the support of the work, which is to be given before Thursday evening.

Using as his text the passage in the Bible which states: "Call upon me in the day of trouble, and I will deliver thee and thou shall glorify me," Mr. Erickson preached upon the subject of promises which the people make to God and never fulfill them. There are key verses in the Scriptures, he stated, and there are also more than 50,000 promises, but, there is a condition to each of the promises.

The condition to the verse which I just read," the evangelist continued, "is this: 'Offer unto God thanksgiving, and pay thy vow to the Most High.' Thus, it is seen that the whole context of a promise must be understood. Some people—those who preach a false doctrine—put together verses out of their contexts and that is how they reach their conclusions."

Then the evangelist continued his sermon by telling the people that they must always remember the vows they have made to God in time of stress: and telling them that many of the vows made under strain are seldom fulfilled. Christians, he stated, must have the courage of their convictions. They must acknowledge their God, not only in times of sickness, but always.

"Many people have the wrong idea today," he declared. "They think that they can do anything they wish and God will forgive them and save them just a short time before they die. Now I do not believe in death bed prayers. When a person is afraid, his prayers are no good. One should pray when he is well and strong and not just when he is in trouble. God can do something when you are well and strong. Pray then. The Bible says that the time to pray is when you are well, for does it not say that it is a terrible thing to fall into the hands of an angry God?

"There are many people who do not obey God—who do not keep their promises to Him. They get out of the habit of praying, and yet, when they come to die, they always want someone about who knows how to pray.

"Will you give God your confidence? Will you do your part towards the glory of God." The evangelist concluded. "Did you ever thank God for what He has done? Did you ever render thanksgiving to the Most High? Don't tell God that you will do one thing and then do another. Be true to your promises, and especially your promises to God. Many here tonight have broken their vows to God. But I tell you, the man who has Christ is the man who has insurance on immortality.

"Let us fix it up tonight. It is wonderful to have your soul ready at all times, for no one knows when their time will come. God will protect you, He will spare you in time of trouble. He is a real God."

At the end of the service, 20 people who were at the service answered the call given by the Alliance Quintette and acknowledged Christ as their personal saviour.

There will be no services at the tabernacle, but Tuesday evening, Mr. Erickson will preach another sermon on divine healing. Thursday evening, there will be a special testimonial service, and next Monday evening, December 10, will be devoted to the quintette.

Soil Experts Map Pennsylvania Land

More Than 16,000 Square Miles Of State Investigated By Experts

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—A total of 16,903 square miles of the state of Pennsylvania have been surveyed and mapped by experts of the bureau of chemistry and soils of the department of agriculture according to the annual report of Henry G. Knight, director of the bureau. This area comprises 10,817,920 acres, according to the report.

During the fiscal year ending June 30 an area of 182 Square miles of arable land of the state was mapped and surveyed in the soil survey work of the bureau.

The soil survey is of value to the individual farmer of the state because it classifies the agricultural and non-agricultural land and indicates soils which are best adapted to special crops and areas best suited to intensive cropping systems. It is of particular value to farmers who are seeking new locations and to city dwellers who are interested in buying land according to the agriculture department.

The survey also aids in the selection of land suitable for parks and golf courses and in the location of suburban developments.

Policemen Will Name Officers

At a meeting of New Castle Lodge No. 21, Fraternal Order of Police to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock the annual election of officers will take place. There is to be keen competition for several of the offices to be filled and indications are that the entire group of officers of this city will participate in the election.

Young Deer Starve In Pennsylvania

Overstocking And Over Grazing Are Responsible, Survey Head States

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—Thousands of young deer starved to death in Pennsylvania during the past year because of the overstocking and over-grazing, Paul G. Redington chief of the bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture stated in his annual report made public today.

In response to an urgent call from the board of game commissioners of Pensylvania a biologist was detailed to examine conditions attending the large loss of deer in certain parts of the state last year, Director Redington said. His studies revealed conclusive evidence of over-stocking and over-grazing and consequent starvation of thousands of young deer.

Copies of the report of the biologist making the study were furnished to the state board of game commissioners, the forest service and the game departments of other states where there are similar conditions. The report contains information regarding the history of the game management in Pennsylvania, the present abundance of deer, their food habits and food supplies, damage by deer and the losses that have occurred with suggestions for improving game management practices.

State Leads In Glass Products

Pennsylvania Has 72 Manufacturing Plants; West Virginia Is Second

SLIGHT DECREASE IS NOTICED IN OUTPUT

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—Pennsylvania leads the country in the number of glass producing establishments operating within the state boundaries, according to a biennial survey of the industry made public today by the Department of Commerce.

The survey reveals 269 glass-making establishments in the country, with 72 located in Pennsylvania. West Virginia comes second with 48, Indiana third with 26 and Ohio fourth with 25. In 1925 the industry was represented by 310 establishments, the decrease to 269 last year being the net result of a loss of 53 and a gain of 12.

Of the 53 establishments lost to the industry 25 went out of business prior to the beginning of 1927, 23 were reported idle and five reported products valued at less than $5,000. Factories reporting products under $5,000 in value were not included in the Commerce Department survey.

Last year the glass manufacturing establishments employed 65,813 wage earners and reported an output valued at $279,708,063. These figures reveal a decrease of 13.2 per cent in employment and 5.5 per cent in the value of products below 1925 activities of the glass industry.

Plate glass, 120,178,682 square feet, valued at $44,175,695; window glass, 481,021,350 square feet, valued at $26,831,507; obscured glass, including cathedral and skylight glass and opalescent sheet glass, 41,544,699 square feet, valued at $5,092,992; wire glass, 29,115,049 square feet, valued at $4,377,704; pressed and blown glass, except glass containers, $73,893,205; glass containers, $114,380,546, and other products, $10,974,414.

MAINE MUSKRAT FARM TO HAVE 2,000 DENIZENS

AUBUSTA, Me., Dec. 3.—A muskrat farm, a new industry to this part of Maine, has been started near here by Thomas O. Crosby, a World war veteran formerly of Melrose, Mass. The farm comprises 18 acres of fenced bog land and an early population of 2,000 to 3,000 of the fur-bearing animals is contemplated.

Impressive Memorial Services Held Here For Departed Elks

P. E. R. Joseph Riesman Of Franklin Lodge Delivers Splendid Address

Solemn Ritual Service And Beautiful Solos Mark 1928 Elks Memorial Service

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—The large auditorium of the Barnes theater was crowded with spectators Sunday afternoon when the local B. P. O. E. presented the annual Memorial service to their departed brothers.

The speaker of the day was P. E. R. Joseph Riesman of Franklin, Pa., past deputy grand exalted ruler of the Northwest Pennsylvania district. He paid a touching tribute to the departed members of the lodge and gave an eloquent address on the various departments and rituals of the order.

Most impressive were the ritualistic services presented by officials of the lodge, as part of the extensive program. From the opening prelude of the organ to the closing prayer, the program was most interesting and educational, as well as impressive. The musical portion of the program was handled by Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Mrs. H. E. Helling and Frank Fitzgerald, and added much to the general success of the program with their lovely soloes.

Members of the committee on arrangements were: T. J. McDonald, chairman; F. S. Gribben, F. H. McCarthy, William McCarthy, George Hemmerly, William Brophy and J. J. Dougherty, P. E. R.

Departed Members

Many Pay Final Respects To Dead Navel Man

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Crowding the auditorium of the Slippery Rock church were the many friends and relatives of Howard McCune, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCune of the Wampum road, who died while in navel service in Shanghai, October 20. His body was sent here for burial.

The ceremony took place at 2:30 Saturday afternoon from the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church. Masses of flowers testified as to the popularity of the deceased. Rev. Paul Elliott delivered a touching sermon over the remains, and an eloquent prayer was rendered by Rev. J. R. Routledge.

Pallbearers were: Messrs. Cecil Harper, Harry Kocher, Dallas Bookamer Therman Bookamer, Herbert McCune and Allan Watkins. An impressive part of the service occurred when the burial took place in the Slippery Rock cemetery, and a squad from the American Legion of which the deceased was a member, fired the final volley of guns over the grave, and the bugler played "taps."

Informal Party At Club Success

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3. — The opening informal party at the Ellwood Country club took place Saturday evening. Scherm Roney, the popular pianist from Beaver Falls was there in person, as well as many other couples.

Several amateur grand opera numbers were rendered about the piano, when the crowd tired of dancing. The party closed with the serving of light refreshments in the grill by the club steward. An out-of-town guest was Mrs. Mary McClung of Pittsburgh, who spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hunter of West Short street.

Missionary Head Speaks Here

Women Of Trinity Church Introduce Official At Special Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Trinity Lutheran church had charge of the service Sunday evening.

Their speaker was Mrs. T. L. Crause, president of the West Conference Missionary Society. She chose as her subject, "Our Missions" and said in brief: Generations of Christians confronted with different situations regarding the carrying out of Christ's missions. The explorer of this day has done a large amount of work among the mission fields. Almost all remote parts explored and maps. She told interesting facts concerning the hardships of the early christian missionaries, and told of their gradual growth, and penetrated deeply into the fastnesses of nonchristian people.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. L. J. Baker, president of the local society by a few well-chosen words of commendation.

Preceding the address of Mrs. Crouse, was a quartette number entitled, "Lead Kindly Light" and a tenor solo by Robert Taylor, director of the choir.

Acting as ushers were Miss Ellen Whittaker, Miss Marcia Whittaker, Mrs. Clarence Hallerman, Mrs. Henry Erehaltz and Mrs. Fred Bingle.

A liberal thank offering was taken by Mrs. Harry Zeigler, Mrs. Herman Flesher, Mrs. Peter Guldbraudsen and Mrs. P. W. Blocher. Anthem music by the choir and an appropriate recessional concluded a very successful missionary thank offering meeting.

Slippery Rock Church Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Activities in the Slippery Rock church for this week are scheduled as follows:

Wednesday all day in the church there will be two meetings of the ladies. The Ladies' Aid society will meet, and members of the Women's Missionary society will conduct a monthly meeting and Christmas grab bag. The latter is for those wishing to participate, and is not compulsory. All wishing to donate to the grab bag are to bring a gift the cost of which does not exceed twenty-five cents. Members of the Work committee are: Mrs. Ella Hennon, Mrs. Court Newton and Mrs. James Perdue. Mrs. John Weyman will handle the devotional service and Mrs. Reed Welhausen, the Query corner.

Wednesday night prayer service takes place in the church, and the Men's club members will be in charge.

Friday evening at 7 o'clock members of the Boys' Pioneer club will meet and all members are planning to bring sacks to make a volley ball net. The members will also receive their various grades on that night.

Friday evening members of the Happy Hour class will enjoy a monthly meeting as the guests of Mrs. Jesse Weingartner of the Ellwood-New Castle road.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the children of the church will meet in the church to prepare for the Christmas program.

Presbyterian Church Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—A new procedure in the Sunday school of the Presbyterian church was inaugurated Sunday morning when the Men's Brotherhood class, Welcome Bible class, C. A. Martin class and Margaret Pugh class all joined in with the Young People's department for the opening exercises, under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Bedford, superintendent of the Young People's department. The session was enjoyed, and the new plan will probably remain in the order of the Sunday school service.

Wednesday evening the officers and teachers of the Primary department will enjoy a tureen supper in the dining room.

Regular prayer meeting Wednesday evening. There will be a discussion on "Faith and Works".

Wednesday all-day members of the Woman's Missionary society will meet, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, continuing the study of "What Next in Home Missions".

The date of the annual Fathers and Sons banquet has been changed to December 11.

M. E. Church Weekly Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Scheduled activities in the Methodist church this week include the following:

Friday night the annual Fathers and Sons banquet takes place in the dining room of the church. The speaker of the evening will be Arthur H. Roberts of Pittsburgh. There will be an extensive program and orchestra music.

Wednesday evening the weekly prayer service in the church. The topic is "The Interceding Saviour".

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meteing of the Women's Foreign Missionary society with Mrs. W. Ray Smith of Wayne avenue.

Lutherans Elect New Members Of Council Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—At the annual congregational meeting of the Trinity Lutheran church which took place at the close of the morning service yesterday, George W. Blank, P. W. Blocher, Momberg Nelson and E. A. Scheidemantle were elected as new members on the church council. Various reports were made by department heads, concerning the activities of the church during the past year and Rev. L. J. Baker enlarged upon such activities in his talk to the congregation.

Wednesday members of the Willing Workers society will conduct an all-day meeting in the church, with a tureen dinner at noon and a monthly business meeting in the afternoon.

Friday evening the Truth Seekers Bible class are having a supper in the dining room of the church for their members.

U. P. Church Weekly Events

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Activities scheduled to take place in the United Presbyterian church this week are announced as follows:

Monday evening members of the Session will meet at 7:30 and the Trustees of the church will meet at 8 o'clock in the church.

Wednesday evening the regular weekly prayer service conducted in the church by the pastor.

Wednesday night there will be a meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school at 6:30 o'clock, opening with a tureen dinner in the dining room.

Thursday evening members of the Women's Missionary society will meet in the church at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Anna Wilson will have charge of the devotionals and Mrs. Bauder is leader of the Study hour.

Friday night members of the choir will meet in the church at 8 o'clock for weekly rehearsal of Sunday music.

Christian Church Events Of Week

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Planned events in the First Christian church for this week include:

Tuesday evening members of the Loyal Women's class will meet for a Tureen dinneer in the church at 6:30. At the close of the menu there will a Christmas party with an exchange of gifts.

Wednesday evening the weekly Fellowship night will be conducted in the church. Walter Howell will have charge of the program and Prof. V. V. Johnson, of the devotional service.

LITERARY CLUB STARTS HERE

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—A new departure from the Bridge clubs had been recently organized here, and the members will discuss and read the current books and magazines. A discussion will be enjoyed, and no doubt the meetings will prove very beneficial. The opening meeting is expected to take place at the home of Mrs. John Rohrer of Fifth street on Thursday evening.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—Funeral services for Joseph T. McAnallen of Todd avenue, whose death occurred at Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh on Friday following a short illness, were held at St. Peter's Catholic church at Butler on Saturday morning at 9:30

The deceased is survived by his wife Mrs. Rosella Stepenson McAnallen, three children, Joseph, Regis and Earl.

One sister Mrs. Valley Stoner of this city, two brothers P. W. McAnallen of Detroit, Mich., C. J. McAnallen of Washington, D. C., and his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McAnallen of Butler. Burial was made at Butler.

HONOR DAUGHTER'S BIRTHDAY.

ELLWOOD CITY Dec. 3.—In honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter Mary Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Koach entertained a number of her young friends at her home in Riverview Friday evening. Games and contests were enjoyed by those present.

Refreshments were served at the close of the festivities.

The honor guest received a number of fine gifts.

Club Plans Motor Tours To South

Will Also Organize More Specific Child-Safety Plan For Local Children

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—The Ellwood City Motor club at this time is arranging a number of tours to the southlands. The A. A. A. Touring bureau, the most complete organization of its kind in existence, furnishes a weekly detour map of the southeast states, showing road conditions from week to week. Motorists in Ellwood City and vicinity planning any trips south this winter should surely affiliate with the club, if they have not already joined.

The motor club in the next few months is bringing to Ellwood City, Mr. Howard Starling, manager of the safety division of the Washington, D. C. A. A. A. Mr. Starling is a former director of national safety committee and is doing a wonderful work on this phase among the school children. The safety director will speak to the children here under the auspices of the local club, and a definite safety and educational program of safety will be evolved at that time.

MOTORISTS CLAIM EACH IN THE WRONG

George Madison, 105 West Lawrence street, reported to the police Sunday that he was driving north on Jefferson street at the north side of the Public Square on the green light, when Delphoro Crespi, Lowellville, driving west on Washington street and through the middle of the Public Square, hit and damaged his machine. Crespi in his report claims he had the green light in his favor.

OFFICER THOMPSON TAGS A SPEEDER

Officer Thompson on answering a call to the South Side, reports he saw Mike Snyder, 410 Uber street, going south on South Mill street at an excessive rate of speed and without a muffler on his car. The office tagged Snyder for speeding. Snyder will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Metzler Store Is Burglarized

Store of the Charles T. Metzler was entered some time this morning, according to the report made to the police, and $20 in change in two cash registers of the store taken. Nothing else of value was missing.

Detective C. G. Logan was detailed on the case and an arrest has been made in connection with the robbery, but the name of the man arrested is being withheld at this time, pending a full investigation of the case.

Honor Conferred On National Girl Scout Officer

Mrs. Nicholas Brady, for many years treasurer of the national organization of Girl Scouts, was recently honored by King Albert of Belgium. King Albert conferred upon her the order of the Knight of the Crown in recognition of her conspicuous service for girls.

Mrs. Brady was recently made chairman of the board of directors of the National Girl Scouts, taking the place of Mrs. Herbert Hoover. In 1923, Mrs. Brady was decorated by the French government.

Second Ward Hearing On New Assessments

Council will sit as a board of appeals and tax revision in city hall between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. December 14 to hear appeals from assessments made on property improvements made in the second ward.

Will Ask Pastor To Reconsider

First Congregational Church Would Retain Rev. Whilding As Pastor

At a meeting of the congregation of the First Congregational church last night, a committee was named to confer with the pastor, Rev. Samuel H. Whilding, and ask him to reconsider his resignation, which will become effective the first of the year.

The members of the congregation are desirous of his remaining here as the pastor of the church and hope that he will accept the suggestion of the committee that he reconsider his resignation and remain here.

PAY FOR EXTRA WORK

Council today paid $220.80 to Elder & Ferry for extra excavation and grading in Lee avenue. The grade was changed after the contract was let by the city.

ROY MINTEER TO BOX TOM O'LEARY

By ED. FRITZ

BIFF and Bang, connoisseurs of cauliflower ears, will be at Jolly Bowl tonight, and when Bill Jolly presents his 10 pugilistically inclined gentlemen we feel that not one fan who attends Jolly's fistic carnival will leave the bowl of punch dissatisfied.

If we are wrong in our opinion and the fight isn't as good as we believe it ought to be, we'll say so, but putting one and one together, that makes two, and no fight can be good unless two want to fight.

In glancing o'er tonight's program we believe every swatter on the bill of fistic fare will fight—especially those two main bouters, Luis Carpentero, a semi-southpaw Filipino, and Ernie Peters, Chippewa Indian, flyweights, or 112-pounders.

Luis came here a stranger, romped 10 gruelling rounds with the colorful Willie Davies, and when the little brown boy, who seems no bigger than a baby, left the ring he got a great round of applause because he kept tearin' and punchin' at Willie all the route.

Like to Fight

And Mr. Ernie Peters, the Indian. He is a fighter, every inch of him, and we might also say every ounce. That little redskin put up such a great fight with the same Willie Davies that a lot of fans thought he should have had the award over Willie.

Inasmuch as the Welsh flash had contracted for an evening's evenin' at Toronto soon, Bill Jolly booked the two next best bets in flyweightdom, and tonight he will produce the said Biff and Bang in the form of Messrs. Carpentero and Peters.

To go through their entire records would be a loss of time and a waste of paper. If they live up to the past performances they staged here fandom will be satisfied, and the night will be fruitful of considerable fighting, as it should be each week.

Good Semi-Final

Talking of semi-finalists, it would be scarcely possible to put two more evenly matched fighters in the ring than the pair that Jolly has engaged. They are Frankie Rio and U. S. Carpentier. Rio has always put up a good fight here and Carpentier is his equal.

Carpentier fought Johnny Datto and passed out in five sessions, but Rio isn't a Datto in punch. Therefore, it looks as though the two will give a colorful exhibition of hit and miss, plus fancy stepping, and they'll be trying for a knockout all of the time.

These boys will fight at 126 pounds and are scheduled to go six rounds after Mickie Dugan, Cleveland, and Jacinto Valdez, Filipino, of Youngstown clash. Mickie beat up Jacinto a couple of months ago and ever since Jolly says Jac has been asking for a new chance.

He will get it tonight, and if he can trim the tough veteran of Cleveland he will be labeled as "one man who came back". This will be something out of the ordinary, as none have yet come back and stayed "put". The last time Valdez fought Dugan he wasn't in shape, he says.

Romeo Pacelli was scheduled to oppose Dugan, but it is said that some of Ray Collins' belts around his midriff made his kidneys and stomach sore and he required more than a week to get the soreness out of his body, which is nothing unusual after a body beating.

Elmo Is Confident

Ahem G-r-r-r-r! Here comes Elmo the Mighty of New Castle and a new face—Nick Polis of Woodlawn. According to those who know, Elmo has been training and hopes to show the Polis person from Woodlawn that he is still the hot cakes of the Jolly Bowl.

As Elmo didn't fight his customary slambang, grin-at-'em bout last Monday, there is a suspicion that the bathrobe presented by Rod Davis, Frenchy, Lang and some other boys may be a jinx. If he doesn't win tonight he may find his bathrobe missing, a bowl habitue declares.

"I'm in shape today," said Elmo. "I have been out hunting rabbits and that has put my legs in shape. Polis may be a tough guy, but tonight I'm going right after him. If he keeps punching with me, one of us will hit the resin."

That sounds like Elmo the Mighty himself. If Polis is good Elmo will have a fight on his hands. Polis, when booked, said: "He will not find me a Harry Miller or an Ernie Page. I'm going into that ring to steal his thunder."

Slam-Bang Bout

The first four-rounder on the program will be a clash between Roy Minteer, the stout-hearted French lad of the South Side, and Tom O'Leary, the loose-swinging Irishman, whose brother stopped Georgie O'Brien last week.

Minteer and O'Leary have fought Young Ivanna and both were mighty good fights. When they start tonight the two will rush, swing, and either is apt to go down at any time. They like the heavy going and they're not afraid to show they like to fight.

Bill Jolly has set the time for 8:15 p. m., and if there isn't a real he-man's crowd at the bowl tonight it will not be on account of a good card. The main bout, semi-final and other fights look good, and we'll be one who will be there to watch Biff and Bang.

Ken Strong Leads Collegiate Field In Points Scored

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—With a record total of 160 points, Ken Strong of New York university is collegiate football's highest individual scorer for the season. In the east his nearest rival is Gulick of Hobart, who tallied 110 points.

Other eastern leaders are: Scull, Penn, 89; Langmaid, Williams, 86; Marsters, Dartmouth, 67, and Hansen, Temple, 60.

New Castle Dogs Take Show Prizes

There were several locally-owned dogs entered in the specialty show of the Boston Terriers club of western Pennsylvania held at Pittsburgh Saturday and two of them carried off high honors.

Mrs. William P. Ice, 201 Boyles avenue entered two and carried off the premier honor with her two Boston terriers, Boots the Beautiful and Ice's Lindy High Flyer.

The former carried off first in the American bred class and took another first in the Limit class, captured two blue ribbons, a cup and two special prizes.

Lindy High Flyer, lived true to his name and "flew away" with first in the Brace and second in the American bred class.

There was a fine field of Boston terriers among the 111 in the show which was a success.

Florida Team Is Scoring Champs

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—As a result of its 60-6 victory over Washington & Lee on Saturday, Florida has captured high scoring honors for the year among the country's football teams. With 324 points, the Alligators lead New York university, the runner-up, by eight points.

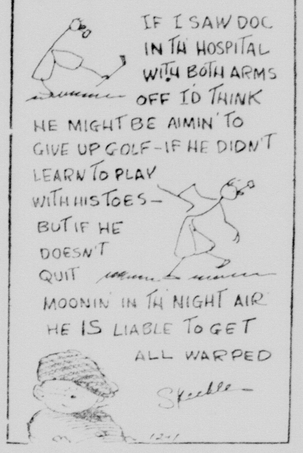

Other leaders are: Georgetown, 299; Stanford, 274; Pennsylvania, 271; Detroit, 267, and Southern California, 267.

Westminster Again Cross Country Champs

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—For the third time in the last four years the Westminster college cross country team is in possession of the tri-state conference championship cup. The success of the United Presbyterians in defeating Geneva a week ago brought the title to the blue and white runneres.

The hill and dale artists started the season in September under a decided handicap. Orvil Mirtz and Wesley Rose, two aces on last year's championship team, were lost. These two men had placed first, second or third in every meet last year. In spite of the loss of these men, the distance men started training with the opening of college.

The first meet of the season, run after the U. P. harriers had but five days of training, was against Allegheny at New Wilmington October 6. The Westminster runners were not yet in condition and the Methodists had an easy time of winning by an 18 to 37 score. The Meadville team placed the first four men. Elmer Myers, Sharon, was first to tally for Westminster, taking fifth place. Captain King and Wallace took the next two places for Westminster. Perrine and Ellis placed ninth and tenth.

Two weeks later, on October 20, the Westminster distance team met Grove City at Grove City and won handily by a 20 to 35 score. Evans, Grover captain, finished first, but five Westminster runners tied for second by running abreast across the finish line. These men were Captain King, Elmer Myers, David Myers, James Smalley and Robert Wallace. Following this group, three more Titans finished before the second Grover crossed the line. These men were Perrine, Ellis and Anderson.

Thiel was the next victim for the U. P. runners at New Wilmington, October 27. Elmer Myers finished first, and Westminster placed men in third, fourth, fifth and sixth places to win by a 19 to 35 score. Captain King, Smalley, D. Myers, Anderson, Perrine and Ellis all placed for the blue and white in this meet. This was a tri-state conference race, and left only Geneva to be defeated in order to win the conference title.

November 3 found the harriers in Pittsburgh where the undefeated Carnegie Tech distance team succeeded in winning by a 21 to 34 score. Westminster placed fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth in this race. Elmer Myers placed first for the U. P.'s when he raced in fourth. Others who placed for Westminster were Smalley, Wallace, Captain King and Ellis.

In the Allegheny Mountain championship meet at Pittsburgh the following week, Elmer Myers placed second in the entire field, and the U. P. team took second place with a team score of 47 against Geneva's 43. The victory for the Geneva runners naturally made them the favorites for the dual meet to be run later.

On the eve of the dual meet with Geneva for the conference title, Elmer Myers, team ace, suffered a heart attack and was ordered to drop cross country. As a result, the Westminster team faced the Covenanters November 24 with a decided disadvantage. On paper, the Beaver Falls team was at least 10 points better than the U. P. outfit. But a new star proved his right to consideration as one of the best ever to represent Westminster when James Smalley, freshman from Elizabeth, took first place, negotiating the muddy course in 30 minutes and 21 seconds. Captain King placed fourth, Wallace fifth, Perrine sixth and David Myers eighth to give Westminster a 24 to 31 score and the conference championship.

A record of three victories, a second place in the A. A. U. championship meet, the tri-state conference championship, and only two defeats is an excellent commentary on the fighting spirit of the men who made up the Westminster distance squad this fall. Of the six letter men, but two will be lost next year. These men are Captain Byers King and Ross Ellis.

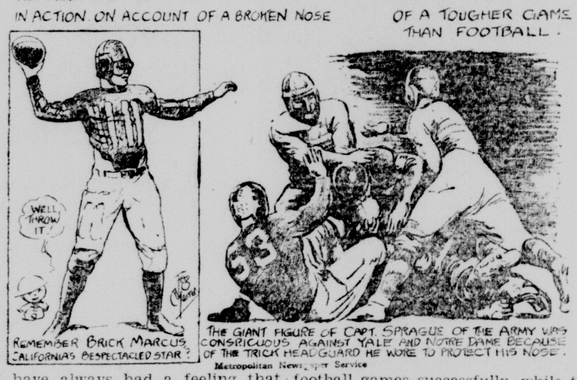

Assorted Helmets

REMEMBER BRICK MARCUS, CALIFORNIA'S BESPECTACLED STAR?

THE GIANT FIGURE OF CAPT. SPRAGUE OF THE ARMY WAS CONSPICUOUS AGAINST YALE AND NOTRE DAME BECAUSE OF THE TRICK HEADGUARD HE WORE TO PROTECT HIS NOSE.

Metropolitan News Service

I have always had a feeling that part of the glamor and romance that enshrouds a football player is due to the fact that he wears a uniform. The shining headguards, which are often brightly colored, add greatly to the illusion of military grandeur, and remind one of the Knights of Old in their highly polished armor of steel or some more precious metal.

Some football teams have nicknames as "Trojans" or "Crusaders" or "Romans," and this all helps to fire the imagination of the players, spectators, writers, and sports cartoonists. The team of Missouri University, for instance, wears yellow uniforms with black, tiger-like stripes, and golden helmets—very striking on the green turf of some beautiful stadium.

Every now and then some noble gent, because of a pair of weak lamps or a busted beak, is forced to wear a specially constructed head-guard to give protection to his eyes or nose. Several players have worn glasses in football games successfully, while the type of trick head-guard affected by Captains Holicki and Sprague has been also worn by Joe Prendergast, of Princeton; Hinkey Haines, as a professional, and by other lesser gridiron luminaries. This leather helmet, with nose and eye covering, looks all the more like the "iron masks" affected by the Knights of the sixteenth century who fought for king, for country, or lady fair—or for the fun of fighting—all encased in such a heavy suit of armor that they had to be helped to their feet if they were knocked over.

But all is well—the ancient Spartans played football more than 2,300 years ago. They wore helmets too, and I'd like to see them playing the modern game dressed in their ancient uniforms!

Thatcher Of Toledo Here

Millionaire Contractor-Sportsman To Be In Filipino's Corner

By ED. FRITZ

Ad Thatcher, known internationally as the partner of Tex Rickard in the Dempsey-Willard clash at Toledo which resulted in the Manassa Mauler knocking out the big Kansan, thereby ascending to the highest fame and monetary reward in the pugilistic world, is here today, having accompanied Luis Carpentero, the little flyweight, to this city. Luis battles Ernie Peters here tonight.

Thatcher, who is a millionaire sportsman, not only is a participant in the boxing game, but in all other athletics, and while boxing is his chief hobby, he is known nationally as a contractor. He is a bridge constructor and is also known as one of the best marine divers in America.

Time and again Thatcher has gone below the water, not only in pursuit of business, but for humanitarian purposes, and considerable of his diving is now done in the Maumee river.

Thatcher will return to Toledo tomorrow to make plans for the annual banquet he gives each Christmas to the newsboys of Toledo.

Stanford Beats Army; Irish Are Losers On Coast

Stanford Upsets Army Mules 26 To 0; Southern California Beats Notre Dame

The collegiate football teams from the west coast made a clean sweep of things Saturday afternoon. Two of the finest teams in the East waged losing battles against two good big elevens from California.

Leland Stanford journeyed eastward, quite an unusual thing for a western team and handed the Army team a 26 to 0 setback that had the eastern football populace talking to themselves. The Stanford boys coached by "Pop" Warner tamed the Army Mule. Hoffman and Fleischacker were the big stars for Stanford.

The Notre Dame team, already defeated thrice previous this year, by Wisconsin, Georgia Tech and Carnegie Tech, took another one on the chin at Los Angeles, California. The Southern California team ran rings around the "Fighting Irish", and romped home winners by a score of 27 to 14. Knute Rockne's warriors were plainly outclassed by the Californians.

Lincolns Defeat Butler "Y" Team

The Lincoln Five, representing New Castle Y. M. C. A. at Butler on Saturday in the "Y" meet between the two cities, defeated the Butler quintet 33 to 27. The game was fast and hard played throughout.

The summary:—

Lincoln Five 33		Butler 27
Gennock	F	Neiss
McClelland	F	Wolfgong
Bruce	C	Poole
Jones,	G	Bayer
Uhle	G	LaFever

Subs—Lincoln Five: Baptiste, Hill, Parker. Butler: Betty, Norris. Field Goals: Uhle 3, Gennock 2, McClelland 2, Bruce 2, Jones 2, LaFever 3, Bayer 3, Poole 2, Wolfgong, Betty. Fouls: Lincoln Five, 11 out of 13; Butler, 5 out of 17. Scorer: Tino. Referee: Paganellie.

Pitt-Nebraska Are Scheduled

(International News Service)

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 3.—The Pitt Panthers, the team which battled the Cornhuskers to a scoreless tie this fall, will return to Lincoln next season to meet Nebraska in the Memorial stadium Saturday, Oct. 19, Herbert D. Gish, director of Athletics at the University of Nebraska announced today.

Shenango Eleven Wins Grid Game

Shenango Tin Mill Team Takes 13 To 0 Victory Over 1927 Champions

The Shenango Tin Mill football team defeated the New Castle Works eleven by a score of 13 to 0 in a grid game played Saturday afternoon at Franklin field. The New Castle Works was the 1927 industrial champions.

The game was hard-fought throughout the four periods. The Shenango boys raced over a touchdown in the first quarter with Williams going through center for 20 yards. Dan Eardley kicked the extra point on a drop-kick.

The second and final touchdown of the game came in the closing minutes of the first quarter when a New Castle Works player fumbled the ball back of his own goal line and George Mike fell on it for a touchdown. Both teams were offside and the extra point was not allowed.

The second, third and fourth quarters were full of action, with the New Castle Works team on the defense.

Football Men Will Be Guests

Important Program To Be Carried Out At West Minster Thursday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—Westminster's best football team in a decade will be guests of the college and the athletic council at a banquet in Robert Audley Browne hall Thursday evening of this week, according to an announcement by President W. Charles Wallace and Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald.

Members of the squad, students managers, coaches, the faculty athletic committee, and a number of invited guests will be present. Newspaper men from New Castle, Sharon, Youngstown and Pittsburgh will be in attendance. Speakers will include Coach "Dike" Beede, Assistant Coach "Johnny" Lawther, Captain Joseph Furno, Captain-elect Russell Boone, Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald and Prsident W. Charles Wallace.

The banquet will be to honor the first Westminster team to climb to the top of the tri-state conference ladder. The season just closed, giving the United Presbyterians a tie with Duquesne for the championship, will be celebrated and every game will be played again. A number of presentations will occupy an important part on the program, and announcements of considerable interest for next year's season will be made.

Hockey Players Under Arrest In Pittsburgh Brawl

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Herb Mills and Joe Miller, Pittsburgh hockey club stalwarts, along with another man, were lodged in the Oakland police station early today on a suspicious person charge following a fight in the grill room of the Webster Hall hotel.

Milks, Miller and Don McFarland, the other man, were arrested for their alleged part in the fracas, which resulted in considerable damage to the interior of the grill.

Police reported taking one man from the hotel to a hospital but the management denied that any resident of the hotel had been injured. The cause of the fight is not known.

Strong, Cagle, Scull And Mizell Selected To Be Best Backfield Bets

Wealth Of Excellent Runners Causes Dissension; Harpster On Second Team

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 3.—After a football season in which everybody that happened to be anybody happened to be a backfield man, the possibilities for going wrong in the selection of an all American team may be said to be excellent. It is the presumption of Mrs. Walsh's boy today that undoubtedly he has gone wrong, reading from left to right and from front to rear. As a matter of fact, the man doesn't live who can name the twelve best backs of the year from the staggering list at hand and make everybody like his work.

There has been no attempt, however, to apportion backfield stars by the positions they occupied during the year. Both Cagle and Strong ran to their right but I don't see what that has to do with it. They were the best runners of the season and what we are trying to do is arrive at a selection of the four leaders and place them in one backfield. I happen to think they were Cagle, Strong, Mizell and Scull.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

McKinley And The 2nd Philippine Commission

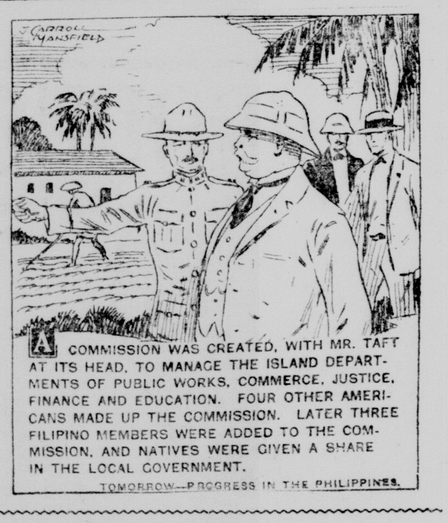

MANY AMERICANS OPPOSED THE PLANTING OF THE "STARS AND STRIPES" IN THE PHILIPPINES. PRESIDENT McKINLEY WAS DENOUNCED BY THE "ANTI-IMPERIALISTS", WHO CHARGED HIM WITH TURNING A WAR WHICH HAD BEEN BEGUN AS A NOBLE CAMPAIGN TO FREE THE CUBANS INTO A WAR TO MAKE SLAVES OF THE FILIPINOS. "IMPERIALISM" BECAME A NATIONAL ISSUE IN 1900.

HOWEVER, THE COUNTRY AT LARGE SUPPORTED THE PRESIDENT, AND HIS RE-ELECTION IN 1900 WAS A NATIONAL ENDORSEMENT OF HIS POLICY. IN THE ELECTION McKINLEY DEFEATED WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE, BY A POPULAR MAJORITY OF NEARLY A MILLION VOTES.

MARCH 2, 1901, CONGRESS INVESTED THE PRESIDENT WITH "ALL THE MILITARY, CIVIL, AND JUDICIAL POWERS NECESSARY TO GOVERN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS." PRESIDENT McKINLEY USED THIS GREAT AUTHORITY WISELY AND MODERATELY. IN JULY HE APPOINTED WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT CIVIL GOVERNOR OF THE ISLANDS.

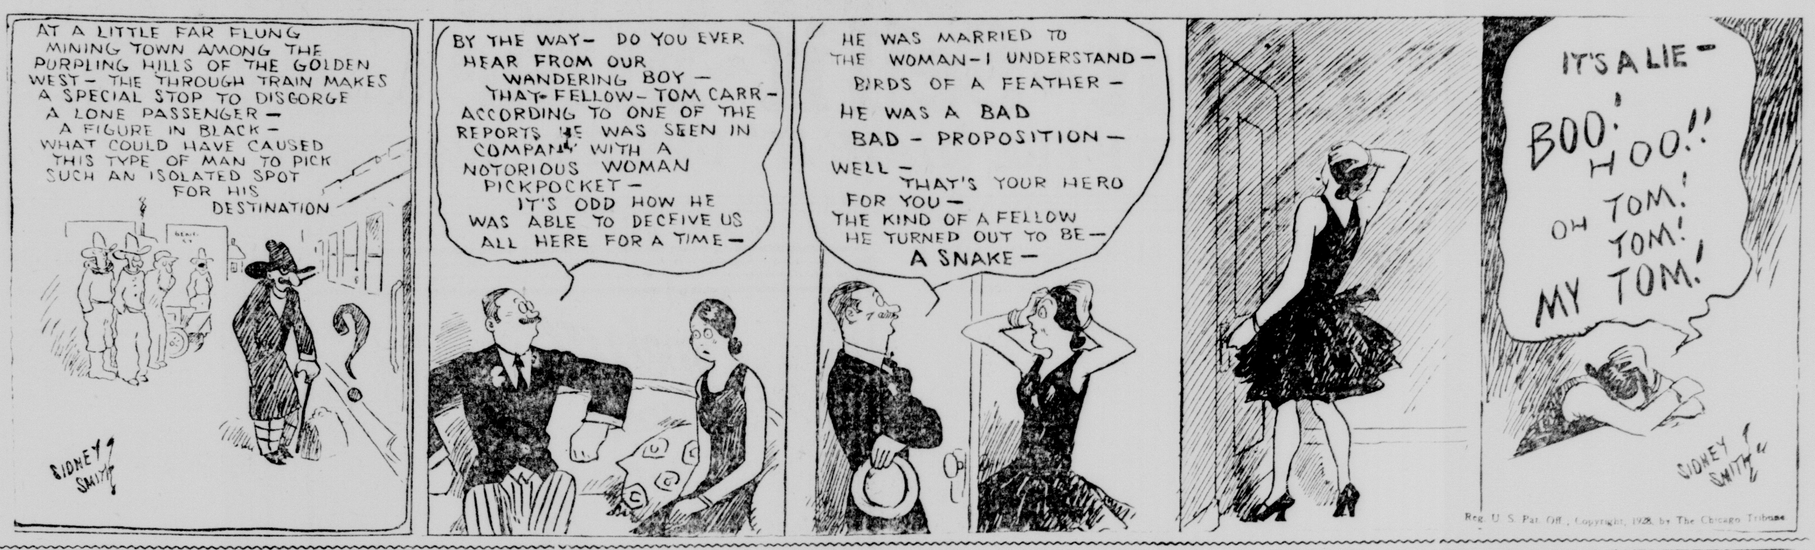

A COMMISSION WAS CREATED, WITH MR. TAFT AT ITS HEAD, TO MANAGE THE ISLAND DEPARTMENTS OF PUBLIC WORKS, COMMERCE, JUSTICE, FINANCE AND EDUCATION. FOUR OTHER AMERICANS MADE UP THE COMMISSION. LATER THREE FILIPINO MEMBERS WERE ADDED TO THE COMMISSION, AND NATIVES WERE GIVEN A SHARE IN THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The bugaboo of congressional tinkering with the Federal Reserve Act in such a way as to choke off the money supply from the stock market loomed large in Wall street's vision as the market started its fifth big week today. Stocks were sold right and left, and the downward move in prices, which started on Saturday continued in every section of the market, with losses in the first hour ranging from 2-6 points.

The bulls are afraid of the money situation.

A begi selling wave broke over the market, carrying the bulk of the favorites downward. The "bulge" in Yellow Truck collapsed, bringing the stock back to around 42, compared with last week's price of 57¾. Radio dropped 10 points in the first hour, Gold Dust, Victor Talking, Johns Manville and other famous leaders in last week's furious upward drive, crawled back to a lower price level under the pressure of persistent selling. Greene Cananea Copper dropped 11 points. Bear movements against Packard Motor, Consolidated Gas, Chrysler Motor, Nash, Radio and other market leaders finally opened up gaps of 1-5 points, even the rails giving up a part of last week's brilliant gains.

The call money rate started at 8 per cent, with expectations of a higher rate before the end of the day.

EAGLE IMBEDS TALONS IN DOG; PAYS WITH LIFE

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Dec. 3.—A golden eagle, its talons firmly embedded in the carcass of a large dog, was found dead in the woods near here by Arthur Falk.

The bird died while endeavoring to extricate its talons, it is believed. It measured six feet between the tips of the wings.

Hunt Money Jar Owned By Hermit Murdered By Trio

THREE NOW UNDER ARREST IN CASE

Trio Denies Robbery Motive For Slaying; Claim Witchcraft Was Reason

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Dec. 3.—With a jar that was believed to have contained $800 missing from the home of Nelson Rehmeyer, a hermit, who was killed by a man and two youths last Tuesday night when they attempted to obtain a lock of his hair to break a "spell", police today were attempting to obtain a confession of robbery from the trio under arrest.

Rehmeyer, who was said to have practiced "hexing" and "pow-wowing" in this community, was buried yesterday. Detectives attending the funeral learned that the slain man had kept a jar containing $800 in his house, but that the jar was missing after Rehmeyer had been killed.

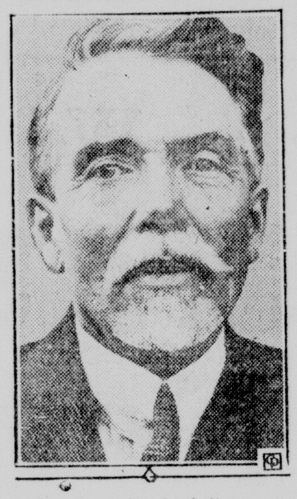

Deny Robbery Motive.

John Curry, 14; Wilbert Hess, 17, and John Blymire, 32, who are said to have confessed killing Rehmeyer, denied that their motive for the slaying was robbery. They reiterated that they had been forced to kill Rehmeyer when he resisted their attempts to obtain a lock of his hair which they intended to "bury eight feet in the ground to break the spell he had cast over Hess' family."

Curry and Hess agreed with Blymire's statement that they had been unable to secure the lock of hair because Rehmeyer's head had been so badly lacerated when he was beaten during the terrific struggle at his home that the hair was too bloody to touch. They declared that in such a case the only thing that would "break the spell" was Rehmeyer's death.

Police are continuing their investigation of the general practice of "black arts" in the rural sections near here, but have made no announcement regarding their findings.

Elder Northcott Being Questioned

Investigators In California Question Father Of Gordon Northcott

PLAN EXTRADITION OF ALLEGED MOTHER

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 3.—With developments of a sensational nature looming, the investigation of the purported murders of four youths on the so-called Northcott "murder farm" was scheduled to get under way today with the questioning of Cyrus Northcott, father of Gordon Stewart Northcott.

The younger Northcott, recently returned here from Vancouver, B. C., is charged with slaying an unidentified Mexican youth, Walter Collins and Lewie Winslow.

Repudiates Confession

While being returned here Northcott, according to Deputy District Attorney Earle Redwine of Riverside county, confessed to slaying the Mexican youth. Northcott, however, repudiated the purported confession upon being lodged in jail here.

His arrest resulted from the story told by Sanford Clark, his youthful nephew, who said Northcott murdered the youths after he had mistreated them.

Question Relationship

Mrs. Louis Northcott, supposedly the mother of Gordon, is under arrest at Calgary, Alberta. She has been named as his accomplice. It was expected that an extradition warrant for her would arrive at Calgary today and California officers expected that they would be able to start back to California with her today.

A question has arisen concerning her relationship with the accused youth. It has been claimed that she is not Gordon's mother, but that Mrs. Winnie Clark, mother of Sanford, is really the accused youth's mother.

In commenting on the affairs of the Northcott family, Redwine said: "It is almost certain that we will unearth one of the most amazing stories of family intrigue ever brought to light—a story so horrible it fairly baffles imagination. I would not be surprised if today's examination changes the entire complexion of this case."

Dr. Maxwell Gives Excellent Talk Of Trip Abroad

Tells Of Present Day Conditions In Europe At Ministerial Meeting Today

Dr. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, gave a most entertaining and descriptive talk of his trip abroad last summer at the meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association this morning in the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Maxwell dwelt especially on present day conditions in Europe and in Egypt, telling in detail his observations and experiences while in these countries.

A report of the coming visitation evangelism campaign was given by Dr. S. E. Irvine.

Plans were completed for the holding of cottage prayer meetings next Tuesday and Friday in this city. Rev. A. J. Randles, Rev. Oscar Woods and Rev. J. L. Petrie were appointed a committee to arrange for same.

The meeting opened with a devotional period led by Rev. J. B. Porter. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Ross M. Haverfield.

Find Moonshine In Sunday Visit

Police Officers Arrest Woman On Charge Of Selling Liquor

Captain of Police J. Ed. Elder and Officers Harper and Reynolds on Sunday visited the place of Mrs. Jennie Isaacs, 10 West Reynolds street, following complaints that liquor was being sold there. They had a search warrant and found on searching the place, a small quantity of moonshine in a pint bottle and several gallons of wine in a keg.

The liquor belonged to Mrs. Isaacs but the wine was found to be the property of a roomer, who had the faucet padlocked in such a manner, that he alone had access to the keg.

Mrs. Isaacs was fined $25 this morning as the keeper of a disorderly house.

An interpreter with Mrs. Isaacs wanted to know if the jug of wine taken by the officers could not be returned as a little Christmas gift but was informed by Chief C. C. Horner that it was to be for the fish, as he poured the contents into the sewer.

P. & L. E. Men Will Attend Y Dinner At Youngstown Tonight

W. A. Stone, George Hamilton, W. L. Finnefrock and possibly other local Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad men will go to East Youngstown tonight to attend the annual Y. M. C. A. membership dinner given by the P. and L. E. company at that place. Representatives from the Pittsburgh district will be in attendance.

The committee in charge has arranged an entertaining program with Dr. W. J. Haymaker of Pittsburgh as guest speaker and F. P. Forsberg as chairman.

A special train out of Pittsburgh will carry the members of the district Y. M. C. A. to East Youngstown.

WILLIE ROBERTS CALLS THE POLICE

Willie Roberts, negro, 436 W. Grant street, called the police about 7 o'clock Sunday evening and stated that a man had just beat him up. Officers J. Young and Thompson answered the call and found Roberts at home. He informed them the man who had assaulted him was at Grant and Locust streets. The officers and Roberts went there and he pointed out Dan Horton, negro, who was arrested. Roberts was also taken by the officers and it was learned that he started the fight. This morning both were allowed to go under suspended sentence.

Award Contract For New Sewer

Woods And Golder Get Moravia-Lutton Street Sewer Job

Members of council met in regular session today at the city hall and awarded to Woods & Golder a municipal contract for the construction of the Moravia-Lutton streets storm sewer at a low bid of $47,791.25.

The sewer will be built in Moravia street from Big Run to Furnace street and in Lutton street from Moravia street to Mercer street with an extension at South Mill street.

Council recently passed an ordinance providing for an increase of $50,000 bond indebtedness. The issue was sold, approved by the state and the money secured will pay for the sewer.

Odd Fellows Will Hold Booster Event

Tuesday evening December 11, has been set aside by New Castle Lodge No. 195 I. O. O. F. as a booster night and an occasion designed for the good of the order.

It's a regular meeting night but it is hoped to have a record crowd of the members in attendance. There will be an oyster supper served at 6:30 o'clock, for which reservations must be made by Saturday evening of this week. The regular meeting of the lodge will be held at 7:30 o'clock and there will be a program of good speakers and other forms of entertainment.

The committee in charge consists of E. M. McCormick, D. M. Ritchie, Harry Ward, E. J. Ryan, J. C. Frampton and Karl Kuechler.

Elks Mapping Plans For New Year's Ball

Arrangements for the annual New Year's ball for the members of the local lodge of B. P. O. Elks and their wives are under way at the present time. George Lamoree, chairman of the affair, with his committee is busily engaged in planning what is hoped will be one of the most successful affairs ever held.

The dance will be staged at the Elks' home on North Mill street on either New Year's eve or night. The exact date has not yet been chosen.

City And County Make Joint Raid

Rocco Paglia, 9 East Home street, and three male visitors, were arrested early Saturday evening, when the Paglia place was raided by City Officers Letera, Thomas, McMullen, Constable A. S. Leslie and State Police Officers Munsee and Schmidt.

Paglia was taken before Alderman O. H. P. Green, where he was charged with violation of the Snyder Act by County Detective William Fleming. The three visitors paid fines of $10 each in the city police court.

Fine Attendance At Third U. P. Sunday School

An excellent record of attendance was reached Sunday by the Bible school of the Third U. P. church. A goal of 1100 was set for the day with 980 attending.

The men's class had 129 present and the ladies' class 148. This was possibly the largest attendance of any Bible school in the city.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Local Driver Loses License

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—The drivers' licenses of 98 persons were revoked during the week ending November 26, the department of highways announced today. There were no names placed on the official prohibitory list.

Revocations for intoxication were the most numerous, 51 persons losing their licenses on this charge. Fifteen revocations resulted from the charge of larceny, ten from reckless driving and six for transporting liquor.

Among those whose licenses were revoked because of intoxication were Harry A. Wolfrem, Honesdale; Thomas J. Kerwin of Lancaster; Earl J. Bateman, James Nimmo, Patrick F. Turner, William Arbockus, Anthony Bankoski, Stanley Marges and Charles Burke, all of Scranton; John J. Crowley and Harry Williams of Pittston; John MacIntyre of New Castle and George Mott and John Lasko of Taylor.

Charles Pearl of Uniontown lost his license for larceny as did Henry Mayer of Allentown. The license of Elmer E. Martin of Jersey Shore was revoked because of reckless driving, while George Salichko of Braddock lost his license by being unable to interpret traffic signals.

Detroit Newspaper Employes Fail To Identify Jaworski

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Five employes of the Detroit News failed today to identify Tom Jaworski as one of the gang of bandits that June 6 last held up the cashier's office of the newspaper.

With District Attorney R. M. Toms, the employes, three women and two men, viewed young Jaworski in the visitors' cage in the county jail and later signed statements admitting that they did not recognize him.

Paul Jaworski, under sentence of death in the county jail here, and brother of the younger Jaworski admitted being a member of the gang that robbed the newspaper building.
